

GRAND RAPIDS TRIBUNE.

DRUMB & SUTOR, Publishers.

Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, Saturday, Nov. 30, 1901.

VOL. XXIX, NO. 30.

New Furniture Store.

M. A. BOGGER'S old stand.

Since Pianos
were
First Invented

They have gone on improving. Every year has made them better and more capable of producing beautiful music. Ingenuity seems to have reached its top notch in the products of the 20th century. It would be hard to imagine anything more perfect than the Pianos and Organs we sell with their clear ringing tone and easy action. Durable, beautiful, economical.

A Few Prices on Furniture.

Parlor Tables.....	75c up
Chairs.....	50c up
Rockers.....	$1 up
Couches.....	$5 up
Iron Beds.....	$2.75 up
Book Cases.....	$1.50 up

JOHN MCGLOIN.

LUMBERING OPERATIONS.

The Arpin Co. has several camps in operation.

The Arpin Lumber company has six lumber camps established along the line of the Soo road in Gates and Chippewa counties. The camps are located in the neighborhood of Bruce, Kennan and Catawba and it is expected that the output will be some where between twelve and fifteen million feet. This will be sawed at Kennan and Bruce during the ensuing season.

The company owns a large amount of land in that country, some of which is timbered, while other tracts have been cut over. The latter lands are rapidly being sold to settlers and during the past year some thing like seven thousand acres have been disposed of.

These settlers come largely from northern Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska, many of them being men who have tried farming in the prairie sections and have found the difficulties too great and too numerous to be overcome by the average poor man. In most of the prairie states many of the farmers are millionaires and their farms are equipped with many labor-saving devices which the poor man cannot buy, but which he has to compete with, and the natural outcome is that he is eventually pushed to the wall.

This is not the case in northern Wisconsin and many of the home-seekers who visit this state for the first time are greatly surprised at the hay and grain that can be raised in this country. The company sells its lands at from seven to ten dollars per acre.

At Arpin the company will finish operations this winter and only one camp has been established. The cut there will amount to between two and three million feet. This is the twelfth winter that the company has been operating at this point and the total cut of logs will foot up about 150 million feet. This patch of timber was one of the best in the state, although it almost went begging at one time.

SECOND ELK ENTERTAINMENT

Will occur at the Opera House on Thursday Next.

The Boston Musical and Dramatic company will appear at the opera house on Thursday evening, December 5, this being the second of the series of entertainments to be given by the Elks this winter.

The company is composed of Helen Louise Trickey, violinist, Walter E. Paine, tenor soloist and female impersonator and Walter Eccles, humorist and dramatic reader, and the combination is a strong one.

The program will consist of violin solos, readings with violin and piano accompaniment, special music, ballads, burlesque magic, female impersonations in costume, humorous songs, sketches introducing Mr. Paine and Mr. Eccles, dialect recitals, etc.

All the people in the combination are artists and as entertainers, rank among the best in the country. Wherever they have appeared the press has been most liberal in its praise, and our people may look for an evening of thorough enjoyment.

County Taxes.

The total county tax this year is $12,460,530. This was apportioned between the different towns by the board of equalization as follows:

Arpin.....	$ 410,312
Auburndale village.....	100,669
Auburndale town.....	417,535
Carey.....	226,692
Dexter.....	327,628
Grand Rapids city.....	1,943,585
Grand Rapids town.....	450,644
Hansen.....	380,906
Lincoln.....	562,046
Marshfield city.....	2,424,220
Marshfield town.....	435,520
Nekoosa village.....	603,237
Port Edwards.....	840,509
Pittsville city.....	143,411
Remington.....	199,319
Richfield.....	383,212
Rudolph.....	415,346
Rock.....	424,550
Sherry.....	365,856
Sigel.....	467,529
Saratoga.....	130,607
Seneca.....	184,481
Wood.....	352,784

Total $12,460,530
This is divided as follows into various amounts:

State tax.....	$16,667.02
County tax.....	35,000.00
Co. Superintendent salary.....	1,250.00
Co. school tax.....	11,471.35
Soldiers relief fund.....	300.00
Tax commissioners.....	1,611.04

County Clerk Renne and his assistant, Miss Della Renne, have been engaged during the past week in apportioning this property among the different towns and the job has proven no small affair. The task was greatly augmented by the fact that the valuation of the towns instead of being in round numbers, is carried out to a dollar, something unusual and a thing that has not been done heretofore.

Marriage Licenses.

The following marriage licenses were granted during the past week:

Louis H. Haupt of Manitowoc to Lizzie Kruger of Grand Rapids.
Rutherford F. Hayes to Bertha Withers, both of Grand Rapids.
O. J. Gray to Anna Hillmer, both of Grand Rapids.

—A thousand things by it are done far better than most things do one. We refer to Rocky Mountain tea made by Madison Medicine Co. 35c at Johnson & Hill Co.

Musical Service.

The following Thanksgiving musical service has been prepared for the Congregational church on Sunday evening, December 1st.

Piano Voluntary.....Miss Phyllis Hyman
Hymns.....Miss Phyllis Hyman
Reading of Scriptures.....Pastor Chorus
Let Everything That Hath Breath Praise the Lord.....Trowbridge Chorus
To 'Tee Oh Country-National Hymn
Announcements.....Eldberg
Offering.....Eldberg
Chorus, Appear Thou Light Divine.....Morrison
Address.....Rev. R. J. H. Shaw
Hymn No. America.....Eldberg

A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend.

NEW PASSENGER SERVICE.

Soon be in operation between Marshfield and Fond du Lac.

The Tribune is in receipt of information to the effect that a passenger service will go into effect over the Princeton branch of the Northwestern on December 1, everything now being in readiness for this service.

Although trains have been running over the line between here and Fond du Lac, it has been only an accommodation train and being slow, taking about twelve hours to make the hundred miles, it has not received a passenger trade that it would have done otherwise. The time of the new service cannot be given, as the employees here have not received any information as to this part of the matter.

The freight business on the new branch has proven quite heavy, especially that of local freight going south, many of the trains pulling into Fond du Lac with thirty cars that were picked up at the different stations along the way.

An interlocking block system will be put in where the Northwestern and Central cross north of the city, but so far as can be learned this will not be done at the other crossings. This system is a device for preventing collisions on two roads that cross and is used very extensively throughout the country.

The grading on the Nekoosa branch of the line was completed this week and it is expected that track laying will commence early next week.

Railways have Flagmen.

During the past week the Northwestern company has stationed a flagman at their crossing on Cranberry street and the Green Bay and Western has had a man at their crossing on the east side for two weeks past. Their promptness in complying with the ordinance compelling them to protect their crossings is commendable.

The placing of flagmen at the crossings is not building gates as required by the ordinance, but most people who have been interviewed on the subject seem to consider that a flagman who attends to his duty should prove as much protection as gates, as all either does is to warn passers of the coming danger, after which they are supposed to display ordinary human intelligence in protecting themselves.

The St. Paul and Wisconsin Central roads have not made any move in the matter, although they have been notified by the city authorities three times concerning the new ordinance, and each time have replied in some evasive manner, neither saying that they would or would not comply with the law.

It might be well for our citizens to make some discriminations in favor of the companies that have come to the front so promptly and then the other two, upon realizing that it was a matter of dollars and cents to them, would probably do the proper thing.

Rough Riders Ridden.

Corriveau & Garrison's Rough Riders met Johnson & Hill's South African Light Guards at Joe's alleys on Thursday afternoon, but the Rough Riders were not rough enough to down their adversaries. After the game the proprietors furnished a fine oyster supper. Following is the score:

South African Light Guards.
Will Collier.....	123	208
John Whiter.....	127	88
Aug. Mitchell.....	122	156
Chas. Wesser.....	122	130
Walt Olson.....	133	93
P. Brandsteadt.....	139	121
Emile Smith.....	96	122
	853	1048

Rough Riders.
Geo. Corriveau.....	125	68
Wm. Sash.....	153	108
Duke Clafmont.....	88	117
Dan Mc Kercher.....	145	211
Wm. Engler.....	126	124
H. Lemke.....	128	127
Mloyd Moore.....	89	92
	967	967

Married.

ANDREW-PODAWILTZ.—On Thursday, November 23, 1901, at the M. E. parsonage, Rev. W. A. Peterson officiating, Ernest Andrew to Miss Anna Podawiltz, both of Grand Rapids.

Hayden Kelley acted as best man and the bride was attended by her sister, Miss Louisa Podawiltz. Both the young people are well and favorable known in this city.

The marriage was somewhat of a surprise to the friends of the contracting parties, as Ernest had circulated the report that the auspicious event was not to happen for several days yet. The Tribune unites with their many friends in extending the heartiest of congratulations.

A Card.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50 cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25 cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.
JOHNSON & HILL CO.
JOHN E. DALY.

GRAND RAPIDS WINS.

Ryan High Beaten by a Score of Eleven to Six.

The Howe High school football team won their game from Appleton in a manner that showed them to be the superior of their opponents in every respect, and beat them handily by scoring two touchdowns and kicking a goal, while the visitors scored one touchdown and kicked goal, making the score 11 to 6.

Ryan high had played some good games this year and had not been scored against, and while the Grand Rapids team had only played three games, they had won them all, and their opponents had never made a score. In fact Thursdays game was the first this season where their opponents had even got into Grand Rapids territory.

The home boys made two bad fumbles, one when Appleton kicked off after the first touchdown and the next time during a scrimmage. When Appleton got the ball on the first fumble it eventually resulted in gaining six points for the visitors as it was steadily advanced to the goal.

The game was rather slow all the way through, and it seemed as if the last half occupied an hour. The defense on both sides was weak, although Grand Rapids did do a little better than the visitors along this line, they compelling the visitors to punt once and got the ball once on downs, which the visitors did not do during the entire game. It seemed to be only a question of time when the side that held the ball would make a touchdown, accidents barred.

One of the sensational plays of the game was made by Bunge who was tackled while making an end run but dragged his man over the snow for a distance of ten yards before he was downed. Touchdowns were made by Brennan and Fritzsinger.

Appleton kicked off at the opening to Grand Rapids' 20 yard line, where the ball was caught and advanced ten yards. Then it was a steady advance toward Appleton's goal, the opponents being unable to solve the problem of our boys' end runs and bucks against the center of the line, until the pigskin was carried well over the line by Brennan. Goal was missed.

Appleton again kicked off to Grand Rapids but the ball was fumbled and an Appleton man lay down on it at about the 25 yard line in Grand Rapids territory. Then the Appleton boys worked the same game on our boys that had been done in the previous touchdown and it was a steady advance until it was carried across the goal line. Goal was then kicked and the score stood 6 to 5 with Appleton stock rapidly rising.

Grand Rapids then kicked off to Appleton, who advanced the ball to 25 yard line. Then they made two advances when the ball went to Grand Rapids on downs. In the next scrimmage Grand Rapids was given 10 yards on a foul tackle, when the whistle marked the end of the half with the ball on Appleton's 35 yard line.

Grand Rapids kicked off at the opening of the second half. The ball was caught by Appleton and advanced to their 30 yard line. They were held to the third down, however, and were afraid to take any chances and punted. Grand Rapids were steadily advancing the ball into Appleton's territory, when they lost the ball on a fumble during a scrimmage. The Appleton advanced it to Grand Rapids' 30 yard line and then lost the oval on a fumble. Then it was a succession of center rushes and end runs, and Fritzsinger was pushed over the line with the pigskin tucked snugly under his arm. Grand Rapids turns out a very conservative audience, but they did wake up at this juncture and display plenty of enthusiasm.

A goal was kicked and the score stood 11 to 6 in favor of Grand Rapids with only a few minutes more to play, and it looked suspiciously like another victory for our boys unless some unusual plays were made by the opposition.

Appleton kicked off to Grand Rapids but kicked out of bounds twice and the ball went to Grand Rapids. The home boys kicked it to Appleton's 20 yard line where it was caught and advanced about ten yards before being downed. Then there was a slow succession of advances until the end of the game, when the ball was in Grand Rapids territory.

Following is the line up:

Grand Rapids.		Appleton.
Chas. Kruger.....	center.....	Meyer	center.....
Geo. Rowland.....	right guard.....	McNab	right guard.....
O. Saylor.....	left guard.....	Leahy	left guard.....
R. Kelley.....	right tackle.....	Ballou	right tackle.....
M. McCarthy.....	left tackle.....	Elias	left tackle.....
E. Lapham.....	left end.....	Stinson	left end.....
J. Carcoran.....	right end.....	Hardacre	right end.....
E. Brennan.....	full back.....	Keelmeester	full back.....
H. McCamley.....	quarter back.....	Murphy	quarter back.....
F. Bunge.....	right half.....	Merrill	right half.....
F. Fritzsinger.....	left half.....	Ramosse	left half.....
Substitutes—Grand Rapids, Lynn Renne; Appleton, Kuntappel, Cook.
Officials—Geo. P. Himmrecht and Goodsell of Lawrence university.

About five hundred people witnessed the game, the crowd being the largest that has turned out this season. The weather was decidedly raw for spectators, but was not cold enough to be felt by the players.

The Howe high has challenged Eau Claire for a game at some intermediate point, which if played will no doubt prove a good one.

Dolls and Christmas Articles.

The M. W. K. club and Ladies' Aid society of west side will hold a sale of dressed dolls, dolls garment, etc., and also articles suitable for Christmas, in the M. E. church parlors Tuesday afternoon and evening, Dec. 3. Refreshments in afternoon. Supper will be served from 5:30 on.

—John Deugler's Capital for 5 cents is a gentleman's smoke.

Candy!

If you want pure home-made Candies go to the White Front Candy Kitchen. Also leave an order for plain or fancy Ice Cream. It will receive our prompt attention.

AIKEN'S
Candy Kitchen,
East Side.

Must be Sold

The R. Austin place, about 5 acres of land with dwelling house. Well of coldest and purest water, situated in a beautiful pine grove. At a sacrifice for cash. Title perfect. Inquire at law office of J. W. COCHRAN.

CENTRALIA ...MEAT MARKET...

WEST GRAND RAPIDS.

A supply of Fresh, Salt and Smoked Meats constantly on hand. Everything fresh and clean.

Reiland's East Side Market

Is also the leading trading place on the east side. Here you will find everything wanted in the meat line. FISH AND GAME in season.

N. REILAND, Prop.

Geo. W. Baker,

Funeral Director
and Embalmer.

All business entrusted to my care will have prompt and careful attention. A qualified lady assistant. Special attention given to night calls.

Telephone 13. Center St. East Side.
GRAND RAPIDS, WIS.

DON'T BE FOOLED!

Take the genuine, original

ROCKY MOUNTAIN TEA
Made only by Madison Medicine Co., Madison, Wis. It keeps you well. Our trade mark cut on each package. Price, 35 cents. Never sold in bulk. Accept no substitutes. Ask your druggist.

CHAS. S. WHITTLESEY, FIRE INSURANCE AND REAL ESTATE

Office over Bank of Grand Rapids, West side.

All business promptly attended to. First class fire insurance at Current Rates.

Over 20,000 acres of wild and improved farming lands for sale. Houses and lots for sale in the city. General Agency for The United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co. Fidelity, Judicial and Contract Bonds furnished.

Will insure banks and business houses against burglary.
HOUSES TO RENT.

FOR SALE—160 acre farm, 40 acres cleared, good house and barn, team, stock, and farm machinery, situated town of Ft. Edwards, one mile from city limits.

FOR SALE—100 acre farm six miles east of city, good house, small barn, cheap.

FOR SALE—80 acre farm, fine house and barn, town of Hansen, 10 miles from city, excellent location. Can be secured at a bargain.

FOR SALE—Two lots with fine 10-room house, good barn and woodshed, situated in desirable residence part of the city, east side.

FOR SALE—One lot with fine house, modern improvements. Good location close to business part of city, west side.

FOR SALE—One lot with fine modern residence, good barn, French St., close to business part of city.

FOR SALE—Two good farms, town of Armenia, Juneau county, 120 and 200 acres respectively. Prices and terms very reasonable. Prices, terms and full particulars furnished at my office.

C. S. WHITTLESEY,
GRAND RAPIDS, WISCONSIN.

IT WON'T LOOK LIKE

30 CTS

If you buy from us.

WE Magnify your monneys purchasing power.
Crowd best values in storm doors and windows.
Affix the littlest of little prices.

KELLOGG BROS. LBR. CO.

—YARDS AT—

East Grand Rapids.

West Grand Rapids,

Nekoosa, Wis.

A TIGHT SQUEEZE!

That is what the Horseshoe brand of Wringers gives everything that passes through them. Look them over before you purchase some mongrel breed that is made only to sell.

INVESTIGATE OUR PRICES

On all kinds of Hardware and you will find them to be the kind you are looking for. Heaters, Cooks and Ranges are moving lively now.

Centralia Hardware Co.

A Fatal Mistake.
Mrs. Isolate (of Lovelystown)—You say the new cook only stopped long enough at the Lovelystown railroad station to take the next train back to the city, Ferdinand? I fear you didn't show her enough little attentions on the trip out!

Isolate (miserably)—I bought her everything the train boy had; but I knew I had lost her when I didn't kiss her when the train went through the tunnel!—Brooklyn Eagle.

Probably Never Heard of It.
The theological argument waxed warmer and warmer.

"But, my dear sir," protested Deacon Ironside, aghast, "you don't pretend to know more about it than the Apostle Peter did, do you?"

"What did the Apostle Peter know," retorted the man with the aggressive pompadour, "about the higher criticism?"—Chicago Tribune.

Satisfactorily Explained.
"Why do you talk so much?" cried, reproving little May.

"I suppose it's 'cause," the child replied, "I see so much to say."

—Catholic Standard and Times.

FATHERLY ADVICE.

"What's the matter, Billy?"

"Me intended Irew me over becuz I didn't have no automobile."

"Take an old man's advice, an' don't have nothin' more to do wid her. A woman wid extravagant ideas like dat would ruin any man."—Detroit Free Press.

Mental Activity.
The man whose mind is not content on one of two extremes is bent. He pushes on to fame's front rank or else he gets to be a crank.

—Washington Star.

He Is Still Looking.
"Here's a good chance for you, Jack," said the father of the young man just about to graduate from college, looking up from the "want" advertisement in the paper.

"A chance isn't what I want," said the young man, finally. "I'm looking for an opportunity."—Somerville Journal.

How It Was.
Bjones—That's a terrible cigar you're smoking.

Giles—It cost 30 cents.

Bjones—So?

Giles—Yes. When I bought it the cigar man braced me for a quarter I owed him.—Judge.

Lost in the Crowd.
Policeman—That's the matter wid you, little one? S'pose you lost your mamma in the crowd? What's your name, anyway.

Little Lost Girl—Pretty Mousie. Sweet Lamb, Papa's Nudell.—N. Y. Times.

Ample Opportunity.
De Garry—How are you going to squeeze through the summer?

Jack Hardup—I'll board at some place where there are lots of girls and few men.—Town Topics.

Peter's Part.
Dusnap—So the Peterby girls and their mother are here at the beach for all summer? Does old Peterby come down?

Bertwhistle (grimly)—Come down? Yes; handsomely!—Brooklyn Eagle.

An Easy Choice.
"You don't mean to say she has accepted him? He isn't at all her ideal!"

"Well, it didn't take her long to choose between a fiancé in the hand and an ideal in the bush."—Puck.

The Way of a Man.
Madge—He said I was a peach and the apple of his eye. Is that what you call an epigram?

Marjorie—No, my dear. That's what I call a jolly.—Town Topics.

Cause and Effect.
Mamma—No cooking class to-day? May—No, ma; the teacher is sick.

"The heat, I suppose?"

"No; dyspepsia."—Philadelphia Record.

The Rift in the Lute.
"What's this now about Jack and Bessie breaking their engagement?"

"Very sad case. They quarreled about which loved the other best."—Boston Traveler.

The Hardest Part.
Mrs. Crawford—They always seem happy when out in society.

Mrs. Crabshaw—Ah, my dear, that's the hardest part of married life.—Town Topics.

Her View of It.
"Do you believe in marrying for love?" said Mr. Bleecker, of New York, to Mrs. Drostbeef, of Chicago.

"Oh, yes, once in awhile," replied the Chicago woman.—Harlem Life.

Too Limited a Subject.
Editor—Why don't you write something about bathing suits?

Joker—Nothing much to write about.—Smart Set.

Fall of Imagination.
"That dull Miss Wiggs doesn't seem to have a particle of imagination."

"Yes, she has; she thinks she can sing."—Tit-Bits.

MISS BASCOM'S WEDDING.

A Thanksgiving Episode Which Ended Happily for All Concerned.

"LAWS sakes! Polly, you don't tell me that you're going to marry Eph Lawson!" and Mrs. Thomson took her hands from the dough and looked at the prim figure at the window, for Polly Bascom was trim and a mite over 40.

"On Thanksgiving day, Sarah. I'd like to know if I haven't a good right to—" "To be sure you have; but there's the parson, who lost his wife last year and who wants another helpmeet."

"And there's the Widow Jones and Miss Strickle," said Polly. "I can't help the parson out this time."

"Really, I didn't know it had gone so far. Why, what have you done towards the wedding? This is the twenty-third—" "And I'm as ready as I ever will be."

"As ready as you've been for 20 years," and Mrs. Thomson went back to her work. Suddenly she looked up.

"Who's going to give the bride away?" she asked, abruptly.

"We're not going to have any such bifurcated proceedings," pursued the bride-to-be.

HELD OUT HER HAND TO THE PARSON.

"I'd like to ask the privilege of bein' married in your house, Sarah."

"To be sure. To be sure," was the prompt rejoinder. "Anything to see you started well in life, if it is a little late." And thus the matter was settled.

Miss Polly Bascom began at once to prepare for the greatest event in her life. Mr. Lawson was a man of her own age, a timid bachelor who thus far had escaped the pitfalls of love, and who, like Polly, had come to the conclusion that ere long it would be too late to wed.

His courtship had extended over a series of months and some said that at the last moment he would "back out" and leave Polly still in the matrimonial market.

Thanksgiving morning found Polly ready for her nuptials. The whole neighborhood was on the qui vive. And why shouldn't it be? Polly Bascom and Eph Lawson. Did you ever?

"I say, Polly, what if Parson Trimble had asked you first?" queried Mrs. Thomson, as she looked at Polly in her wedding gown.

"But he didn't. He had more than one good chance, Sarah, and you know that I don't want to miss this one," and Polly laughed as she surveyed herself in the mirror.

The hour of seven came on apace and the little parlor in the Thomson home had been arrayed for the occasion. The few guests who had been invited had come, and Parson Trimble, accompanied by an itinerant minister of his own persuasion, was likewise on hand. But the bridegroom was strangely absent.

"I knowed he'd back out. These old bachelors ain't got the spunk of an—" "He'll come," said Polly. "Eph said he would and that settles it."

"It'll be a sorry Thanksgiving for you, Polly, if he doesn't."

The hour passed and no Eph came. The guests looked at one another and always ended by stealing a glance at Miss Bascom. She was "flustered," as Mrs. Thomson said. "If she let this opportunity slip she might never have another. Polly always said she would be married on Thanksgiving, when she did marry, and it would be a long year before another came round."

Seven o'clock struck.

"Polly," said Mrs. Foster, "are you going to disappoint us? We've come to see you married and there's no Eph here. He couldn't screw his courage to the sticking point an'—"

Polly blushed and looked across the room where the parson sat.

"I didn't think Eph would act that way," she said. "It's treatin' me rather shabby; but just wait. I'll show him a thing or two, for no man can trifle with the affections of Polly Bascom."

In another moment the bride-to-be had crossed the room and held out her hand to the parson.

"I want to say that I disown Eph Lawson—a man who hasn't the courage to lead a young lady to the altar," she said. "I don't like to disappoint my friends and tomorrow won't be Thanksgiving. So, Parson Trimble, if you can take me for better or worse—take me yourself, I mean," here Polly blushed again, "I'll do the best I can, and Eph Lawson will learn by his sorrow that he can't trifle with my affections."

Parson Trimble coughed a little, he said it was rather sudden, that he hadn't thought of such a thing, though all knew he had, that he didn't care to infringe on another's rights; but that he had always regarded Miss Bascom as an unexceptionable woman, one who would make any man happy.

"Walk up to the foder, parson, the supper's gettin' cold," broke in Mrs. Thomson.

"And if Polly don't get a husband this year there's no tellin' when she will," said Sally Truaxe.

And when the party filed into the dining-room Parson Trimble led the way with his new wife, and Polly wondered what Eph Lawson would say when he heard that there was at least one woman in the "deceitful" who had a mind of her own, and would not let her affections be trifled with.

Disinterested Family Joy.
For this all are grateful. I venture to say that gifts are not looked for on Thanksgiving day.

—Chicago Record.

A Thanksgiving Benefactor.
"A burglar carried off one of our turkeys."

"You don't say so?"

"Yes; and he left a note saying that he left us the other so we would have something to be thankful for."—Detroit Free Press.

Thanksgiving Discrepancies.
Health waits on moderate poverty. Fate's wisdom oft we question. The man whose dinner's best is he who has the worst digestion.

—Washington Star.

IT'S TOMATO CHOWDER NOW.

The Disappearance of a Good Old Dish in Which Clams Once Figured.

That good old American dish which used to deserve its name of clam chowder seems to have degenerated these days into a thick, sour-tasting tomato soup, says the New York Sun. There is scarcely a place in town where one can get clam chowder now as it was made when the dish earned the great measure of popularity upon which its disreputable successor is still trading.

Instead of clams tomatoes have become the chief ingredient, and the result is an indigestible mess that recalls only in name the savory chowder of better days, and nine times out of ten the deluded diner who partakes of it will be afflicted with heartburn for hours afterward.

At the seashore where clams are abundant one would naturally expect to get a chowder made after the old orthodox fashion, but in the neighborhood of New York at least there remains only disappointment for anyone who banks on this hope. Even there the enterprising and inexpensive tomato has won the fight, and it is that product and not the clam that dominates the chowder.

Another instance of the aggressiveness of the tomato is to be found in most restaurants that serve spaghetti. This, too, instead of being an appetizing mixture of macaroni and meat gravy, topped with Parmesan, has come to be nothing more than a sauce of tomato poured over the spaghetti. So that it is little wonder that these two dishes—clam chowder and spaghetti—which formerly were so highly esteemed by those who knew good eating, have fallen in favor here, and it seems probable that the time is at hand when they will be found on the lists of only the poorest grade of eating places.

SECURING A LOWER BERTH.

The Trick Sometimes Played by Travelers to Get the Coveted Sleeping Place.

Those who travel a good deal and are compelled to make use of night appreciate the value of a lower berth in a sleeper. All kinds of tricks are resorted to to secure one and the agent must keep his eyes wide open if he would escape several kinds of trouble. One of Chicago's veteran passenger men the other day told of a practice that was common before it was decided not to show the diagrams of the cars to passengers.

"A customer would come into the office," said he, "and ask to be shown the diagrams of the various sleepers. In looking them over he would notice that John Smith had a lower reserved until four o'clock in the afternoon, as he was not certain that he would be able to take the train that day. After getting the name well fixed in his mind the tricky customer would purchase a ticket and go back to his office. About two o'clock he would send a messenger boy to the agency with a notice that John Smith had decided to take the berth he had conditionally reserved, whereupon it would be turned over to the messenger. When John Smith called at four o'clock the diagram showed that his lower berth was gone. It would not be proper to quote all that John Smith would say at such times. To save ourselves from these embarrassments and to protect our customers, we recently decided to treat our diagrams as confidential."

PROVISIONS FOR AN ARMY.
Large Ocean Steamships Are Obligated to Have a Well-Stocked Larder.

People who cross the Atlantic in one of the great liners are in no danger of famishing. A gentleman with a penchant for statistics has given the public the average supply aboard the Deutschland at the beginning of every voyage between New York and Hamburg, and, of course, all the other big ships are provisioned in about the same way.

In the first place, there are 40 tons of food to keep things eatable and drinkable, and these are the things that were on the ice on a recent trip across: Fourteen barrels, ten calves, 29 sheep, 26 lambs, 9 hogs, 1,500 chickens, geese and game birds, 1,700 pounds of fish, 400 pounds of tongues and sweetbreads, 1,700 dozens of eggs, 14 barrels of oysters and clams, 175 barrels of potatoes, 75 barrels of other vegetables, 200 crates of tomatoes and celery, 200 dozen heads of lettuce, 90 barrels of flour, 600 pounds of oatmeal and hominy, 1,300 pounds of butter, 2,200 quarts of milk, 300 quarts of cream, 1,000 big molds of ice cream, 4 tons of fruit, 12,000 quarts of wine and liquor, 15,000 quarts of beer and 400 tons of drinking water.

Of course all of this is not used on each trip, but enough is carried to provide a liberal margin.

The Level of Lake Erie.
Lake Erie is now three and one-half feet below the city base of level, the standard from which the city takes measurements of altitude. What is known to engineers as the "city datum" represents the high water mark of the lake in 1838. It cannot be said that the level of the lake is steadily lowering, as some believe, for the level has risen above and gone below the city datum several times since 1838. It is interesting to note that the greatest depth in Lake Erie directly north from Cleveland is 83 feet. The greatest depth in the lake is more than 200 feet, off Long Point.—Cleveland Leader.

OUR REVENUES.

Collections During Fiscal Year Exceeded the Estimates by the Sum of $11,555,561.

Washington, Nov. 20.—The annual report of the commissioner of internal revenue shows that the total receipts for the year ended June 30, 1901, were $209,871,669, or $11,555,561 in excess of the estimates, about the same amount in excess of the receipts for the year ended June 30, 1900, and $22,000,000 in excess of the receipts for 1899. The receipts from the several sources of revenue are given as follows:

Spirits, $116,657,979; increase, $6,130,062. Tobacco, $24,811,967; increase, $2,136,822. Fermented liquors, $75,639,907; increase, $2,119,153. Odomargarine, $2,518,101; decrease, $5,683. Filled cheese, $14,029; decrease, $2,411. Mixed flour, $6,993; decrease, $333. Special taxes not elsewhere enumerated, $1,165,735; decrease, $249,065. Legacies, etc., $5,211,898; increase, $2,327,407. Documentary and proprietary stamps, $39,541,030; decrease, $1,725,228. Banks and bankers, $1,918; increase, $367. Miscellaneous, $1,531,529; decrease, $35,271.

The receipts from all internal revenue sources for the first three months of the current fiscal year ended September 30, 1901, were $73,115,536, a decrease, as compared with the corresponding period last year of $5,353,386. Upon this basis the commissioner estimates the receipts for the current fiscal year will approximate $280,000,000. The percentage of cost of collection is 1.55 per cent. The expenses for the previous fiscal year were $4,633,687.74, or 1.58 per cent. of the collections for that year. The percentage of cost indicated above is the smallest in the history of the bureau. The estimated expenses for the next fiscal year are $4,939,460.

TRAINS COLLIDE.

Wreck on the Santa Fe Railroad Near Franconia, A. T., Causes the Loss of Seven Lives.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 21.—A fatal wreck occurred on the Santa Fe railroad one mile west of Franconia, A. T., a switch station 20 miles east of Needles, Cal., at 5:15 o'clock Wednesday morning. Seven trainmen were killed, three passengers and 14 trainmen injured. Limited trains, east and westbound, No. 4 and No. 3 respectively, crashed together while running at full speed.

In the wreck the entire mail carried by both trains was burned. At least 30,000 letters mailed in this city for the east were destroyed. No registered mail was lost, none being carried on the limited trains.

WILL BECOME A PARK.
United States Government Purchases the San Juan Battlefield, Hill and Blockhouse.

Santiago de Cuba, Nov. 25.—During his recent visit here Gen. Wood bought for the government the principal portion of the San Juan battlefield, including San Juan Hill, the site of the blockhouse and Bloody Bend. The tract comprises 200 acres and cost $15,000. It will be considered a United States reservation, and the government intends to lay out a beautiful park on the old battlefield.

Desperado Captured.

Sioux City, Ia., Nov. 23.—Jack Sully, accused of seven murders in the last 20 years, a notorious South Dakota outlaw, leader of the Lyman county gang of robbers and horse rustlers, a cattle thief and squaw man, is under arrest here. He tried to kill Pete Waugh for recovering cattle, and Waugh, with Sheriff Taylor, ambushed him. His arrest, together with that of Black Bird, his lieutenant, will break up the gang.

Crozier Chief of Ordnance.

Washington, Nov. 23.—The president Friday appointed William Crozier chief of ordnance, with the rank of brigadier general. The appointment of Gen. Crozier was made largely upon the recommendation of Secretary Root. Gen. Crozier has demonstrated his ability in nearly every department of ordnance and has shown a wide knowledge of all affairs pertaining to his profession.

The Fall of Colon.

Colon, Colombia, Nov. 21 (via Galveston).—The city of Colon is in possession of the liberals, who made an unexpected attack on the town. The government was not prepared and there was little resistance. After some fighting the liberals gained possession of all the public offices and the town of Colon. Fourteen men were killed and about 30 were wounded.

Congressman Resigns.

New York, Nov. 22.—Representative Nicholas Muller, of the Seventh New York district, has tendered his resignation as member of congress. Mr. Muller, who is a democratic leader in Richmond borough, and who was defeated for the office of president of the borough of Richmond at the city election, says his step is the result of ill health.

Burned to Death.

Quincy, Ill., Nov. 22.—Mrs. Lafayette Boyer, of Payson, was burned to death Thursday. Her clothing caught fire from the stove and she was burned almost to a crisp before any help could be had. She was 70 years old.

Swept by a Gale.

New York, Nov. 25.—The Long Island and New Jersey shores have been visited by a severe gale which did thousands of dollars' damage to docks and shore property.

Van Sant Will Act.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 25.—Gov. Van Sant has decided to call an extra session of the legislature to take up the fight on the Great Northern railway alliance.

Find Hot Knives.

A peculiar phenomenon was noted during a severe thunderstorm by the attendants at a church picnic near Wausau. During the progress of the storm several persons pulled their knives from their pockets simultaneously and threw them upon the ground, asserting they were too hot to hold. It is supposed the knives became heated by the electrical disturbances in the atmosphere.

Gold Vein Discovered.

A valuable vein of gold has been discovered on the farm of J. V. Allen, a few miles from Avalanche, Vernon county, adjoining the copper mine located there, and from specimens of the ore which have been examined by experts the deposit is destined to be the richest ever located in Wisconsin. The ledge also shows rich outcroppings of copper.

Professional Loyalty.

"I hate to see a man wasting his money," remarked the gentleman with gold glasses and slightly gray hair.

"I don't see why you should take the matter to heart personally."

"I am so selfish, I can't help it. I think every man ought to save every cent he can, so as to make a will that will be worth while for the lawyers."

—Washington Star.

Too Effective.

"John," said Mrs. Billas, after the caller had gone away, "I wish you wouldn't bunch your blunders so."

"What do you mean, Maria?" asked Mr. Billas.

"I didn't mind your telling her that you were ten years older than I, but you followed it up a minute later by letting it slip out that you were 52."

—Chicago Tribune.

Death of News.

"Hain't seen you since Sunday. How's all?"

"Jest so-so."

"Craps good?"

"Jest middlin'."

"Feel'n' well yerself?"

"Right peart."

"Any news stirrin'?"

"Nothin' but the measles, an' the whoopin' cough, an' the yaller janders, an' a sprinklin' or chills an' fever!"—Atlantic Constitution.

The Turkey Gobbler.

Though of his size he boasted, He's now no cause to whoop; If tender he is roasted, If tough he's in the soup.

—Judge.

Viewpoints.

Cora—The football players must be thankful that the games are over for the season.

Merritt—Yes, indeed. It must be a great relief for them to feel that at last they can get a hair-cut.—Judge.

At the Summer Hotel.

"She has a good voice, but she doesn't seem to be able to control it."

"No; she sings whenever anyone asks her."—Smart Set.

A Hopeless Reformer.

"It is sad to see this mercenary spirit so flagrantly manifested in politics," said the earnest citizen.

"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum. "I have fought against it all I could, but it's no use. I can't get people to vote my way without payin' 'em."—Washington Star.

When the Cars Are Crowded.

"Mr. Perkins, you look crushed and yet pleased."

"Yes; on the way out a stout lady sat on me and grumbled because I wouldn't give her more room; before I got off a stouter lady got in and sat on her."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Sometimes.

"I suppose you have said some things you were sorry for."

"Oh, yes," answered Senator Sorghum. "I have occasionally said 'ten dollars' when five would have brought results just as well."—Washington Star.

His Busy Day.

Quarryman—Biddy! His Wife—Phwat do ye want now, sure?

Quarryman—Pour some kerosene on th' fire an' make it hot so Ol can thawoutme dynamite.—N. Y. Weekly.

It Would Seem So.

Some men work all night long, And some from sun to sun; But the bill collector has a snap—His work is always done.

—Chicago Daily News.

COMPARISON.

"Miss May, I do not know any better way to describe my embarrassment in your presence than to say that I feel as if I were about to be examined at school."—Bombe.

The Cynic's Misfortune.

This world's a place, when all is done, By fond illusions ruled; That man cannot have any fun Who never can be fooled.

—Washington Star.

A Chance for Trouble.

"Throwing an old shoe after a bride and groom means that all ill-feeling is thus thrown away."

"Yes, but suppose the old shoe should happen to hit the bride?"—Detroit Free Press.

'Twas Ever Thus.

"Oh, yes, he adores me. I've known him for a fortnight."

"Then what's bothering you?"

"What's bothering me? Why, I've got to wait for him to find it out!"—Brooklyn Life.

An Eye-Opener.

"I wish a position," curtly began the young man who imagined the world waited on a corner for him.

"What can you do?" queried the cement-headed commercial bondholder.

"Oh, everything," said the young man, flippantly.

"Indeed!" marveled the business man. "To give you that job I should have to discharge my 3,000 employees, and, to be frank, I doubt the propriety of such a step. Good day."—Ohio State Journal.

What It Was.

"I am not expecting any package," said the lady of the house.

"This is the number," persisted the driver of the delivery wagon, looking at his book again. "Name's Higgins, ain't it?"

"Yes."

"No. 74?"

"That's our number."

"Then it's for you."

"I think not. It must be a case of mistaken identity."

"No, mum. It's a case of beer."—Tit-Bits.

Accounting for It Chemically.

"It may be merely fancy," remarked Mrs. Selldon-Holme, "but since my husband began drinking the water from that iron spring he has seemed to be ten times as obstinate as he used to be."

"Perhaps," suggested Mrs. Nixdore, "the water is impregnated with pig iron."

—Chicago Tribune.

A Mystery Solved.

Bessie and her father were sitting out on the lawn looking at the stars.

"That very red one," said her father, "is Mars, named after the god of war."

"The god of war!" cried Bessie. "Oh, papa, I wonder if that isn't where the shooting stars come from?"—Detroit Free Press.

A Bar to Marriage.

Daughter (coaxing)—Papa, do have a little more, and let Charles and me be happy together.

Papa (mathematical professor)—What? You want to think of marriage when you don't even know where to find the hypotenuse of a right-angled triangle?—N. Y. Times.

Confessed Her Error.

"Oh, you're always right, of course," he exclaimed, sarcastically. "I suppose you never in your life said anything you regretted."

"Oh, yes, I have," she replied, sweetly. "On a certain momentous occasion I said 'Yes' to your proposal of marriage."—Chicago Post.

At the Summer Hotel.

"She has a good voice, but she doesn't seem to be able to control it."

"No; she sings whenever anyone asks her."—Smart Set.

A Hopeless Reformer.

"It is sad to see this mercenary spirit so flagrantly manifested in politics," said the earnest citizen.

"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum. "I have fought against it all I could, but it's no use. I can't get people to vote my way without payin' 'em."—Washington Star.

When the Cars Are Crowded.

"Mr. Perkins, you look crushed and yet pleased."

"Yes; on the way out a stout lady sat on me and grumbled because I wouldn't give her more room; before I got off a stouter lady got in and sat on her."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Sometimes.

"I suppose you have said some things you were sorry for."

"Oh, yes," answered Senator Sorghum. "I have occasionally said 'ten dollars' when five would have brought results just as well."—Washington Star.

His Busy Day.

Quarryman—Biddy! His Wife—Phwat do ye want now, sure?

Quarryman—Pour some kerosene on th' fire an' make it hot so Ol can thawoutme dynamite.—N. Y. Weekly.

It Would Seem So.

Some men work all night long, And some from sun to sun; But the bill collector has a snap—His work is always done.

—Chicago Daily News.

COMPARISON.

"Miss May, I do not know any better way to describe my embarrassment in your presence than to say that I feel as if I were about to be examined at school."—Bombe.

The Cynic's Misfortune.

This world's a place, when all is done, By fond illusions ruled; That man cannot have any fun Who never can be fooled.

—Washington Star.

A Chance for Trouble.

"Throwing an old shoe after a bride and groom means that all ill-feeling is thus thrown away."

"Yes, but suppose the old shoe should happen to hit the bride?"—Detroit Free Press.

'Twas Ever Thus.

"Oh, yes, he adores me. I've known him for a fortnight."

"Then what's bothering you?"

"What's bothering me? Why, I've got to wait for him to find it out!"—Brooklyn Life.

AFFAIRS OF THE INTERIOR.

Secretary Hitchcock Makes Some Interesting Statements in His Annual Report.

BRIEF SYNOPSIS OF THE DOCUMENT.

Several Recommendations with Reference to the Indian Tribes—Dangers to Our Forests Are Strongly Pointed Out—Arid Lands and Land-Grant Railroads.

Washington, Nov. 25.—The annual report of Secretary Hitchcock, of the interior department, has been made public. In it the conclusions reached by the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, Jones, regarding the present Indian educational system. The secretary says: "The management of the Indian service in the field and in the schools, while satisfactory under existing conditions, is not deemed to be the best for the welfare of the Indians, and different methods will hereafter be adopted. This policy contemplates requiring the working by Indian allottees able to do so of a fair portion of lands allotted them and the contributing by their industry to their own support of all not entirely disqualified by actual disability, physical or otherwise; the discontinuance of the issue of rations to those able to support themselves, and the extension to the latter of every possible aid for their well-being and encouragement; the inauguration of industrial training in all schools where not now established, so that such Indians of both sexes may be taught the trades or industries adapted to their circumstances."

Income Decreased.
The income of the various Indian tribes from all sources during the year aggregated $5,338,580, a falling off of $260,952, mostly due to the expiration of treaty obligations.
In the future full leasing privileges will be confined to those whose disability or inability actually disqualifies them from working any part of their allotments and in a lesser degree to those whose disability prevents their working more than a small part of their allotments; those conditions to be clearly shown; all other allottees to be required to work at least 40 acres of their allotment.

Enrollment of Tribes.
The Dawes commission to the five civilized tribes in Indian Territory reports that the rolls of membership of one nation, the Seminoles, so far have been approved, and their lands have not yet been entirely allotted. The time cannot be fixed with certainty when the enrollment of the four remaining tribes will be finished. There is a vast amount of labor yet to be performed by the commission in investigating the claims of applicants for enrollment and equalizing the value of the lands already classified, and Secretary Hitchcock recommends that the commission be increased by four members. He also favors a modification of the law requiring distribution of the lands on the basis of annual valuation, and that a definite period be fixed for the completion of all work pertaining to the allotment of lands among the Indians in the territory.

Danger to the Forests.
The report says that the act of June 3, 1887, known as the timber and stone act, if not repealed or radically amended will result ultimately in the complete destruction of the timber on the unappropriated and unreserved public lands. The time has arrived, according to the secretary, when reservoirs must be built and managed as a part of a national system of forest and water conservation. They cannot be successful if maintained, however, without a thorough system of forest protection. The introduction of practical forestry on the forest reserves has now begun. The general policy of the department on an outline memorandum to the commissioner of the land office is that additional forest reserves, with boundaries drawn to liberate the smallest amount of arable land, should be created during this winter; the good will of residents in or near the reserves should be gained, forest fires guarded against and the resources of the reserves should be made available for the conservative use of the people. Systematic investigation designed to make them accessible and useful should be undertaken and each forest reserve and part thereof should be dealt with on its own merits.

The Arid Lands.
On the question of reclamation of the arid region the secretary says: "The investigations which have been carried on demonstrate that there is no question now before the people of the United States of greater importance than the conservation of the water supply and the reclamation of the arid lands of the west and their settlement by men who will actually build homes and create communities." It is recommended that construction at once be begun as follows: The San Carlos storage reservoir in Arizona, reclaiming 100,000 acres or more of public land, at an estimated cost of $1,640,000; reservoirs in the Sierra Nevada in California for reclaiming desert lands in Nevada; the diversion of St. Mary river into the headwaters of Milk river in Montana. An appropriation of $250,000 is asked to carry on the hydrographic work of the geological survey.

Land Grant Railroads.
The secretary says the net earnings of the bond-aided and land-grant railroads amount to over $13,000,000 and the increase in gross earnings to $37,000,000. The increase in expenses for the year was over $24,000,000. The debt of the Central Pacific road to the United States now stands at $38,812,725.

Ignorant Released.
San Juan, P. R., Nov. 22.—Santiago Iglesias, the agent of the American Federation of Labor, who was arrested here about a fortnight ago on a charge of conspiracy, has been released in $500 bail. The bail was furnished by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor. Iglesias will be tried December 2.

Fatal Collision.
Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 22.—Four trainmen were killed and seven injured in a head-end collision at ten o'clock Thursday morning between two Louisville & Nashville freight trains at Hughes siding, seven miles from this city.

Navigation Closed.
La Crosse, Wis., Nov. 25.—Navigation on the Mississippi river is now officially closed, and the government is no longer responsible for accidents growing out of the fact that the lights along the river are not burning.

Report Is Untrue.
Vienna, Nov. 22.—An official Serbian statement declares that there is absolutely no foundation in the reports that Queen Draga has been shot at, or that she has committed suicide.

MAY BE RECALLED.

State Department Annoyed by Consul General Dickinson's Description of His Post at Sofia.

Washington, Nov. 25.—Abandonment by Consul General Dickinson of his post at Sofia, Bulgaria, may cause the state department to dispatch another official to that city to negotiate the terms for the liberation of Miss Stone. Mr. Dickinson will be required to make a full explanation of the reasons which induced him to leave Sofia for Constantinople.

Constantinople, Nov. 25.—Mr. Dickinson, the special diplomatic agent of the United States, who has been conducting the negotiations for the release of Miss Ellen M. Stone, arrived here Sunday from Sofia.

London, Nov. 25.—"Mr. Dickinson has received no reply from the brigands to his ultimatum," says a dispatch from Sofia to the Daily Telegraph. "The brigands threaten to kill Miss Stone unless the full ransom is paid by January 1."

MANY LIVES LOST.

Deadly Gas and Smoke Cause Disaster in a Colorado Mine—Twenty-Two Known to Have Perished.

Telluride, Col., Nov. 21.—What is likely to prove the most disastrous accident that has ever occurred in a metallic mine in Colorado resulted Wednesday from a fire which burned the buildings at the mouth of the Bullock tunnel, through which the Smuggler-Union mine is worked, and which filled the mine with deadly gas and smoke. It is impossible to give even an approximate estimate of the loss of life, but it is believed that it will reach nearly, if not quite, 100. Twenty-two are known to have perished.

Telluride, Col., Nov. 22.—The number of victims of the terrible disaster in the Smuggler-Union mine Wednesday is now known to be at least 29, with a considerable portion of the mine unexplored.

FIND THE BODIES.

Rescuers Discover the Remains of the Officials Who Were Lost in West Virginia Mine.

Bluefield, W. Va., Nov. 25.—The dead bodies of the lost party of eight well-known mining men who entered West mine of the Pocahontas Collieries company on Friday morning have been found by rescuers. The names of the victims are: A. S. Hurst, chief inspector; Bob Odham, sub-inspector; Frazier G. Bell, mining engineer; Superintendent of Mines Walter O'Malley; Joseph Cardwell, superintendent of the Shamokin Coal and Coke company; R. E. St. Clair, second assistant inspector; State Mine Inspector Price and Maurice St. Clair, subinspector.

Visits His Brother's Tomb.
Canton, O., Nov. 22.—Abner McKinley, brother of the late president, was here Thursday. During the day he accompanied Mrs. McKinley on a short drive, which included a visit to the cemetery. Acting on the advice of her physicians, Mrs. McKinley has ceased to enter the vault, but Mr. McKinley went inside Thursday. The casket is almost entirely concealed by flowers, which are received from time to time.

Rathbun Indicted.
Jeffersonville, Ind., Nov. 23.—The special grand jury selected to investigate the Rathbun insurance conspiracy and murder case Friday afternoon returned an indictment against Newell C. Rathbun, charging him with murder in the first degree. The body of Rathbun's alleged victim, supposed to be that of Charles Goodman, arrived from Little Rock Friday afternoon and was taken in charge by Coroner Coote.

Family Murdered.
Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 20.—The dead bodies of A. P. Wilcox, wife and two-year-old son were found in their home at Downey, 12 miles from this city. All the bodies were horribly mutilated, and the condition of the premises indicated that the murderer or murderers had met with a fierce resistance. Wilcox and his family had been shot and then cut to pieces with a knife.

Swooned in Court.
New York, Nov. 22.—Mrs. Elizabeth Dale, of Chicago, who is accused of poisoning her five-year-old daughter in Hoboken, N. J., swooned in court. She has pleaded with her husband to come to her assistance. Elbert Waller, the woman's companion, has been sent to prison.

Want Tax Reduced.
Washington, Nov. 22.—Whisky distillers will urge congress to reduce the tax from $1.10 to 70 cents a gallon, thus representing to them a saving of $60,000,000. Brewers and stock brokers will also ask liberal reductions from war rates.

Very Prosperous.
Washington, Nov. 22.—Gov. Hunt, of Porto Rico, who is in this country on a vacation, says that the people are enjoying great prosperity and are not only acquiescing in American rule, but are becoming enthusiastically American.

Indian Affairs.
Washington, Nov. 22.—Commissioner of Indian Affairs Jones, in his annual report, suggests the discontinuance of rations and money to the red men, giving them instead education and throwing them upon their own resources.

Three Skaters Drowned.
Duluth, Minn., Nov. 20.—Miss Belle Woods, aged 25; Charles P. Vallency, aged 26, and Stanley McLeod, aged 24, skated into an air hole in the St. Louis bay about ten o'clock Tuesday night, and were drowned.

NO ROOM FOR ANARCHY.

President Roosevelt in His Message to Congress With Urge That It Be Stamped Out.

THE DOCUMENT READ TO THE CABINET.

Conservative in Tone and Carefully Avoids Telling the Lawmakers What They Should Do—The Paper Contains No New Departures Likely to Arouse Apprehensions.

Washington, Nov. 20.—One of the most earnest paragraphs in President Roosevelt's first message to congress will be that in which he urges the national legislature to take vigorous steps for the suppression of anarchy. The president has nearly completed his message, and read it Tuesday to the members of his cabinet. They were much pleased with it. Without exception they say it is terse and forceful. On account of the large number of topics touched upon, it is longer than the president had meant it to be, but it will not contain long routine recapitulations of department reports.

Contains No Surprises.
The message is conservative. It contains no surprises. There are no new departures likely to arouse apprehension. The president has felt the need of giving the country reassurance as to his caution and conservatism in his first state paper. Probably that feature of it which is likely to attract most attention abroad is found in what he has to say of the Monroe doctrine. Even there he is not aggressive, and follows pretty closely the traditional lines, with the exception that European observers will read between the lines a veto of foreign coaling stations on this hemisphere, a phase of the doctrine with which they are sure to find a good deal of fault.

Congress Left to Act.
The president in treating of controverted questions carefully avoids any effort to tell congress exactly what it should do. He contents himself with recommending action, or with pointing out certain principles which should be observed, leaving to the national legislature its proper duty of finding the means and arranging the details.

Reciprocity.
This is true of reciprocity, which the president recommends in general principles, but without entering into specifications. A graceful feature of the president's discussion of this topic is the references which he makes to the last great utterances of his predecessor in the presidential office. Relief for Cuba, which needs freer entrance to the American market, is urged.

The War Taxes.
There is a recommendation that the war taxes be reduced, but no suggestion of the precise method which should be adopted. Legislation designed to build up the merchant marine is strongly recommended, but the subsidy and anti-subsidy controversy is carefully avoided.

In his recommendations for the navy and army and for the extension of the civil service system, not only in our domestic government but in the administration of our dependencies or colonies, he is more specific.

Repression of Anarchy.
Having been summoned to the presidency by the hand of an anarchist assassin, President Roosevelt eagerly seizes the first opportunity to urge congress to take steps for a repression of this crime, or disease. In the message as now written there is no definite recommendation as to method. But later on the president may have something to offer in the way of a practical plan. He has taken keen interest in this subject, and has consulted freely with Attorney General Knox, Senator Spooner and other eminent lawyers concerning it.

Outlines Work of Congress.
Washington, Nov. 23.—Senator Allison, in outlining the work of the coming congress, declared tariff revision unlikely, believed a department of commerce and a Nicaraguan canal bill assured, expects reciprocity with Cuba will be arranged, repeal of war taxes likely, and a heavy river and harbor bill certain.

Found Dead in His Cell.
Junction City, Kan., Nov. 22.—W. D. Buchanan, of troop D, Fourteenth cavalry, located at Fort Riley, near here, who killed Policemen White and Cooper on Tuesday night, was found dead in his cell Thursday morning. Buchanan had committed suicide by hanging, having made a rope of a towel.

Enormous Expenditures.
Philadelphia, Nov. 23.—The expenditures to be made by the Pennsylvania Railroad company in 1902 for rolling stock will aggregate $25,000,000, a sum unprecedented in railroad history. Of this amount about $19,000,000 will be expended for cars and the other $6,000,000 for locomotives.

Takes Effect Thanksgiving Day.
Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 22.—Gov. Jelks has issued a proclamation announcing the ratification of the new constitution by 26,879 votes, and declaring that the new instrument shall become effective Thanksgiving day, November 28.

Broke Up the Camp.
Madisonville, Ky., Nov. 25.—Two companies of state troops captured a camp of striking miners at Nortonville, Ky., and arrested 23 men.

WISCONSIN STATE NEWS.

Beloit College.

President Northrop, of the University of Minnesota, in an address at the recent Yale bicentennial, said: "Beloit college was founded in southern Wisconsin in 1845. Half of its first faculty of two was a Yale man. Its first president was Rev. Dr. Aaron L. Chapin, Yale, 1837, who held the office for 26 years, till 1863. To-day, as ever, Yale is represented in the faculty of Beloit. The ideas of the founders of Beloit were the same old conservative Yale ideas which have so generally characterized Yale educators, whether at home or abroad.

"To-day Beloit and Yale are alike presided over by their own brilliant graduates; what Arthur T. Hadley is to Yale, Edward D. Eaton is to Beloit; and if I were seeking in the whole west for a young Yale I would at once go to Beloit; and I have no hesitation in saying that there is no denominational or independent non-sectarian college in the west that is better than Beloit. President Eaton is a graduate of one of the departments of Yale."

Marries at Age of Seventy.

Richard H. Garland, aged 70, father of Hamlin Garland, and one of the pioneers of La Crosse county, and Mrs. Mary F. Bolles, widow of the late West Salem merchant, aged 62, were married at the home of the bride in La Crosse. Rev. Mr. Brown, of the Congregational church, performed the ceremony. The wedding was private, only witnesses being invited. A wedding supper was served at the home of the groom. The aged couple will reside upon the old Garland homestead at West Salem.

Not Guilty.

Patrick Kane, charged with the murder of his wife on September 23, was found not guilty in the circuit court at Prairie du Chien. Judge Clements took the case out of the hands of the jury and decided that the prisoner was not guilty. The judge held that there was no evidence to show that the shooting had not been accidental and nothing to support the murder charge.

Many Hunters.

Since the opening of the hunting season the state fish and game warden has had 23 persons from other states arrested for hunting in Wisconsin without a license. All of these persons have been convicted and fined from $50 to $100. Reports received by the warden indicate that the number of hunters this season will exceed 70,000, over twice as many as a year ago.

Rural Delivery.

Rural free delivery will be established at Fountain City, Buffalo county, on January 1. The service will embrace an area of 58 square miles, with a population of 1,000. Alexander Kaehler and Edward Coley have been appointed carriers. The post offices at Behn and Kinley will be discontinued and mail will be sent to Fountain City.

Saws Its Last Log.

The Menominee River Lumber company, of which Jesse Spaulding, of Chicago, is president and chief stockholder, sawed its last log in Marinette. There was flying of flags and the boom of dynamite to mark the close of the lumber operations of a concern that has sawed logs for nearly 50 years on the Menominee.

The News Condensed.

The county board has voted $6,000 to build a jail and sheriff's residence in Grantsburg.
Frank R. Mead, son of the late Joel Mead, one of the pioneer lumbermen of Oshkosh, has been judged insane and committed to the Northern hospital. He is a man of wealth.
Mayor James Gorman sent an order to the Kenosha police department authorizing the officers to shoot at sight anyone found climbing a porch or prowling about the residences of the city.

The farmhouse of John Sewitzke at Lagidow was destroyed by fire and three children perished in the flames.

Safe blowers looted the First national bank at Mondovi of $6,800 in money.

Mrs. C. K. Adams has presented the Madison Art association with her jewels, valued at $10,000. They will be sold and the proceeds applied to furthering the objects of the society.

The east tramway of the Keystone Lumber company caught fire in Ashland and 4,000,000 feet of lumber was burned. Loss, $75,000.

Dr. Dwight W. Day, of Eau Claire, ex-mayor and a veteran of the civil war, dropped dead while reading a paper before the Intercounty Medical society. Apoplexy was the cause.

William Jordan, father of Elizabeth Jordan, editor of a New York magazine, died at his home in Milwaukee of liver trouble, aged 60 years.

Charles D. Howard, general agent for the Canada Atlantic Transit company, died at Milwaukee. He was for years in the lake transportation business.

A freight crew discovered the body of Edward Hedges lying on the Northwestern track at Eagle River. It is supposed he had been shot and left there.

Claire Walker, aged 15, living near Aurora, was accidentally shot and instantly killed while playing on an organ in the parlor of his father's house.

The Oscoda county commissioners have decided to place the sheriff's office on a salary instead of a fee basis after next year.

William Kampf mistook William Shaffer for a deer near Boyd and shot him dead.

A state conference of high school teachers was held in La Crosse under the auspices of L. D. Harrey, state superintendent of schools.

FILIPINO REBELS ROUTED.

Americans Capture a Stronghold in Samar and Kill Twenty of Their Enemies.

CLIMB CLIFF TWO HUNDRED FEET HIGH.

The Trails Leading to the Camp Were Lined with Poisoned Spears and Pitted with Hidden Pitfalls—Aguinaldo Would Talk to Congress—Proclamation from Malvar.

Manila, Nov. 21.—Maj. L. W. T. Waller, of the marine corps, has cabled Rear Admiral Rodgers, at Manila, a full and detailed account of the attack, November 7, by the men of his command upon the rebel stronghold at Soloton, near Basey, island of Samar. Three insurgent camps were destroyed, 40 bamboo cannon were captured, and much rice and other stores were destroyed. The rebel stronghold was almost impregnable. The trails leading to it were lined with poisoned spears sticking from the ground and were filled with hidden pitfalls. Maj. Waller's command attacked the enemy unexpectedly. To do this they had to scale a cliff 200 feet high; this they climbed barefooted over bamboo ladders.

Would Talk to Congress.

Manila, Nov. 22.—Aguinaldo has written to Gen. Chaffee, the military governor of the Philippines, asking the latter's permission to go before congress and express the desires of the Filipino people. Aguinaldo further requests to be accompanied by eight friends, four of whom are prisoners at Guam, while the others are prominent in Manila.

Malvar Proclaims.

Manila, Nov. 22.—The rebel Gen. Malvar has issued a proclamation commending the insurgents for their recent successes and urging them to keep up a most active guerrilla warfare against the Americans and to take advantage of the opportunities offered by the changes in American forces owing to the return to the United States of many enlisted men whose time has expired.

Negroes Aid Filipinos.

Manila, Nov. 23.—It has been officially reported to Gen. Chaffee that the insurgent leader Caballero has 500 fully armed men, including a number of American negroes, under his command in Laguna province, Luzon. An insurgent officer has just been captured carrying papers dated Manila, Laguna province, November 18, and signed by Caballero. The prisoner says that Caballero has 1,000 men with him and contemplated attacking Manila.

Climb a Precipice.

Manila, Nov. 25.—Capt. Edward P. Lawton's company of the Nineteenth infantry has attacked and captured an insurgent fort on Bohol island, south of Cebu, in the Vizayan group. This fort was surrounded on all sides by a precipice, and the only entrance to the higher ground was guarded by a stockade with a line of intrenchments behind it. Capt. Lawton sent Sergt. McMahon and 20 men to climb the precipice and attack the fort in the rear. Sergt. McMahon's party accomplished their task after three hours' climbing through the thick undergrowth of brush and vines that covered the almost perpendicular cliff. They took the enemy by surprise and drove them from the fort. As the insurgents escaped they had to pass the remainder of Capt. Lawton's company at a distance of 150 yards. Here the enemy suffered terrible losses. The insurgents defended themselves with both cannon and rifles. The cannon were captured. The smaller ones were removed, while the larger ones were buried. Capt. Lawton in his report makes special mention for bravery of Sergts. List and McMahon.

Killed by the Trolley.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 23.—Capt. Antoine Neustadt, of Collinsville, aged 73, one of the oldest attorneys in southern Illinois and for years a law partner of former Congressman F. W. L. Hadley, of Collinsville, was run down and almost instantly killed by an electric car of the Collinsville, Caseyville & St. Louis electric railroad at Edgemoor Friday afternoon.

Murder in Joplin.

Joplin, Mo., Nov. 22.—J. E. Grayston, a prominent attorney, was shot and instantly killed Thursday afternoon by George E. Bayne, superintendent of the waterworks. Grayston and wife had been separated a year or more, and Grayston, it is said, believed Bayne, who is a widower, was intending to marry Mrs. Grayston as soon as she was divorced.

Given a Life Term.

South McAlester, I. T., Nov. 21.—W. D. Stearnes, leader of the Caney (I. T.) train robbers, pleaded guilty at Antlers, and was sentenced to life imprisonment in the penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

Is Given Warning.

London, Nov. 25.—Col. Arthur Lynch, the newly elected member of parliament for Galway, has been informed that if he comes to England he will be tried forthwith for treason.

Asks for Aid.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 22.—Gov. Van Sant has written to the governors of other northwestern states, asking their assistance in his fight against the Hill railway combination.

Robbed of Enormous Sum.

Liverpool, Nov. 25.—The Bank of Liverpool has been robbed of £170,000 by a trusted bookkeeper, who is said to be on his way to America.

WHISKY-LOVING FEET.

Strange Case of a Brooklyn Man Who Is a Drunkard from His Ankles Down.

There is a man over in Brooklyn who is a drunkard only from his ankles down, says the New York Times. That is to say, while he never puts a drop of intoxicating liquor into his stomach, his feet are confirmed toppers. They must have their whiskey at regular intervals each day or their owner suffers.

The man who possesses these whisky-loving feet is employed in one of the city departments in the municipal building, in Borough Hall square. At least half a dozen times each day he appears in a popular cafe on Fulton street, near Red Hook lane, and orders whisky. He fills a glass almost to the brim with the liquor, but has never been seen to drink any of it. Instead, he stoops down, unlaces one of his shoes, and pours half of the whisky into it. Then he pours the other half of the liquor into the second shoe.

This strange performance long puzzled the bartenders in the place until one day one of them made bold to ask the man why he disposed of the whisky in so queer a way. The man explained that for years he had had a peculiar trouble with his feet. One day he accidentally found that whisky, when applied to the aching feet, drove away the pain. When at home it was an easy matter for him to remove his shoes and bathe the feet in the liquor, but when about in the city this could not be done conveniently. He finally hit upon the expedient of pouring whisky into his shoes, thus soaking the feet and relieving the pain. These whisky baths for his feet formed quite an item of expense each day, but the relief obtained was well worth it.

THE DEUTSCHLAND'S LARDER.

An Average List of the Provision Carried for a Regular Trip Across the Ocean.

For the lover of statistics for their own sake, and incidentally for the man who likes to eat well, the list of the contents of an ocean liner's larder is an attractive reading, says the New York Sun. Here, for instance, is about an average supply aboard the Deutschland at the beginning of every voyage between this port and Hamburg, and, of course, all the other ships are provisioned in about the same way.

In the first place there is 40 tons of ice to keep things eatable and drinkable, and these are the things that were on the ice on a recent trip across: Fourteen heaves, 10 calves, 20 sheep, 26 lambs, 9 hogs, 1,500 chickens, geese and game birds, 1,700 pounds of fish, 400 pounds of tongues and sweetbreads, 1,700 dozens of eggs, 14 barrels of oysters and clams, 175 barrels of potatoes, 75 barrels of other vegetables, 20 crates of tomatoes, and celery, 200 dozen heads of lettuce, 90 barrels of flour, 600 pounds of oatmeal and hominy, 1,300 pounds of butter, 2,200 quarts of milk, 300 quarts of cream, 1,000 big moulds of ice cream, four tons of fruit, 12,000 quarts of wine and liquor, 15,000 quarts of beer and 400 tons of drinking water.

Of course all this is not used on each trip but enough is carried to provide a liberal margin.

ORIENTAL GEOGRAPHY.

Sultan of Morocco Wanted a Map Showing His Dominion as Filling a Hemisphere.

Talking one day with a Frenchman who dwelt on the frontier between Morocco and Algeria, the sultan of Morocco wished to be exactly informed as to the position of the frontier line, says Golden Days.

To explain it the Frenchman laid before him a map, with the names of the places and water-courses marked in Arabic.

The sultan was amazed at the size of this map, such as he had never seen before. However, not wishing to seem humiliated, he said to the Frenchman:

"Oh, I have a map, too! I believe it is better than yours, for that matter."

And he signed to his chamberlain, who left the room, and returned with a long, narrow box. Out of this he took a stick covered with linen, stretched over ribs, which, when opened out, formed a terrestrial globe, the stick being the axis. On this globe Morocco was about as large as his little finger-nail.

"I was obliged to make the best of it," said the sultan, pointing sadly to the tiny space his dominions occupied on the face of the earth. "I asked a learned man to make me a globe like this with one side of it filled by Morocco and the rest of the world on the other. But he could not do it."

Doesn't Like the Auto.

A newspaper published in Nice, France, loudly declares against the arrogant and ill-smelling automobile. It says: "These vehicles are bringing about the complete ruin of the coast as well as of all the watering places, by taking possession of the principal roads and driveways and speeding over them. Persons who walk on the roads or who ride in other carriages are virtually taking their lives in their hands. The so-called automobile week which we have just had at Nice has been a veritable scandal. During whole days the public was debarraded from the Promenade des Anglais. More than 100,000 persons were affronted in order that a few millionaires might be satisfied."

LOCAL ITEMS.

Regular meeting of the city council next Tuesday evening.

A baby boy arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Billmeyer on Thanksgiving day.

—Do not forget the second number on the Elks entertainment course, Thursday Dec. 5th.

A baby girl arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brazee of the west side on Saturday.

Envers have been paying 60 cents a bushel for potatoes during most of the time during the past week, and while every day finds some potatoes coming in the receipts have not been large.

—Dr. Bird operated upon the son of Mr. Chas. Hays of Rudolph, last week for enlarged tonsils. The patient is doing nicely.

On Tuesday evening, December 10, the Canadian Jubilee singers will appear at the Methodist church in the city. Further particulars next week.

Otto J. Ien, Rob. Lew, Dan Kecaun, Arthur Gaash and Charles Natwick hunted in the neighborhood of Hansen the fore part of the week. They succeeded in capturing four fine deer.

Pittsville Pilot: Ward Phillips, the 16 year old son of F. A. Phillips, west of the city, was shot through the wrist Sunday, while climbing over a stump, by the accidental discharge of his gun.

—The Canadian Jubilee singers will be at the M. E. church on Tuesday evening, Dec. 10.

Two of the Appleton football boys were so badly hurt that they required the assistance of a doctor after the game. It is understood that it was nothing serious, however.

The proposed watch factory project at Stevens Point has fallen through. The citizens were to subscribe for ten thousand dollars of the stock, but only about five thousand worth of subscriptions were forthcoming.

The work of connecting the east and west side waterworks system was commenced on Tuesday, and the frost in the ground made the digging anything but easy, the frozen macadam being almost as firm as granite.

—Lost—Between the Commercial house and the opera hall, a gold medal representing "The Rambler." Finder will receive suitable reward by leaving at Daly's drug store.

A wrestling match has been arranged between Fred Beall of Marshfield and the world famous Farmer Burns. Burns is to throw Beall three times in one hour, actual wrestling time. The match occurs Saturday evening, December 14th.

A. M. Atwood, alias "Towhead," who resides east of the city, has resingled his house, put on paper, new siding, windows and doors, which makes a great improvement in his dwelling. Towhead is becoming quite proud in his old age.

—WANTED—A good, strong boy to learn the baker's trade. A good opportunity for the right boy. Call at this office, or write L. A. Wright, Marshfield, Wis.

Notwithstanding claims to the contrary the open season for partridges and prairie chickens closes on the 30th instant and it is unlawful to kill them after this date. The fine is from $10 to $50 or a jail sentence not to exceed ninety days.

—Chamberlain's stomach and liver tablets cure biliousness, constipation and headache. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect. For sale by Johnson & Hill Co.

A number of the deer hunters hid themselves to the northern woods again on Sunday, the fall of snow of the night previous having proven too much for their self denial. Among those that went up were L. M. Nash, Frank Boles, Will Carey, Will Conway and Garry Mason.

—Strayed into my enclosure on November 10th, eight sheep, color white. These can be found at the farm of Peter Swigart in the town of Arpin, section 23-14-4.

PETER SWIGART.

Suits were started against the various railway companies at Marshfield last week by the city of Marshfield to compel the railroad companies to put in gates at their crossings. A hearing was to be had on Saturday, but it was dropped on the promise of the officials to comply with the ordinance at once.

—All persons holding season tickets for the Elks All Star Entertainment Course will please have seats for the second number, The Boston Musical and Dramatic Co., Thursday, Dec. 5, reserved early. Seats on sale at the usual places, Dec. 2.

On Monday a deal was made through Oliver Akey of Rudolph by which Oliver Walters of Monroe became owner of the Paul Kowolsch farm in Sigel; consideration, $3,200. Mr. Walters purchased the farm for his son, Samuel, who will at once take possession. Mr. Kowolsch will probably move his family to this city.

—Sale of Christmas articles, dressed dolls and doll garments at the M. E. church parlors on Tuesday, Dec. 3d. Refreshments in afternoon and supper from 5:30 on.

The Baby Land show that was to appear at the opera house on Tuesday evening failed to put in an appearance, their last show having been given at Portage, where the aggregation went to pieces. The cause of the disbandment was not reported but is supposed to have been from lack of patronage.

—FOR SALE—A building 16x24 very cheap. Also a lot of studding and joists. Apply to D. FAUCETT.

Mrs. Lawrence Jozwick of Sigel died on Tuesday from blood poisoning subsequent to confinement. Deceased leaves a husband and seven children, the oldest of which is ten years old. She was the only daughter of Peter Brostowitz of Sigel. Mr. Jozwick is the treasurer of the town in which he lives and the deceased lady was highly esteemed by all who knew her.

—The Boston Musical and Dramatic Co., consisting of Helen Louise Trickey, violinist, Walter E. Paine, tenor soloist and female impersonator and Walter Eccles, humorist and dramatic reciter at the opera house, Dec. 5th.

A number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Carey assembled at their home on Tuesday evening and treated them to a surprise. The occasion was Mrs. Carey's 57th birthday and a very enjoyable time was had by those present. Refreshments were served and the guests departed for home at a late hour wishing their hostess many returns of the auspicious event.

Should you receive a sample copy of the Tribune, look the paper over and see if it is not worth the subscription price of $1.50 per year. We have added a lot of new names to our list and are adding more every week, and if you are not a subscriber we would like you to send in your name. It costs you less than three cents a week.

Tuesday was George Baker's 58th birthday and to properly celebrate the occasion he entertained fourteen of his gentlemen friends that evening at his home. Mrs. Baker prepared a feast for the gentlemen and all spent a very pleasant evening. Mr. Baker was presented with a Von Hoff reel, which will no doubt assist Mr. Baker in capturing many fine beauties in summers to come.

—Brings attractiveness to listless, unlovable girls, making them handsome, marriageable women. That's what Rocky Mountain Tea will do. 35c at Johnson & Hill Co.

On Sunday Ethel Peterson, daughter of W. A. Peterson, took what she supposed to be a dose of medicine, but noticing that it did not taste right, she spat the solution out. Investigation proved it to be a mixture of corrosive sublimate, a violent poison. Antidotes and emetics were administered and as she had swallowed very little of the mixture, no evil results were experienced.

Many compliments were heard for the music furnished by the New March orchestra on Thursday evening and a very enjoyable evening was spent by those who attended the ball. A large crowd was present, the floor being filled at every dance. It was the largest affair of the kind since the Junior prom. last spring. The boys served supper in the gallery, Ernest Andrews being caterer for the occasion.

—One big load of dry kindling wood delivered to any part of the city for one dollar. BANCOR BOX & LUMBER CO. Telephone No. 314.

A traveling phrenologist visited this city last week and examined the bumps on the heads of some of our noted citizens at $1.00 per. One of our merchants claims that the phrenologist read his mind to the tune of $8, which he considers an exorbitant charge. It is reported that in the case of school teachers he only charged 75 cents. Why he made this phenomenal cut in the case of this particular profession is not explained.

—I'd leave my happy home and cross the deep blue sea, Rather than be without Charley and my Rocky Mountain Tea. Johnson & Hill Co.

It was stated in dispatches that the owners of paper mills in the Fox and Wisconsin river valleys had received notice from the papermakers' unions demanding that, after December 1st, mills close at 6 o'clock Saturday evening and remain closed until Monday morning. This would make a reduction of about 10 per cent in the amount of work done, and there was to be no reduction in the wages paid. So far as can be learned no notice has been given the paper mills in this region.

—Remember the sale of dolls and Christmas articles at the church parlors of the M. E. church on Tuesday afternoon and evening, Dec. 3. Refreshments.

D. M. Vaughn is figuring on putting in an engine and pump for irrigating purposes on his Riverdale Seed farm during the coming season, as it is considered that the advantage of having plenty of water when it is needed will more than compensate for the cost of pumping the water. He contemplates a plant that will pump about 1000 barrels a day, and being close to the river, the distance that the water will have to be raised will not be as great as it would be otherwise.

—After January 1st the Pomainville hall can be rented for parties, balls and all sorts of social gatherings. Apply to Dr. Chas. Pomainville.

John McPherson was brought down from Marshfield on Wednesday by Deputy Sheriff Warzinski to answer to a charge of bastardy, the complainant being Anna Wellner of Marshfield. McPherson had his hearing before Judge Cooper the same day and was placed under bonds of $250 to appear at circuit court. Anna Wellner is the girl who figured in the Postweiler case before the circuit court and McPherson is a married man three times her age.

Ernest Andrew has rented the building belonging to F. J. Wood next to Fred Stamm's barber shop and is engaged in painting and renovating the same preparatory to starting a restaurant. Mr. Andrew contemplates putting in a first class place where people looking for a quick order meal may be served, and he will also serve table d'hôte for those wanting regular board. He intends to keep open from six in the morning until twelve o'clock at night, so that the hungry wayfarer can find solace for the inner man at almost any time. It will be known as the merchants cafe.

—Smoke the Winneschek cigar. The best ten cent smoke on earth.

That Throbbing Headache.

Would quickly leave you, if you used Dr. King's New Life Pills. Thousands of sufferers have proved their matchless merit for sick and nervous headaches. They make pure blood and build up your health. Only 25 cents. Money back if not cured. Sold by John E. Daly and Johnson & Hill Co.

Never Forget a Note of Thanks.

Be sure to send a note of thanks for a gift received at the earliest possible moment. Write it before your ardor cools. Make it hearty, spontaneous, enthusiastic. You need not be insincere. Even if you do not like the gift you must like the spirit that prompted it. Never defer writing with the idea that you will thank the giver in person. You may do that as well when opportunity offers, but do not risk delay. Nothing is more discouraging than belated thanks.—The Ladies' Home Journal for December.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Ira Moores of Hancock visited friends in the city on Thursday.

James Shearier and family of Merrill are visiting friends in this city.

Larry Ward of Babcock transacted business in the city on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Wood visited at Madison and Milwaukee the past week.

Miss Mayme Daly is the guest of Miss Cora Vaughn at Marshfield this week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Warren returned on Wednesday from their wedding tour.

John White and daughter, Miss Nan, of Pittsville were in the city shopping on Tuesday.

J. F. Moore has been confined to his home for several days past by a slight indisposition.

August Wagner of Nekoosa, was in the city on Thursday to attend the football game.

Miss Floreda Berg spent Thanksgiving with Miss Agnes Hanson in the town of Sigel.

Miss Berdena Berg left last Tuesday to spend Thanksgiving at Marshfield and Chili with friends.

John Hassel and Ed. Sharkey of Rudolph attended the Thanksgiving ball at the opera house.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Garrison of Port Edwards spent Thanksgiving day in this city among relatives.

Miss Blanche Ferguson is off duty this week and is spending the time with her mother in this city.

Rev. W. A. Peterson spent a part of the past week at Wausau where he was assisting in revival work.

Dr. F. D. Humphrey returned on Wednesday from Clintenville, where he had been called in consultation.

Dr. and Mrs. Edward Hougren spent Thursday in this city the guest of Mr. Hougren's brother, Dr. O. T. Hougren.

Register of Deeds E. A. Upham was at Plainfield on Thursday to assist in the dedication of a new Masonic hall there.

W. L. Oswald was confined to the house by sickness on Tuesday, but was able to be at work again the day following.

Mrs. M. Hesser and children of Marshfield are visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Young.

Louis Schall, who has spent the past year at Castleton, N. D., returned to his home in this city on Friday of last week.

Miss Clara Remmel of Wrightstown arrived in the city on Thursday and is the guest of Mrs. T. Kuntz and daughters.

Miss Ethel Kelly visited with Miss Vinnie White at Vesper over Saturday attending the show and ball there that evening.

Miss Mary Bunge of Pittsville, spent Thanksgiving day in this city and attended the ball at the opera house that evening.

George Delap came down from Marshfield on Tuesday with the intention of spending a few days in this vicinity hunting.

Harry Whittlesey and Miss Harriet Whittlesey of Cranmoor were in attendance at the ball in this city Thursday evening.

Dr. C. E. Bartholf of Union Grove was in the city on Friday looking over the ground with a view to opening dental parlors here.

Mrs. Geo. P. Hambrecht left on Wednesday evening for Tonah to spend Thanksgiving with Mrs. Hambrecht's parents.

Dr. D. A. Telfer made a business trip to Madison on Monday, returning home the day following with Mrs. Telfer and her parents.

John Schenck, Fred Laughlin and Miss Lulu Laughlin of Biron were among those who attended the Thanksgiving dance at Nekoosa.

Miss Mabel Marcean came down from Wausau on Wednesday evening and spent the remainder of the week with her folks in this city.

John Kissinger who is attending the Toland business college at Wausau, arrived home Wednesday for a short visit with parents in Sigel.

A. N. Cross spent Sunday in this city with his family. He has been employed in dredging work in the neighborhood of Cranmoor.

Dan McKercher was down from Merrill on Thursday to interview his numerous friends and eat Thanksgiving dinner with his people.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Kellogg left on Friday for Racine, where Mrs. Kellogg will visit for about two weeks. Mr. Kellogg expects to return home next week.

C. V. Snyder, cashier at the Central depot, has been taking a vacation during the past week, and expects to be absent from his office until some time next week.

Misses Christina Pinion and Fannie Tallant of Marshfield visited friends in the city on Thanksgiving day and attended the ball at the opera house that evening.

Miss Myrtle Horton entertained a number of her young friends at dinner on Sunday last at her home near Biron, the occasion being her nineteenth birthday.

Ed. Wheelan returned on Wednesday evening from Madison where he is attending the university, and spent Thanksgiving with his relatives and friends in this city.

Carl Winger was home from the university and helped to cheer the Howe high to victory on Thanksgiving day. He expects to take up his studies again Monday.

Mrs. Wm. Walton of Stevens Point arrived in the city on Wednesday to spend Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Renne. Mrs. Walton being an aunt of Mrs. Renne's.

B. W. Boyer of Merrill, deputy revenue collector, was in the city on Tuesday. This city is out of Mr. Boyer's regular district and he was sent here on special business.

Wilbur Briere, who has been in the employ of a lumber company in Kentucky during the past year, returned to the city on Monday to spend Thanksgiving with his parents and other relatives. Wilbur has been in the employ of the G. W. Jones Lumber company of Appleton and has been at Greenville, Kentucky.

Ellen and Mildred MacKinnon came up from Fond du Lac, where they are attending Grafton Hall, and are spending the week with their parents. They return to school next Monday.

Misses Celia Burr and Anna Graeger, who are teaching in the town of Port Edwards, suspended their labors long enough to spend Thanksgiving with their relatives in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Anderson of Marshfield were in the city on Friday. Mr. Anderson was on business for the Champion Machinery company and Mrs. Anderson visited with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Demarais of Minneapolis and A. L. Kromer and daughter Sylvia of Ashland arrived in the city on Wednesday and visited relatives in this city over Thanksgiving.

Henry Nebbing of Watertown and Edward D. Nebbing of Newark, N. J., who have been visiting with the family of E. Roelins for some time past, returned to their respective homes on Friday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Laughlin of Biron entertained a number of friends at dinner Thanksgiving day. The younger members of the party enjoyed a candy pull during the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kohl of Marshfield were in the city on Thursday visiting Mr. Kohl's relatives, Mrs. J. Hamm and family. Mr. and Mrs. Kohl are but recently married, the event having occurred on Tuesday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bertin Ramsay of Appleton, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ramsay of Seattle, Washington, and Mr. and E. M. Platt of Chicago are visiting in the city with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Hoskinson and Mr. and Mrs. F. MacKinnon.

Harry Miller came home from the university on Wednesday to spend Thanksgiving with his parents and other friends. Mr. Miller left for Chicago Thursday evening where he had some business to transact before returning to school.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Jones of Mazomanie arrived in the city on Tuesday and are visiting with the families of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Telfer, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Muir and Mrs. W. T. Jones. They expect to spend the remainder of the winter in this city.

A. W. Bryant, our whitom telephone manager, spent Thanksgiving in this city and managed to find time to attend the football game in the afternoon and the dance in the evening. Mr. Bryant was on his way from Rhinelander to Chicago on business.

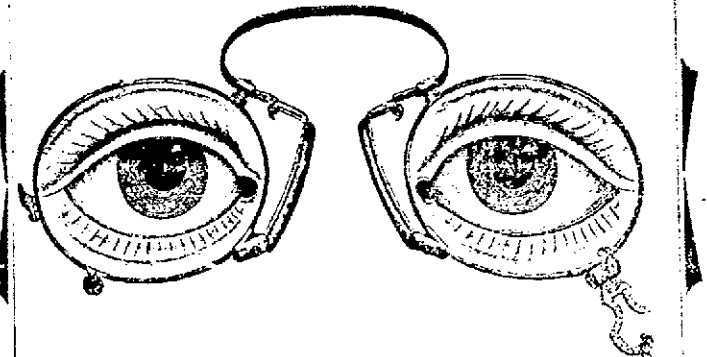

G. Bruderi is still incapacitated by the hurt which he sustained about two weeks ago. It was found on examination that one of the bones in his right foot was broken and the muscles are so badly wrenched that he is unable to use the member. He has been able to get down to his place of business by riding, however.

Mr. and Mrs. F. MacKinnon and son Reginald leave on Monday for San Diego, California, where Mrs. MacKinnon expects to spend the winter, the climate of Wisconsin being rather severe for her health. Mr. MacKinnon expects to return here about Christmas time, but Mrs. MacKinnon will remain until the first of May.

Private advices received from Dr. J. C. Conniff state that he has been traveling through California during the past two weeks, and is enjoying fairly good health. He pronounces the climate delightful, with flowers in bloom and much resembling our weather in June. He also expected to return to Nevada in the near future where he would probably spend a greater portion of the winter.

Among those who went to Stevens Point Saturday evening to hear Brooke's Marine Band orchestra were Misses Edith Nash and Mollie McGloin, Charles Podawiltz and Emil Lambert. They pronounced the music to be something excellent as well as out of the ordinary. Brooke is certainly a great bandmaster, and while he always plays a high grade of music he introduces enough novelty into his programs to catch the ordinary lover of music who is not up in the classics.

Defects in Eyesight

Can be corrected by having your eyes fitted accurately to a pair of glasses by J. R. CHAPMAN. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

If you will watch closely our advertisements hereafter you will find something new every week.

EVERY WEDNESDAY
Is A Sales Day

At our store during the winter months and we shall make a special effort every week to make Wednesday's genuine bargain days.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 27

We will place on sale

LADIES DRESSING SACKS

You will find something nice for a Christmas present among these goods. N. B. No trading stamps given on goods advertised on sales day

MRS. J. HAMM,
EAST SIDE, TELEPHONE NO. 268.

People who are Particular

What They Eat always insist upon having Dewey, Victoria or Sunbeam Flour. Bread made from it retains all the elements of the wheat that goes to make brain and strength and has a delicious wheat flavor that is all its own. Sold by all grocers. If not at yours, write the mill.

Grand Rapids Milling Co.

SOMETHING NEW!

Stop in and see our line of Fancy China in the New Japanese Decorated Ware, consisting of Cups and Saucers, Plates Tea Sets, Vases, Cracker Bowls, Chocolate Pots, etc. The prices are right at

SAM CHURCH'S,
The Bald Headed Druggist, West Side.

PHOTOGRAPHS!

LATEST STYLES.

You will probably want some photos during the holidays to give your friends, and if so I think it entirely probable that I can please you at my studio. Photos finished in any style to suit the customer. You cannot appreciate how many new styles there are to select from unless you visit my gallery and look them over.

Views, Crayon and Photo Enlargements, Carbon Prints, etc.

I have an extra nice selection of views from this part of the country. Come and look them over.

O. MORTERUD,
The Photographer.

Quite a Difference.
"You announce in your paper," said the wrathful young woman, "that I would not be married, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding."
"Well, isn't that the report you sent in?" asked the society editor.
"No, it isn't," answered the wrathful young woman. "The inference is all wrong. I said I would not be married to the particular young man to whom I was reported engaged, which is quite a different matter."—Chicago Post.

One Way of Looking.
Curley—See that fellow looking over there? He used to go to the same college that I did. I wonder if he remembers me?
Burleigh—Ask him for the loan of five dollars.
Curley—What for?
Burleigh—If he remembers you, you won't get it.—Judge.

The Way to View It.
Keep your old heart happy still—
Time's a reckless rover;
Why grieve about the milk you spilt
When there are cows and clover?
—Atlanta Constitution.

AN UNNECESSARY LABOR.

Church Settlement Young Lady (kindly)—I hope you brush your teeth regularly, Maggie.
Maggie (indignantly)—Brush my teeth? What would I do that for? There ain't no hair on me teeth!—Brooklyn Eagle.

A Summer Tragedy.
He wrote the girl—it seemed a novel plan—
His heart's proposal on a palm-leaf fan.
That cruel girl—oh, what a crime, indeed—
Handed it round the porch for all to read.
—Chicago Record-Herald.

What He Was After.
He—Well, I've just been elected president of the road. More yachts, more diamonds, more corner lots.
She—But haven't you enough, dear?
"Oh, I've never cared about my own enough." I want the other fellow's.
—Brooklyn Life.

Chance for Heroism.
Adorer (anxiously)—What did your father say?
Sweet Girl—Oh, he got so angry I was afraid to stay and listen. He's in a perfectly terrible rage. Go in and appease him.—N. Y. Weekly.

Smacked of Sulfur.
School Commissioner—I think a nice motto would look well over your desk. How would "Knowledge Is Wealth" do?
School-Teacher—What, with my salary?—Baltimore World.

It Takes Ten.
Coakley—Poor Woolman has nine mills running now, but they're all losing money.
Joakley—Well, he should have known that nine mills would never make a cent.—Philadelphia Press.

A Scare-Flv.
Baker—Old Baddy is getting ready for the fly season.
Jones—What is he doing?
Baker—Having his head tattooed with a design of a spider's web.—Judge.

Brought Home to Him.
"I throw myself upon your mercy," sobbed the 200-pound heroine. The villain sank beneath her weight.
"I now realize," he murmured, "what is meant by the power behind the throne."—Philadelphia Press.

Highly Recommended.
Mr. Jackson—Didn't he boss gib yo' a recommend 'w'en yo' left?
Mr. Johnson—Oh, yes. He recommended Fakem's nerrine fo' "Bat tired feelin'."—Leslie's Weekly.

Like the Airship.
Quinn—We don't hear much of the cigar-shaped train these days.
DeFonte—No. I guess it was puffed up so much that it all went up in smoke.—Chicago Daily News.

Just Like a Woman.
Benham—Why did that woman keep you standing at the door for half an hour?
Mrs. Benham—She said she hadn't time to come in.—Brooklyn Life.

Too Late.
He—Your father ought to know what I have to say to him. I have been coming here so long.
She—I am afraid he has given up all hope.—Detroit Free Press.

A Useful Hint.
Rattles—But, listen, dear; let me explain.
Mrs. Rattles—I'd rather you didn't; your conduct is suspicious enough already.—Brooklyn Life.

Opposed to Gossip.
Lady (to new servant)—I do not tolerate gossip, but—if you know any interesting news you may tell me!—Tit-Bits.

An Infallible Cure.
"The surest way to kill the love microbe," remarked the Observer of Events and Things, "is to get married."—Yonkers Statesman.

SECRET OF LONGEVITY.

The Simple Explanation of It Is Briefly Given by a Noted French Centenarian.

The recent unveiling in Paris of the statue of the centenarian savant, Chevreul, has served to justify the reprinting of an interview with him in 1886, when he attained his one hundredth year, says the New York Post. Asked by the reporter for the secret of his long life, he replied, gravely: "I can give it to you in four words: 'Keep in good health.' That is my whole secret." What were his recreations? Fishing, though he hated the taste of fish, and never himself sampled the trophies of his line. He was also born without a "sense" for wine, which was not only "indifferent" to him, but positively abhorrent—"a pure question of offensive odor," he explained. But what did he do when he was fatigued?
"Fatigue? I do not know what the word means. Work is the way to rest."
"But there are surely limits to human power, and, besides, when one is ill—"

"Ill? I do not know what that word means either. I do not remember ever to have been ill."
Thus the rule for living 100 years came down to the simple direction always to live in firm health. Chevreul's idea of age was strangely brought out at the dinner given him in honor of his centenary by the Parisian press. His son was present, and undertook to correct the father's memory of a certain ancient menu. "Tais-toi, gamin!" cried out the old gentleman with parental authority. The gamin, he it observed, was then 66 years old!

AUSTRALIAN ORANGES.
District That Produces an Infinite Wealth of the Finest Fruit.

What apple culture is in England that of the orange is in New South Wales, the Parramatta district, near Sydney, being to Australia what Kent, with its countless luxuriant orchards, is to the United Kingdom. The scenery on the Parramatta river, remarks the Sydney correspondent of the London Globe, is not unlike that of the Thames above Richmond, only more romantic and beautiful, especially during springtime, when the wonderful profusion of wild flowers imparts an additional charm to the picture. Even the masses of rock, which in many places rises boldly from the edges of the stream, are decked with bright colored clusters of Australian native flowers of the most lovely and varied description. The trees also claim a large share of admiration, not only from the lover of the beautiful in nature, but also from the utilitarian, for they include the orange with its bright green foliage and dainty white flowers or rich golden fruit, both often being seen on the tree at one and the same time. The orange is not only a picturesque adjunct to the garden, but also more than repays the trouble and cost of cultivation. In the Parramatta district rich and luscious oranges are as plentiful as blackberries in an English country lane during the autumn time.

TO REACH THE NORTH POLE.

French Navigator Suggests a Tunnel Through the Ice as the Best Means.

The most curious method of reaching the north pole ever proposed is by tunnel, a plan urged by Capt. Louis Launette, formerly of the French navy. Capt. Launette's idea is that by building a tunnel of closely cemented ice blocks, and lighting it with electricity, he would establish a route to the pole perfectly protected from the elements and available for travel at all times, with bases of supply at convenient intervals, an abundance of dogs for traction and constant communication throughout its entire length. He proposed to travel overland, says a London paper, to some point in Alaska, whence a vessel designed for arctic waters would sail with the expedition to a point already selected by Capt. Launette—a point as far north as it is safe to navigate. Thence during the short summer the expedition would be rushed over the border of the region of perpetual ice, where the main base of supplies would be established. Then the ice-men and laborers would unpack their tools and set to work at the tunnel road to the north pole. It was to have an ice floor, ice walls and an ice roof.

Asphalt a Solenoid Mystery.
A writer in the Chicago Record-Herald says that asphaltum is the puzzle of scientists and the joy and pride of roadmakers. Geologists and chemists have placed the mysterious material in the coal and petroleum family, yet they do not agree on its origin. Some of them claim volcanic parentage for the curious stuff; others trace its family back to the vegetable tribe. But all are of one mind in that it is one of the most useful and usable products of the earth's crust.

A Summer Novelty.
The crystallized mint leaf is the latest novelty in summer confections. The lover of mint, whether in the form of candy or julep, will find them deliciously refreshing. The sprays of fresh leaves are treated apparently much in the same way as candied fruits are produced, only the mint retains all its original flavor. Crystallized mint leaves are rather expensive, selling at 15 cents an ounce, but they are said to be well worth the price.

Another Opportunity.

A Certain Man, having read somewhere that Opportunity knocks only once at each one's door, concluded to sit up all night for fear he would miss the Call. So while he was sitting near his door there came a heavy knock thereon.

When he opened the door a stranger seized him and beat him all up and took his money and garments and chided him for being so Easy.
"But," said the Man, thinking to excuse himself, "I thought it was Opportunity who knocked."
"So it was," responded the Other, "but it was my Opportunity."
Moral: It is Better to Carry your Opportunity with you.—Baltimore American.

A Pessimistic Opinion.
"They say that in order to be happy," said the young woman who reads a great deal, "a man ought to be a fool or a philosopher."
"Yes," answered Miss Cayenne. "If a man is a fool he can't get a woman to accept him. And if he is as wise as philosophers are credited with being he won't propose."—Washington Star.

A Wise Judge.
"Why did they throw the case out of court?"
"Well, she claimed that he tried to kiss her."
"I should think that would have made it all the worse for him."
"No," she declared on the stand that he didn't succeed.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Making Progress.
Miss Young (enthusiastically)—Oh, Miss Timmer is so lovely, so intellectual! Not in her first youth, you know, but—
Miss Stager—No; but from what I have learned about her, I should think she must be well on in her second childhood.—Leslie's Weekly.

A Practical Guess.
"What makes that friend of yours keep clamoring for the young man in politics?"
"I don't know," answered Senator Sorghum, "unless he thinks that some of the older fellows are getting too wary and hard to handle."—Washington Star.

Chronicle.
Tramp—Would ye kindly help a poor sick man, me lovely lady, wh'd orter be in the hospital, but's too proud ter go?
Lady—Poor fellow! Here's a quarter. What is it you're sick with?
Tramp—Spring fever, mum.—Harper's Bazar.

A Bluff.
"Pa," said little Willie, looking up from his books, "what are 'gastro-nomies'?"
"Why—er—lemme see," said the old man. "O! they're these country jays that blow out the gas."—Philadelphia Press.

Science Set at Naught.
Mosquitoes give us malaria, and malaria robs us of energy.
"Oh, I don't know; when a mosquito bites me I at once feel great increase of energy, and hop around like mad until I get a slap at him."—Chicago Record-Herald.

His View.
"Why," said his friend, "the temperature is lower than it was yesterday."
"I don't care anything about the temperature," said the stout person. "A man is as hot as he feels."—Puck.

Always Careful.
Mamma—I hope you gave that young Custar a piece of your mind when he kissed you?
Ethel—Ah, mamma, I wanted to hear your opinion about it first.—N. Y. Times.

The Better Part.
The bachelors say that, on the whole, their independent women will do; but married men have better halves. And therefore better quarters, too.—Good Housekeeping.

THOSE EQUINE HATS.

Uncle Hickorycreek—Whoa, thar, Betsy! Dang it! What ye gwine?
Betsy—There's a furniture van ahead with a mirror in the rear end. I want to see if my hat's on straight.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

On Again; Off Again.
"What pretty white flowers they are on that plant."
"Yes, but they don't stay on very long."
"No?"
"No, they're bachelor's buttons, you know."—Philadelphia Press.

A Doll Programme.
Auntie—Don't you want to go to Heaven?
Johnny—I don't know. I think it must be a place where people spend their time behaving themselves.—Puck.

Explained.
"I never could see why they always called a boat 'she.'"
"Evidently you have never tried to steer one."—Brooklyn Life.

NEWSPAPER MAN'S MISTAKE.

He Sent Vice President Hobart's Card to a Senator Instead of His Own.

A Baltimore newspaper man once came over to Washington to do some interviewing of public men, says a Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia North American. It was when Garret A. Hobart was vice president, and he called upon that distinguished New Jerseyan first. Then, with fear and trembling, he went to the residence of a senator who was noted for frigidity toward representatives of the press. He sent up his card and expected to be sent a curt refusal to be seen. What was his astonishment when the lackey came downstairs, bowed profoundly and said that Senator So-and-So would be down in just a minute, and would be so good as to make himself at home meanwhile. In less than that time the statesman came down the staircase at a pace that made the reporter fear for the safety of his limbs.

Ah! Mr. Hobart, delighted to see you," he said, as he entered, with his hand outstretched, and before his eyes had become accustomed to the darkened parlor. Then, of a sudden, he drew himself up stiffly, fumbled in his waistcoat, pulled out the card that had been sent to him, and demanded: "What do you mean by this imposition, sir?" Like lightning it flashed on the newspaper man what had happened. He had, while in the vice president's room, inadvertently picked up one of Mr. Hobart's cards and had used it by mistake for one of his own. His apologies were ample, but the senator could not be induced to forgive that thrilling dash down the slippery staircase simply to accommodate a mere scribbler.

MUST CARE FOR THEIR OWN.

Parents in the State of Ohio Are Held Responsible for Their Children's Support.

The Ohio legislature at its last session passed a law attaching a penalty of a term in the penitentiary for parents who refuse to support their offspring. The first conviction under this law is reported from Columbus. It appears that a miner named Baby was making good wages, but he could not be induced by the authorities to support his only child. Some months ago he separated from his wife, and he made a fight for the possession of the child and was successful. As he was not prepared to properly provide for the child, it was taken to the children's home to be cared for. When the child was left there it was the distinct understanding that he was to pay a certain stipend for the services. He failed to comply with his contract, and all the urging of the county officers had no effect in inducing him to let loose of his purse strings to pay for the necessities of life for his child. After a large number of admonitions he was arrested and the court sentenced him to serve one year. In April, 1890, the general assembly passed a law attaching a workhouse sentence for cases of that kind, but the law was amended by the last legislature, and the penitentiary was substituted for the workhouse.

PRETTY MARRIAGE CUSTOM.

It Was Inaugurated by Queen Victoria and Has Been Copied by All Her Children.

A pretty custom dating from the wedding of the late Queen Victoria, is that a sprig of myrtle which formed part of the bride's wreath was carefully cultured, and in due time planted out. When the princess royal was married sprigs were cut for her bridal wreath from this myrtle tree. The princess, following her mother's example, had one of the sprigs cared for till it became a full-sized tree, which served for her daughter-in-law's wreath at the wedding of the present emperor of Germany. The custom was observed in the marriage of the prince of Wales and all other of Queen Victoria's children and grandchildren. There is already, as the result of this charming custom, the making of a grove of myrtle trees. Other customs attached to the marriages of the royal family relate to the bouquet and the wedding cake. Ever since the marriage of Queen Victoria a firm of Windsor florists have had the honor of presenting the one, a Chester confectioner finding the other, neither accepting payment.

Silk Culture a Home Industry.
A writer in the Philadelphia Times says that silk culture is not, and never has been, an exceedingly remunerative business, but it adds vast wealth to the nations engaged in it for the simple reason that it can be pursued by the humblest and poorest, requiring only a small outlay. The raising of a few pounds of cocoons every year does not materially interfere with the household and other duties that now engage the time of the farm girls, and it is by each household raising a few pounds of cocoon that silk culture must be carried on in this country, as it always has been in other countries. In France cocoons are regularly produced by more than 150,000 families.

"Black Death" Still Defiant.
The bubonic plague is said to be the most stubborn of epidemics, not yielding to the most energetic treatment. While the dread of smallpox, cholera and yellow fever has been much lessened of late years because of the progress of medical science, no great hold has yet been obtained on the "black death."
Preventive of Smallpox.
A doctor out west alleges that he has discovered that apple cider vinegar taken in reasonable quantities is a sure preventive of smallpox.

POLISH NAME IN WIRE.

Job That Gave a Street Faker Something to Do for His Money.

A street faker who had a stand down in State street has temporarily gone out of business. His particular specialty consisted in fashioning bright colored wire to spell out the name of his customers. He used no pliers or other tools, but twisted the wire to form the various letters by using his fingers only. The other night he stood at his appointed place of business loudly extolling the marvelousness of his wares, says the Chicago Tribune.

"Step up, step up, loidies and gents, and see me moike yer noimes in wire. I knu wire in every shape and form and spell out yer name, no matter whether it be Smith, Brown or Ruberson. Come up, loidies and gents, and tolke home yer noimes neatly made to hang above yer fireside."

One of the passersby paused to look at the faker's handiwork, and he was at once pounced upon by the faker, who besought him to have his name spelled out for only ten cents. "Vell," said the man, "I vill; dere ist de mona."

"Well, gent," said the faker, airily, "an' now what might be the name be?"

"Ignace Stanislaus Zajaczschowski," said the faker, pale. "I say," he said, "do you think this is a wire mill?" Then he tried to laugh the man away. "It 'ud tolke two mikeski of barbed wirejesk to spellski out that heathen noimejeski of yourself," he said.

"You my mona hajski," said the foreigner. "My nimen, pies."

The crowd around the faker at once sided with the customer.

"Sure," shouted half a dozen voices in a clamor. "Make the jolly his nameski. That's rightski. You offered to make his nameski for ten centski. He gave you the moneyeski. Now make goodski."

"Make the name, you lobster, or we'll wreck your whole outfit," yelled a tough-looking man in the back of the stand.

"All right, all right, gents," shouted the frightened faker. "I'll make the gent's noime, but it'll take all the wire I've got on the stand, and I'll have ter pinch me fingers out of shape."
"Make ther fellers' name and shut up," growled the tough-looking party. So without another word the fellow picked up his wire and worked for half an hour and at the close of that time he had fashioned out the name. And Ignace Stanislaus Zajaczschowski took his purchase and went home, while the faker gathered up the two inches of wire he had left and fled down an alley.

SCARING THE LIONS.

Fierce Forest Kings Driven Off by Imitating the Cries of a Pack of Wolves.

M. Foa, the French explorer, says that lions have a wholesome fear of African wolves, which hunt in packs, and do not scruple to attack even the lion. There are terrible battles in which the lion succumbs to numbers, and dies fighting. In connection with the lion's fear of wolves M. Foa tells a story from his own experience. It was a very dark night, so dark that trees could not be distinguished until the travelers were close upon them. Lions prowled about the party, one of them roaring from a point so close as to have an alarming effect on the nerves. The animals could not be seen, but they could be heard on all sides.

Reaching a tree, the men found one of their comrades with rifle cocked, peering into the darkness, trying to discover the whereabouts of the animal, which could be plainly heard walking among the leaves. A second man was trying to relight a half-extinguished torch. Still the lions could be heard coming and going in the darkness.

At this point the native servant whispered the advice to imitate the cry of wolves in the distance. The party at once began barking and crying: "Hu! hu! hu!" in an undertone, as if the pack were still at a distance, while the man at the camp made the same well-imitated cry.

The effect was instantaneous. There was the sound of a rapid stampede across the dry leaves. The lions decamped in a panic, driven off by the supposed approach of a pack of wolves. For the rest of the night the party was undisturbed.

Kimberley After the Siege.

A city relieved after a siege is a queer place. Julian Ralph, in "An American with Lord Roberts," says that there never were so few horses in the streets of any modern town as were to be seen in Kimberley, when its four tragic months were over. Of course there were no horses; the people had eaten them. The dogs consisted of bones, with a tongue hanging out. They looked like frames of dogs in process of construction.

The shops were open but the clerks had grown to be as automatic as cuckoo-clocks. Instead of saying: "Cuckoo! cuckoo!" they kept on remarking: "All out, ma'am! All out, sir!" in reference to the necessities of life.

"Milk for my coffee," ordered the newcomer.
"The regulars has the only milk there is," replied the restaurant-keeper. "Likewise the jam, and they won't give it up."

"Give me a match," was the next request, and the host replied: "There's the candle. The matches run out in November."

Had a Better Story.

"Did you see the account of that flash of lightning that burned the hair from a boy's head without otherwise hurting him?"

"I did," answered the cheerful liar, "and I was pained to note the incompleteness of the story. Now, I happen to know of a case that is really remarkable. The lightning entered a barber's shop and not only undertook the task of singeing a man's hair, but it rung up the proper amount on the cash register."—Chicago Post.

A Sure Indication.

"Oh, I visited such a woefully poverty-stricken family this morning," said the sympathetic member of the charity committee.

"Indeed!" asked the chairman of the committee. "Were they very, very poor?"

"Poor! Man, it is pitiable. Why, they are so poor that they keep 15 dogs."—Baltimore American.

Compound Profits.

Skinner—I just sold the last of those suburban houses I put up.

Weaver—What are you going to do with all the money?

Skinner—Invest it in quinine and sell it to the purchasers of the houses as soon as they have caught the malaria.—Leslie's Weekly.

Proposed Compromise.

Tramp—Lady, could yer loan a poor pilgrim yer husband's razor?

Lady—And what will you do in return? Cut some wood?
Tramp—Not exactly that, mum; but I will compromise an' give yer me shorn whiskers to stuff a pin-cushion.—Philadelphia Record.

True Musical Instinct.

Reilly—Couplings is a fireman with a true musical instinct.

McCarthy—I didn't know he had any talent in that line.

Reilly—Well, he has. When the music store burned yesterday, Couplings played on six pianos all at once.—Leslie's Weekly.

The Same Remark.

"What did Mame say when her father gave her that new gold watch?" asked one gladsome girl.

"Oh, the same thing that she always says. She remarked that she was having a perfectly lovely time."—Washington Star.

A Materialist.

Mrs. Newlywed—I'm sorry, love, but the cakes did get just a little bit burned, this morning.

Newlywed (reassuringly)—Never mind, my dear; I assure you they taste just like those my mother used to burn.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Similar But Different.

Tom—Have a smoke, old man?

Jack—Thanks. Don't care if I do.

Tom—You'll find that is something like a cigar.

Jack (after a few puffs)—By George, there is a slight resemblance. What is it?—Chicago Daily News.

As Represented.

"Did you find the house as represented?"

"Oh, yes."

"Water on the top floor?"

"Yes; the roof leaked."—Chicago Daily News.

Just a Little Hope Left.

Bluff—I'd have you know, sir, that I'm a self-made man.

Gruff—Well, I'm sorry for you; but keep dark and don't worry, and perhaps you'll get along all right.—Tit-Bits.

One View of It.

"She's such a businesslike girl that I suppose she will invest the fortune that has been left to her."

"Yes; she will invest in a husband."

"Dear me! I didn't know she was so fond of luxuries."—Chicago Post.

Plaint of the Summer Maid.

Ah, me, how dull is a nook.
Though as snug as snug can be,
With just one's self, and a book,
And a circling arm of the sea.
—Edwin L. Sabin, in Smart Set.

CRAWLING UP THE STAIRS.

Auntie—Ten o'clock, 11 o'clock, 12 o'clock, and then what comes, Bertie?
Bertie—Pa, wifout his boots.—Ally Sloper.

For Instance.

The names of institutions
Are thoughtless and unjust.
The "trusts" will trust nobody
And nobody trusts a trust.
—Washington Star.

One Point of View.

"Tasome states the law forbids persons of unsound mind to marry."
"And nobody else cares 't'!"—Detroit Free Press.

There Are Many Linns.

"The truth should not be spoken at all times."
"Don't worry; it isn't."—Brooklyn Life.

Still in the Business.

Church—I see a man milliner up-town has gone into politics.
Gotham—Well, he's a trimmer yet!—Yonkers Statesman.

FROM TO WITHOUT ADULTERATION.

Naylor's

COCOA AND CHOCOLATE

QUALITY UNEQUALLED.

The U. S. Government Tests
Show the Absolute Superiority of Royal Baking Powder.

THE PERFECTION OF COAT MAKING

FRIEND BROS. CLOTHING

Many of our friends prefer our honest winter ulster to all other coats. This is the one best overcoat for a protector "from the winds that howl." It has extra liberal storm collar and big, deep pockets and is made to stand the racket. We have sold thousands of these splendid coats in the Northwest and know from the words of praise of the wearers that they are held in greatest regard for absolute comfort and perfect protection from Old Winter. We make four styles of winter overcoats from which you may select. They embody the latest thoughts in coat making. Look for our name in the right hand breast pocket (a guarantee). Sold by leading dealers.

Friend Bros. Clothing Co., Milwaukee, Wis.

ASTHMA CURE FREE!

Asthmalene Brings Instant Relief and Permanent Cure in all Cases.

SENT ABSOLUTELY FREE ON RECEIPT OF POSTAL.

There is nothing like Asthmalene. It brings instant relief, even in the worst cases. It cures when all else fails.

The Rev. C. F. WELLS, of Villa Ridge, Ill., says: "Your trial bottle of Asthmalene received in good condition. I cannot tell you how thankful I feel for the good derived from it.
I was a slave chained with putrid sore throat and asthma for ten years. I despaired of ever being cured. I saw your advertisement for the cure of this dreadful and tormenting disease, asthma, and thought you had overspoken yourselves, but resolved to give it a trial. To my astonishment, the trial acted like a charm. Send me a full-size bottle."
We want to send to every sufferer a trial bottle of Asthmalene, similar to the one that cured Mr. Wells. We'll send it by mail POSTPAID, ABSOLUTELY FREE OF CHARGE, to any sufferer who will write for it, even on a postal. Never mind, though you are despairing, however bad your case, Asthmalene will relieve and cure. The worse your case, the more glad we are to send it. Do not delay.
Write at once, addressing DR. TAFT BROS' MEDICINE CO., 79 East 13th St., N. Y. City. Sold by all Druggists.

SPARKLING RICH PURE

GUND'S BEER

For deliciousness of flavor and purity of material this brew is unsurpassed. Order a case of our Peerless Bottle Beer sent home and let every member of the family enjoy it.
Our lithographed booklet sent to you free on request.
John Gund Brewing Co., La Crosse, Wis.

SUNSHINE AND SHOWERS revive the grass and flowers, giving them beauty, vigor and freshness.

In precisely the same way

PALMO TABLETS

put vigor and health into the nerves of men and women who have lost strength, and grown discouraged and despondent.

No matter what brought about your condition, Palmo Tablets will not fail to infuse new blood, life and nerve-happiness into your entire being.

Results are a scientific certainty.
50 cents per box, 12 for $5. Guaranteed.
Bottled Free.
Halsid Drug Co., Cleveland, O.

Rain and sweet have no effect on horses treated with Eucalypti Horse Oil. It resists the damp, keeps the skin soft and plian-
t. Sufferers do not know
No sore throat to the child and cure. The harness not only keeps looking like new, but it saves twice as long by the use of Eucalypti
Horse Oil.

Sold everywhere in cans
all sizes.
Made by Standard Oil Company

Full of Snap and Go

That's the way you should feel at all times. Something wrong with your Liver or Stomach if you don't sleep at night? Does your liver ache? Are you thin and weak? Does your stomach rest you? Is your stomach in good condition? Are you dull and listless? Do you have dizzy spells?

Dr. Arnold's Nuvo Family Tea

will give you the proper feeling of alertness and make life worth living. If your Liver is deranged and does not properly perform its functions, if your bowels and stomach do not secrete the right juices and cause indigestion and Chronic Dyspepsia or, if you are troubled with Constipation you cannot be active, alert and full of life.

You should not delay a minute in getting a medicine that will assist Nature in restoring your deranged system, and it's Dr. Arnold's Nuvo Family Tea that you must have to feel better and be cured right away.

For years our medicine has been curing people that feel just like you and it can cure you also. Builds up and strengthens the entire system and sends rich, red blood through your veins. Price 25 cents a package.

Your druggist sells Dr. Arnold's Nuvo Family Tea. If he won't supply you, according to the directions on the package, send us 25 cents stamps and we will forward a package prepaid.

Our Consultation Department gives free advice. Describe your case.

HENRY SCHROEDER, Wholesale Distributor,
488-487 Milwaukee Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

WINECKE & DOERR CIGARS

Don't waste Money on poor Cigars.

Buy Cigars with the above trade-mark printed in red on their label.

Be sure of your money's worth.

If your dealer hasn't
Winecke & Doerr Cigars
Ask some dealer that has.

The Thanksgiving Tramp A LOVE STORY By MANDA L. CROCKER

HALLIE WOODBURN stood on the broad, honey steps of Merriwold taking a sweeping inventory of the darkening November sky.

"And to-morrow is Thanksgiving again!"
she said, in a troubled way, looking across at Thad, the chore man, who was busy tying down the rose-vines for their winter rest.

"Yes," he answered, glancing up, "time flies as if it had angels' wings."

"But time goes dreadfully slow, sometimes, for some people," she replied, with a shiver, turning away.

"It's too mortal mean that those friends of hers couldn't have come to eat Thanksgiving with her, when they promised," Thad concluded to himself as he covered the last refractory cane. Then he went around to the kitchen to speak to Genie.

"The mistress is dreadfully put out about those visitors," said he, confidentially, "or else—she has something on her mind; it can't be she's getting kind of 'frail like now, since the father and mother are laid away?"

"O, I dunno!" she answered, mysteriously.
"If I was judgin' I'd say she was grievin' over sendin' her lover off without much of a reason, as near as I can find out."

"Her—lover?" and Thad stared at the prophetic Genie with wide-open eyes.

"Why yes; Ned Vickers. You know I told you," she answered, reproachfully.
"O, but that was a good while ago," put in Thad.

"Yes, I know," went on Genie, wisely,
"but she had her home ones all along until lately, and now it's different. And Thad," turning toward him suddenly, "it's about this time o' year that she shut the doors of Merriwold against him and—it hasn't been Merriwold since! And Thad—cross your heart now, this is a dead secret—"

"Cross my heart," repeated Thad, "solemnly."

Then Genie leaned nearer her attentive auditor and whispered: "I saw her cryin'!"

that's nothing, he's somewhere around and will be in by and by. It is scarcely dark yet."

As Genie said, by and by Thad came in, with the snowflakes thickly sifted in his curly hair.

"Why! where have you been?" cried Miss Woodburn, in an excited, yet relieved, tone.
"To the village, ma'am," came the answer, reluctantly.

"On such a night as this?" and she held up her hands in astonishment.

"Y—es," he said. "The harness gave out and I had to get it mended."

Then he went up to his room chuckling to himself. "My! I've told more lies tonight than for a long time." A comprehensive smile lighted up his face as he sat down to warm his toes.

An hour passed and the great watch-dog rattled his chain and barked furiously. In a moment the bell in Thad's room tinkled jerkily.

"I knew she'd call me," he laughed, obey-ing the summons with alacrity.

"See what disturbs Bijou so," said Miss
Woodburn, from over her book.

The chore man went out quickly, letting in a flurry of icy snow behind him.

Presently he came back, bringing a flurry in with him.

"It's a man who has lost his way," he said, "and he'd like a cup of coffee and a bit of warmth before he goes further.
And it's an awful night!" emphasized Thad.

"A tramp?" and Miss Woodburn's face was a study. "It is hardly safe for—us—to—"

"If he's a tramp he's an awfully nice one," interrupted Thad, forgetting his manners, "but whoever he is, he is almost frozen!"

A vision of Ned Vickers going out into that other storm rose up. And he had "gone to the bad," people said. Maybe he, too, was a tramp by this time!

"Bring him into the dining-room, then,"
she said, kindly.

"A nice tramp!" huffed Genie, poking the kitchen grate and rattling the cups with a savage spitefulness. "Whoever heard of a nice tramp?"

THREW HER ARMS AROUND HIS NECK.

She stood "afar off" with her hands folded in her white dainty apron while Thad ushered in the stranger.

"I think I am a little faint," he said, sinking into the comfortable seat near the fire and letting his head rest on his hand, while a dilapidated cap dropped to the floor.

Hallie Woodburn was on the other side of the heavy portiere, but the voice startled her and she peeped through. When she saw the stranger's attitude, however, she came into the room.

"Are you ill?" she asked, "or only faint from hunger?"

"It is hunger, madam," he answered, without looking up.

"Hurry, Genie!" said Miss Woodburn, sollicitously, "the stranger is nearly fan-ished." Then she went for a reviving draught. "Here!" she said, "drink this;
you will feel better."

But he did not take the proffered cup;
he looked up instead. "I am hungry of heart," he said, with a pitiful intonation;
"ten years of soul famine, Hallie!"

With a glad cry of recognition Miss Woodburn threw her arms around the nice tramp's neck.

"O, Ned Vickers; it is you!" she said, joyously.

"It is what is left of me," he answered, brokenly. "I have come back to be forgiven."

"There is nothing to forgive!" exclaimed
Miss Woodburn, "and you must not go away again, Ned, dear," kissing his forehead where the snow-damp hair waved just as it used to do.

"But, Hallie, you don't want me if I've gone to the bad. No; I only came back to be forgiven, though I do love you as of old!"

Miss Woodburn hid her face on the shabby coat and Thad hurried away to the kitchen, closing the doors softly after him.

"What is it, now?" asked Genie, un-genuinely, not understanding the look on his face.

"Why, it's Ned Vickers!" answered Thad, triumphantly, "and I came away to let them get acquainted all over again."

After awhile Thad slid quietly into the dining-room with the mollified Genie in his wake.

"Thad," said Miss Woodburn, smiling happily, "this is an old friend of mine. He will be our guest to-morrow and we will have Thanksgiving after all. Show him to the south guest chamber and when he is ready bring him down at once; the coffee will be waiting."

"He is my dear old love," she explained to Genie later; "but I presume you don't quite understand?"

"O, yes, ma'am!" answered the maid, sitting about like a butterfly, and blushing like a peach.

"How, Genie? You have no lover?"
"O yes, ma'am, I have," came the answer, shyly.

"Indeed! Who, Genie?"
"Thad, ma'am," simpered the girl, in confusion.

"Well, Genie," and Miss Woodburn took the girl's face between her palms, "don't ever send him away, then."

"That I won't, ma'am!" exclaimed she.
"I won't be such a—"

"An idiot," finished Miss Hallie. "Well, heaven has been better to me than I deserve, Genie, and I will begin my thanksgiving to-night."

When the nice tramp came down for his coffee Miss Woodburn exclaimed, in surprise: "Why, Ned Vickers, you have deceived me!"

And hadn't he! As he stood there laughing, dressed in the latest style, with a gleam of gold in his attire!

"Forgive me, Hallie," he said, and he stooped to kiss her, as in the olden days.
"I wanted to surprise you; then, too, I wondered if you could love me in tramp-ish apparel."

"Well, you've found out," she answered, gayly. Then she looked lovingly at him over the coffee-urn and said, softly: "Tomorrow will, indeed, be a real Thanksgiving."

Why Thankful?

What are we thankful for?
That is a question
That sometimes puzzles e'en a dinner-guest;
The rich are thankful for a good digestion,
The poor if they have something to dis-gest.

—Judge.

Gathered Them In.

"We gave a waifs' dinner Thanksgiving day."

"A waifs' dinner?"

"Yes; to five old maids and five old bachelors."—Chicago Record.

Seasonable.

A chap out in far Albuquerque
Wrote east in a hand rather queer,
That it still in the mood,
And the walking was good,
He'd be home for his Thanksgiving tuerque.

—Richmond Dispatch.

Thanksgiving.

What though you have no earthly goods
Nor laurel on your brow,
If you have not malaria,
Be thankful anyhow.

—Washington Star.

BARN YARD CLAIRVOYANCE.

Mr. Turkey—Cheer up, old man; are you superstitious?

Mr. Gobbler—No; but when one picks up cranberries three days in succession, right by the door, it has a tendency to make one melancholy.

ALPHABET ON A PINHEAD.

Wonderful Engraving Peat of a Tradesman in Baltimore.

J. A. Houseal, an engraver, has accomplished a task in the engraver's art which eclipses the engraving of the Lord's Prayer upon a silver dollar, which was supposed for a long time to be the triumph of fine work in engraving, says the Baltimore American. He has managed to engrave the alphabet complete on the head of a common pin.
The letters range from left to right,
and are all capitals.

In the first circle around the edge of the head of the pin are the letters from A to M, inclusive. Within this is the second circle beginning at N and ending at Z, and directly in the center is the & mark. The diameter of the pinhead is barely a sixteenth of an inch and it can be understood how small the letters must be. They are about one-fourth the size of the letters in the Lord's Prayer engraved on a dollar. The work occupied about an hour and a half, and was done during an afternoon about a month ago, Mr.
Houseal occasionally leaving it to attend to customers in the store. It was done with an ordinary engraver's tool.

quail calling,
The depths of the brooklets are pearly,
and clear,
In the heart of the wildwood the last nuts are falling.
Proclaiming to all that Thanksgiving is here.

It comes to us oft with the memories of childhood,
It dawns like the morn of a mystical eline,
And up from the heart of the golden-hued wildwood
Are wafted the strains of a Thanksgiving
rhyme;
It comes with the glow of the wonderful story
How dashed in the heavens our country's bright star—
How Freedom unfurled on the ramparts of glory
The flag that was born 'mid the thunders of war.

The proud ship of State in the storm never falters,
Undershielded its banners, undaunted its prow.

We welcome the dawn of that day in November
The Pilgrims first kept in the depths of the wild,
We crown it anew,
for 'tis sweet to remember How dearly they loved it, our fore-father's old;
They gave us the day which the Nation is keeping
With thankfulness sacred from mountain to wave;
They left us Thanksgiving—the men who are sleeping
Where fall the bright beams of the sun on each grave.

As long as our Nation moves onward in splendor
Thanksgiving will dawn like a paradisic morn.
As long as our banner has left one defender
New thoughts and new glory this day will be born;
Mid colors autumnal each heart will remember.
As once a ward swiftly our life rivers flow.
The calendar'd day of Time's frosted November—
Some golden Thanksgiving that passed long ago.

The Turkey.

Draw near the roost and thou shalt hear
The poor fowl sorrowfully say:
"I'm to be slaughtered, I much fear,
To make a Yankee holiday!"

—Chicago Tribune.

SIGEL.

A short time ago the school boys in district No. 1 became interested in the matter of securing a football. As a result an informal meeting was held by the boys at which each interested boy agreed to bring a certain sum of money. Their ability to carry out their decision was soon clearly demonstrated, as in due time the money was in the hands of the treasurer and, on the following Saturday, the ball was bought and now noonts and recesses are made lively. Next time we hear of them they will be in Chicago in response to a challenge from that city.

Thanksgiving was a quiet day in this town, there being no other large gathering than the one at the Polish Catholic church, which assembled to witness the funeral services and pay their last respects to the late Mrs. Lawrence Joswiak.

A few deer have been secured by the hunters from here. The late snowfall has been encouraging to them and some of those who returned from their hunt now say that they intend to go back.

The latest plowing done around here was done last week by John Lindahl. There was a pretty hard crust on the ground to be plowed, but, nevertheless, a good piece of work was done.

Henry Kissinger was down from Wausau to eat turkey with his parents.

Rounding Discovery.

From Coopersville, Mich., comes word of a wonderful discovery of a pleasant tasting liquid that when used before retiring by any one troubled with a bad cough always ensures a good night's rest. "It will soon cure the cough too," writes Mrs. S. Huelburger, "for three generations of our family have used Dr. King's new discovery for consumption and never found it equal for coughs and colds." It's an unrivaled life-saver when used for desperate lung diseases. Guaranteed bottles 50 c and $1 at Johnson & Hill Co. and John E. Daly.

PORT EDWARDS.

A nine pound boy was announced at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Dodge last Friday. Mother and child doing well. Everybody smoked to the health of the new arrival.

One case of smallpox has developed in our city at the home of Mr. Stowe. The place was quarantined Wednesday. We have been very fortunate thus far in escaping it.

H. L. Vachrean spent Thanksgiving in Chicago and took in the Wisconsin-Chicago football game.

Gust Puhle of Watertown arrived here last Thursday to attend his father's funeral.

C. A. Jaspersen went to Neenah Saturday to spend a few days with his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Brazean spent Thanksgiving with friends at Grand Rapids.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Garrison spent Sunday with relatives at Grand Rapids.

Retta and Herbert Cleveland did shopping in your city last Friday.

Mrs. C. J. Kruger of your city visited friends here Tuesday.

Mrs. John Shellhammer was a Grand Rapids visitor Friday.

A Violent Attack of Croup Cured.

"Last winter an infant child of mine had croup in a violent form," says Elder John W. Rogers, a Christian evangelist of Pile, Mo. "I gave her a few doses of Chamberlain's cough remedy and in a short time all danger was past and the child recovered." This remedy not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the first symptoms appear, will prevent the attack. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by Johnson & Hill Co.

ALTDORF.

Miss Anna Steiner, who has been visiting here, returned to her home at Mauston. Miss Steiner will be greatly missed by the young folks here.

Mrs. Mary Smith of Nekoosa spent last week with her sister, Mrs. Bauman.

Miss Mae Reusch went to Marshfield Wednesday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Math Schligh.

Jos. Bricker and daughter Mrs. Gahl of Nekoosa, called on friends here Tuesday.

Great Luck of an Editor.

"For two years all efforts to cure eczema in the palms of my hands failed," writes Editor H. N. Lester, of Syracuse, Kan., "then I was wholly cured by Bucklen's Arnica Salve." It's the world's best for eruptions, sores and all skin diseases. Only 25c at John E. Daly's and Johnson & Hill Co.

RUDOLPH.

Jack Keyser had a narrow escape from serious injury while hunting near Milladore the other day. Jack saw three deer coming his way and jumped on a stump to shoot and in working his Winchester a shell exploded. When Jack recovered from the shock the deer were gone.

The party given at H. Denniston's Thanksgiving evening was largely attended. Refreshments were served and a good time was had by all.

Mr. McVey of Kilbourn is spending a few days with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bratton.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lewis of your city have been visiting at the Granger residence the past few days.

John Hassel and Ed Sharkey attended the dance at the Rapids on Thursday evening.

Walter Coulthart has returned from the Point where he has been the past week.

Miss Annie Shevlin spent her Thanksgiving at her home in Stevens Point.

Mr. Piltz, our popular blacksmith, attended church in your city Sunday.

BABCOCK.

The smallpox scare is over and Babcock can rest for awhile. According to the reports that come in from surrounding towns (Grand Rapids not excepted) all smallpox cases in Wisconsin originated in Babcock. Such reports are wholly without foundation. We admit that the lone case in Nekoosa came from Babcock, but it has been proven beyond a doubt that not one case of smallpox in Grand Rapids came from Babcock. On the contrary Grand Rapids had one or more cases of the disease before a single case developed in Babcock. Ye gossips, what say ye now?

Principal C. W. Jenkins spent several days the first of the week visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Remington and family at North Bluff. Mr. Remington has over seventy head of stock and is fast turning the pine stumps and deer tracks into a stock farm.

Wm. F. Noltner has the finest display of Thanksgiving delicacies on exhibition in front of his butcher shop that was ever seen in Babcock. "Butch" has a great eye for business and never lets a good opportunity pass.

The public schools were again closed Friday last by order of the health officer. This step was taken as a precaution against the spread of diphtheria. School will be resumed on Monday.

Miss Dora Remington, who has been clerking at W. F. Noltner's and attending school here, spent Thanksgiving with her parents at North Bluff.

J. O. Hill, principal of the Rockton schools, stopped over in Babcock Friday on his way home from a hunting trip near Progress. He shot one fine deer.

Clarence Hill, a brakeman on the C. M. & St. P. Ry., spent several days the past week with his parents at Oshkosh. He returned to his work on Monday.

Miss Belle Akay and Mrs. Fred Bickhart departed for Milwaukee Sunday night to do some shopping. They returned Wednesday morning.

Isaac Stout had the misfortune to run a pitchfork line into his leg just above the knee. It was not a very serious wound.

Rev. H. D. Jencks of Pittsville is canvassing Babcock this week for the Life of McKinley. He reports very good success.

Miss Mamie Molloy, one of the Pittsville city teachers, spent Sunday with her parents at her home south of Babcock.

Miss Eva Muller, daughter of Mrs. Sam Griffith, is sick with diphtheria. The house was quarantined on Friday.

T. F. Cummings departed Thursday night for Chicago and vicinity on business. He returned Sunday.

Miss Laura Emmons is spending her week's enforced vacation at her home in Grand Rapids.

Frank Remington and James Casey each succeeded in killing a deer one day last week.

Messrs. Guy and Jay Gorham of Pittsville were in town on business Monday.

John Close, the barber, was in Grand Rapids on business Tuesday.

Mrs. Wm. Sullivan was shopping in Grand Rapids on Wednesday.

C. H. Finley of Pittsville was a business visitor here on Tuesday.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, O., by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by druggists, price 75 c per bottle. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Adjudged Insane.

Louis Vieu of Marshfield was brought to this city on Wednesday by Officer Griffin and taken before Judge Gaynor to be examined as to his insanity. Dr. Boorman examined him and pronounced him non compos mentis. Vieu is only 19 years old and while quite tractable the greater part of the time, he at times gets a violent streak when it was impossible for his people to handle him. He will be taken to Oshkosh.

Spreads like Wildfire.

When things are the best they become the best selling. Abraham Hare a leading druggist, of Belleville, O., writes: "Electric bitters are the best selling bitters I have handled in 20 years." You know why? Most diseases begin in disorders of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, blood and nerves. Electric bitters tones up the stomach, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, hence cures multitudes of maladies. It builds up the entire system. Puts new life and vigor into any weak, sickly, rundown man or woman. Price 50 cents. Sold by John E. Daly and Johnson & Hill Co. druggist.

SPECIAL NOTICE!

To our many friends and patrons we beg to announce that on and after January 1st, 1902, we will do a strictly cash business. No discounts and only one price to all will be our motto.

Very respectfully yours,
SPAFFORD, COLE & CO.

VESPER.

Miss Maud Margatroyd was married at noon Thanksgiving day to Wm. A. Cole. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. Stevens of Pittsville officiating. The bride is well and favorably known in all parts of the city and the groom is a prosperous young farmer of the town of Sigel. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Mabel Margatroyd, and Harry V. Cole acted as groomsmen. After the ceremony a sumptuous dinner was served to seventy-five guests, after which Mr. and Mrs. Cole took the afternoon train for the north. Those present from abroad were Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Merrick of Chicago and Guy Heathcote of Fond du Lac.

The Vesper shingle mill was discovered on fire Sunday afternoon. It was supposed that someone, while smoking, had dropped his pipe in the sawdust. About twenty men were at hand and by prompt action saved the mill.

The following Grand Rapids people attended the show given by Pittsville talent Saturday night were Ethel Kelley, May Yeske, Geo. Hamm, Clarence Searls, Ed Daly, Ed Radgen and C. Hassler.

The Central & Northwestern people are building a platform and freight house here, also a section foreman's house. We thought the town was finished but they still are driving nails.

The show given by Pittsville talent last Saturday night gave good satisfaction. The company gave a dance after the show. We understand they cleared $35.00.

The schoolma'ams of this locality have departed to their homes to spend their Thanksgiving vacation.

Misses Lena Otto, Vinnie White and Emma Trendel were city visitors this week.

Paul Love and Wilbur Briere were callers in Vesper this week.

Bar Passineau moved his family to Grand Rapids this week.

YOUR FAITH will be as strong as ours if you try

Shiloh's Consumption Cure

and ours is so strong we guarantee a cure or refund money, and we send you free trial bottle if you write for it. SHILOH'S costs 25 cents and will cure Consumption, Pneumonia, Bronchitis and all Lung Troubles. Will cure a cough or cold in a day, and thus prevent serious results. It has been doing these things for 50 years. E. C. Winters & Co., Le Roy, N. Y.

Karl's Clover Root Tea corrects the Stomach

I made a special study of fitting all kinds of astigmatism no matter if it is simple hyperopic or simple myopic or compound hyperopic or compound myopic or mixed astigmatism or any muscular insufficiency. No matter what the illness may be I guarantee first-class satisfaction or money refunded. I can give you hundreds of testimonials from patients whom I have treated. If you have any trouble with your eyes do not fail to call on

A. P. HIRZY,

The graduated Optician of the Northern Illinois college.
Grand Rapids, Wisconsin

ALL KINDS OF

COAL

PRICES RIGHT.

E. C. KETCHUM.

TELEPHONE:

Office, 164. Residence, 51.

PILES CAN NOT BE CURED

by local treatment alone. Local application to remove the existing trouble and internal medicine to prevent the return is the only way to CURE piles. 75c for treatment.

CUTLER'S COMBINED TREATMENT CURE

is the only cure that combines internal and external treatment and CURES. The treatment $1.00. Sold by all druggists or by mail on receipt of price by CLARK MEDICINE CO., Chicago, Ill.

(First Publication 11-23-01)

Notice of Final Settlement.

State of Wisconsin—Wood County—In County Court.

In the matter of the estate of Dora King, deceased.

On application of Theodore Lipke, Administrator with annexed of the Estate of Dora King, deceased, for the adjustment and allowance of his administration account, and for his discharge as such administrator.

It is ordered, that said account be examined, adjusted and allowed, at a special term of said court, to be held in the county house, in the city of Grand Rapids, said county of Wood, on the 4th Tuesday of December, to wit, the 24th day of December, A. D. 1901, at nine o'clock in the forenoon of said day.

And it is further ordered, that notice of the time and place of the examination and allowance of said account, be given to all persons interested, by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks before said day, in the Grand Rapids Tribune, a weekly newspaper published at the city of Grand Rapids, in said Wood County.

Dated November 19th, A. D. 1901.
By the Court, JOHN A. GAYNOR, County Judge.

C. M. DOUGHARTY,

Electric Light and Bell Wiring.

Full line of Batteries, Electric Fans and Electrical Supplies.

Telephone 336. Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

Be Prepared

For the coming holidays. Now that Thanksgiving is past and gone, you will want to begin figuring on your

CHRISTMAS GIFTS.

When we tell you that our store is the best place to select these things we consider that we are giving you good advice. It is often hard to make up your mind what you want on an occasion of this sort, but at our store you will find them

EASY TO SELECT

For the reason that we have such a large assortment in all lines, and you may see many things that are useful and ornamental by looking over our stock, that had not occurred to you before. We trust you will be convinced if you call

AT OUR BIG STORE.

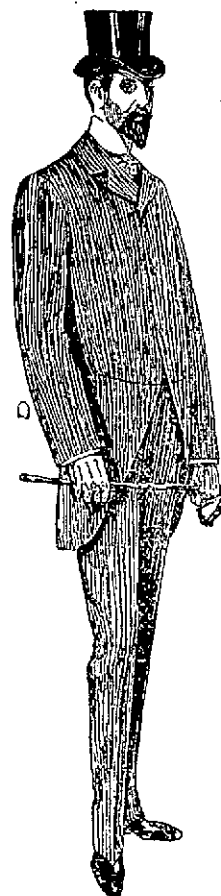

IN THE

DRY GOODS DEPT.

---We Have---

Dress Goods, Dress Trimmings,
Cloaks and Wraps, Fancy Work Patterns
Sofa Pillows, Dress Patterns.
Novelties for the Ladies.

THE CUTAWAY FROCK

You ought to be particular when you buy a cutaway suit. This style of garment is meant to be dressy. It must have careful workmanship and tailoring. The graceful lines and perfect fit of our Hart, Schaffner & Marx cutaways make them popular with good dressers. A man looks well in one of them and the materials are the best that money will buy. This is the label:

HART, SCHAFFNER & MARX

THREE-BUTTON CUTAWAY

Copyright, 1899

By Hart, Schaffner & Marx

GUARANTEED CLOTHING.

Clothing DEPT.

Men's Suits,
Boys Suits,
Fur Overcoats,
Cloth overcoats
Shoes and Rubbers, Hats
Caps, Gents
Furnishings.

Everything to fit you out for winter at our store.

JOHNSON & HILL CO.,

Sellers of Everything.

Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, West Side.

GRAND RAPIDS TRIBUNE.

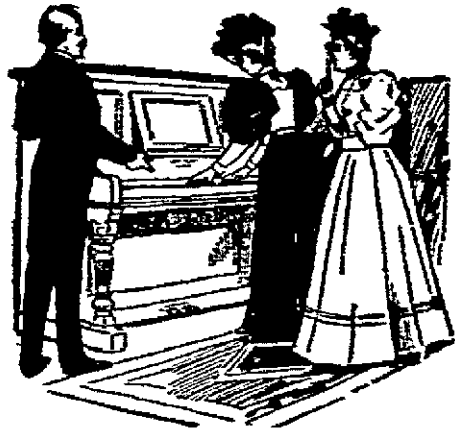

DRUMB & SUTOR, Publishers.

Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, Saturday, Nov. 30, 1901.

VOL. XXIX, NO. 30.

New Furniture Store.

M. A. BOCOGER'S old stand.

Since Pianos
were
First Invented

They have gone on improving. Every year has made them better and more capable of producing beautiful music. Ingenuity seems to have reached its top notch in the products of the 20th century. It would be hard to imagine anything more perfect than the Pianos and Organs we sell with their clear ringing tone and easy action. Durable, beautiful, economical.

A Few Prices on Furniture.

Parlor Tables.....	75c up
Chairs.....	50c up
Rockers.....	$1 up
Couches.....	$5 up
Iron Beds.....	$2.75 up
Book Cases.....	$1.50 up

JOHN MCGLOIN.

IT WON'T LOOK LIKE

30 cts

If you buy from us.

WE Magnify your money's purchasing power.
Crowd best values in storm doors and windows.
Affix the littlest of little prices.

KELLOGG BROS. LBR. CO.

YARDS AT

East Grand Rapids.

West Grand Rapids.

Nekoosa, Wis.

A TIGHT SQUEEZE!

That is what the Horseshoe brand of Wringers gives everything that passes through them. Look them over before you purchase some mongrel breed that is made only to sell.

INVESTIGATE OUR PRICES

On all kinds of Hardware and you will find them to be the kind you are looking for. Heaters, Cooks and Ranges are moving lively now.

Centralia Hardware Co.

LUMBERING OPERATIONS.

The Arpin Co. has several camps in operation.

The Arpin Lumber company has six lumber camps established along the line of the Soo road in Gates and Chippewa counties. The camps are located in the neighborhood of Bruce, Kennan and Catawba and it is expected that the output will be somewhere between twelve and fifteen million feet. This will be saved at Kennan and Bruce during the ensuing season.

The company owns a large amount of land in that country, some of which is timbered, while other tracts have been cut over. The latter lands are rapidly being sold to settlers and during the past year something like seven thousand acres have been disposed of.

These settlers come largely from northern Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska, many of them being men who have tried farming in the prairie sections and have found the difficulties too great and too numerous to be overcome by the average poor man. In most of the prairie states many of the farmers are millionaires and their farms are equipped with many labor-saving devices which the poor man cannot buy, but which he has to compete with, and the natural outcome is that he is eventually pushed to the wall.

This is not the case in northern Wisconsin and many of the homeseekers who visit this state for the first time are greatly surprised at the hay and grain that can be raised in this country. The company sells its lands at from seven to ten dollars per acre.

At Arpin the company will finish operations this winter and only one camp has been established. The cut there will amount to between two and three million feet. This is the twelfth winter that the company has been operating at this point and the total cut of logs will foot up about 150 million feet. This patch of timber was one of the best in the state, altho' it almost went begging at one time.

SECOND ELK ENTERTAINMENT

Will occur at the Opera House on Thursday Next.

The Boston Musical and Dramatic company will appear at the opera house on Thursday evening, December 5, this being the second of the series of entertainments to be given by the Elks this winter.

The company is composed of Helen Louise Trickey, violinist, Walter E. Paine, tenor soloist and female impersonator and Walter Eccles, humorist and dramatic reader, and the combination is a strong one.

The program will consist of violin solos, readings with violin and piano accompaniment, special music, ballads, burlesque magic, female impersonations in costume, humorous songs, sketches introducing Mr. Paine and Mr. Eccles, dialect recitals, etc.

All the people in the combination are artists and as entertainers, rank among the best in the country. Wherever they have appeared the press has been most liberal in its praise, and our people may look for an evening of thorough enjoyment.

County Taxes.

The total county tax this year is $12,460,530. This was apportioned between the different towns by the board of equalization as follows:

Arpin.....	$ 410,312
Auburndale village.....	100,669
Auburndale town.....	417,555
Carey.....	226,692
Dexter.....	327,628
Grand Rapids city.....	1,945,585
Grand Rapids town.....	450,644
Hansen.....	380,006
Linscon.....	362,046
Marshfield city.....	2,424,220
Marshfield town.....	435,520
Nekoosa village.....	603,257
Port Edwards.....	840,509
Pittsville city.....	143,411
Remington.....	199,319
Ridgely.....	283,212
Rudolph.....	415,346
Rock.....	424,550
Sherry.....	365,856
Sigel.....	467,329
Saratoga.....	130,607
Seneca.....	184,481
Wood.....	352,784

Total $12,460,530

This is divided as follows in to various amounts:

State tax.....	$16,667.32
County tax.....	35,000.00
Co. Superintendent salary.....	1,250.00
Co. school tax.....	11,471.35
Soldiers relief fund.....	300.00
Tax commissioners.....	1,611.04

County Clerk Renne and his assistant, Miss Della Renne, have been engaged during the past week in apportioning this property among the different towns and the job has proven no small affair. The task was greatly augmented by the fact that the valuation of the towns instead of being in round numbers, is carried out to a dollar, something unusual and a thing that has not been done heretofore.

Marriage Licenses.

The following marriage licenses were granted during the past week:

Louis H. Haupt of Manitowoc to Lizzie Kruger of Grand Rapids.
Rutherford F. Hayes to Bertha Withers, both of Grand Rapids.
O. J. Gray to Anna Hillmer, both of Grand Rapids.

—A thousand things by it are done far better than most things do one. We refer to Rocky Mountain tea made by Madison Medicine Co. 35c at Johnson & Hill Co.

Musical Service.

The following Thanksgiving musical service has been prepared for the Congregational church on Sunday evening, December 1st.

Piano Voluntary..... Miss Philleo
Hymn 67, Pulpit Hymn..... Felicia D. Hennas
Reading of Scripture..... Pastor
Chorus, Let Everything That Hath Breath,
Praise the Lord..... Trowbridge
Prayer..... Eichberg
Chorus, To Thee Oh Country-National Hymn
Announcements.....
Officers.....
Chorus, Appear Thou Light Divine..... Morrison
Address..... Rev. B. J. H. Thaw
Hymn 638, America.....
A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend.

NEW PASSENGER SERVICE.

Soon to be in operation between Marshfield and Fond du Lac.

The Tribune is in receipt of information to the effect that a passenger service will go into effect over the Princeton branch of the Northwestern on December 1, everything now being in readiness for this service.

Although trains have been running over the line between here and Fond du Lac, it has been only an accommodation train and being slow, taking about twelve hours to make the hundred miles, it has not received a passenger trade that it would have done otherwise. The time of the new service cannot be given, as the employees here have not received any information as to this part of the matter.

The freight business on the new branch has proven quite heavy, especially that of local freight going south, many of the trains pulling into Fond du Lac with thirty cars that were picked up at the different stations along the way.

An interlocking block system will be put in where the Northwestern and Central cross north of the city, but so far as can be learned this will not be done at the other crossings. This system is a device for preventing collisions on two roads that cross and is used very extensively throughout the country.

The grading on the Nekoosa branch of the line was completed this week and it is expected that track laying will commence early next week.

Railways have Flagmen.

During the past week the Northwestern company has stationed a flagman at their crossing on Cranberry street and the Green Bay and Western has had a man at their crossing on the east side for two weeks past. Their promptness in complying with the ordinance compelling them to protect their crossings is commendable.

The placing of flagmen at the crossings is not building gates as required by the ordinance, but most people who have been interviewed on the subject seem to consider that a flagman who attends to his duty should prove as much protection as gates, as all either does is to warn passers of the coming danger, after which they are supposed to display ordinary human intelligence in protecting themselves.

The St. Paul and Wisconsin Central roads have not made any move in the matter although they have been notified by the city authorities three times concerning the new ordinance, and each time have replied in some evasive manner, neither saying that they would or would not comply with the law.

It might be well for our citizens to make some discriminations in favor of the companies that have come to the front so promptly and then the other two, upon realizing that it was a matter of dollars and cents to them, would probably do the proper thing.

Rough Riders Ridden.

Corriveau & Garrison's Rough Riders met Johnson & Hill's South African Light Guards at Joe's alley on Thursday afternoon, but the Rough Riders were not rough enough to down their adversaries. After the game the proprietors furnished a fine oyster supper. Following is the score:

South African Light Guards.
Will Collier.....	125	208
John Whier.....	127	88
Aug. Gitchell.....	122	116
Chas. Wasseer.....	123	139
Walt Olson.....	123	206
P. Bransteadt.....	133	121
Emile Smith.....	96	122
	833	1048

Rough Riders.

Geo. Corriveau.....	128	68
Wm. Nash.....	168	168
Chas. Clamont.....	88	12
Dan Mc Kercher.....	147	211
Wm. Panter.....	126	124
H. Lempe.....	128	127
Lloyd Moore.....	89	92
	567	907

Married.

ANDREW-PODAWITZ.—On Thursday, November 28, 1901, at the M. E. parsonage, Rev. W. A. Peterson officiating, Ernest Andrew to Miss Anna Podawitz, both of Grand Rapids.

Hayden Kelley acted as best man and the bride was attended by her sister, Miss Louisa Podawitz. Both the young people are well and favorably known in this city.

The marriage was somewhat of a surprise to the friends of the contracting parties, as Ernest had circulated the report that the auspicious event was not to happen for several days yet. The Tribune unites with their many friends in extending the heartiest of congratulations.

A Card.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50 cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25 cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded. JOHNSON & HILL CO. JOHN E. DALY.

GRAND RAPIDS WINS.

Ryan High Beaten by a Score of Eleven to Six.

The Howe High school football team won their game from Appleton in a manner that showed them to be the superior of their opponents in every respect, and beat them handily by scoring two touchdowns and kicking a goal, while the visitors scored one touchdown and kicked goal, making the score 11 to 6.

Ryan high had played some good games this year and had not been scored against, and while the Grand Rapids team had only played three games, they had won them all, and their opponents had never made a score. In fact Thursday's game was the first this season where their opponents had even got into Grand Rapids territory.

The home boys made two bad fumbles, one when Appleton kicked off after the first touchdown and the next time during a scrimmage. When Appleton got the ball on the first fumble it eventually resulted in gaining six points for the visitors as it was steadily advanced to the goal.

The game was rather slow all the way through, and it seemed as if the last half occupied an hour. The defense on both sides was weak, altho' Grand Rapids did do a little better than the visitors along this line, they compelling the visitors to punt once and got the ball once on downs, which the visitors did not do during the entire game. It seemed to be only a question of time when the side that held the ball would make a touchdown, accidents barred.

One of the sensational plays of the game was made by Bunge who was tackled while making an end run but dragged his man over the snow for a distance of ten yards before he was downed. Touchdowns were made by Brennan and Fritzsinger.

Appleton kicked off at the opening to Grand Rapids' 20 yard line, where the ball was caught and advanced ten yards. Then it was a steady advance toward Appleton's goal, the opponents being unable to solve the problem of our boys' end runs and bucks against the center of the line, until the pigskin was carried well over the line by Brennan. Goal was missed.

Appleton again kicked off to Grand Rapids but the ball was fumbled, and an Appleton man lay down on it at about the 25 yard line in Grand Rapids territory. Then the Appleton boys worked the same game on our boys that had been done in the previous touchdown and it was a steady advance until it was carried across the goal line. Goal was then kicked and the score stood 6 to 5 with Appleton stock rapidly rising.

Grand Rapids then kicked off to Appleton, who advanced the ball to 25 yard line. Then they made two advances when the ball went to Grand Rapids on downs. In the next scrimmage Grand Rapids was given 10 yards on a foul tackle, when the whistle marked the end of the half with the ball on Appleton's 35 yard line.

Grand Rapids kicked off at the opening of the second half. The ball was caught by Appleton and advanced to their 30 yard line. They were held to the third down, however, and were afraid to take any chances and punted. Grand Rapids were steadily advancing the ball into Appleton's territory, when they lost the ball on a fumble during a scrimmage. The Appleton advanced it to Grand Rapids' 30 yard line and then lost the oval on a fumble. Then it was a succession of center rushes and end runs, and Fritzsinger was pushed over the line with the pigskin tucked snugly under his arm. Grand Rapids turn out a very conservative audience, but they did wake up at this juncture and display plenty of enthusiasm.

A goal was kicked and the score stood 11 to 6 in favor of Grand Rapids with only a few minutes more to play, and it looked suspiciously like another victory for our boys unless some unusual plays were made by the opposition.

Appleton kicked off to Grand Rapids but kicked out of bounds twice and the ball went to Grand Rapids. The home boys kicked it to Appleton's 20 yard line where it was caught and advanced about ten yards before being downed. Then there was a slow succession of advances until the end of the game, when the ball was in Grand Rapids territory.

Following is the line up:

Grand Rapids.		Appleton.
Chas. Kruger.....	center.....	Meyer.....
Geo. Rowland.....	right guard.....	McNab.....
O. Saylor.....	left guard.....	Leah.....
K. Kelley.....	right tackle.....	Ballou.....
M. McCarthy.....	left tackle.....	Elias.....
E. Latham.....	left end.....	Simpson.....
J. Corcoran.....	right end.....	Hardacre.....
E. Brennan.....	full back.....	Keuhmsted.....
H. Mc Camley.....	quarter back.....	Murphy.....
F. Bunge.....	right half.....	Morrill.....
F. Fritzsinger.....	left half.....	Kanouse.....

Substitutes—Grand Rapids, Lynn Renne; Appleton, Kanappel, Cook.

Officials—Geo. P. Hambrecht and Goodsell of Lawrence university.

About five hundred people witnessed the game, the crowd being the largest that has turned out this season. The weather was decidedly raw for spectators, but was not cold enough to be felt by the players.

The Howe high has challenged Eau Claire for a game at some intermediate point, which if played will no doubt prove a good one.

Dolls and Christmas Articles.

The M. W. K. club and Ladies' Aid society of west side will hold a sale of dressed dolls, dolls garment, etc., and also articles suitable for Christmas, in the M. E. church parlors Tuesday afternoon and evening, Dec. 3. Refreshments in afternoon. Supper will be served from 5:30 on.

—John Dengler's Capital for 5 cents is a gentleman's smoke.

Candy!

If you want pure home-made Candies go to the White Front Candy Kitchen. Also leave an order for plain or fancy Ice Cream. It will receive our prompt attention.

AIKEN'S
Candy Kitchen,
East Side.

Must be Sold

The R. Austin place, about 5 acres of land with dwelling house. Well of coldest and purest water, situated in a beautiful pine grove. At a sacrifice for cash. Title perfect. Inquire at law office of J. W. COCHRAN.

CENTRALIA

...MEAT MARKET...

WEST GRAND RAPIDS.

A supply of Fresh, Salt and Smoked Meats constantly on hand. Everything fresh and clean.

Reiland's East Side Market

Is also the leading trading place on the east side. Here you will find everything wanted in the meat line. FISH AND GAME in season.

N. REILAND, Prop.

Geo. W. Baker,

Funeral Director
and Embalmer.

All business entrusted to my care will have prompt and careful attention. A qualified lady assistant. Special attention given to night calls.

Telephone 13. Center St. East Side.
GRAND RAPIDS, WIS.

DON'T BE FOOLED!

Take the genuine, original
ROCKY MOUNTAIN TEA
Made only by Madison Medicine Co., Madison, Wis. It keeps you well. Our trade mark cut on each package. Price, 35 cents. Never sold in bulk. Accept no substitutes. Ask your druggist.

INCORPORATED 1892

CHAS. S. WHITTLESEY,

FIRE INSURANCE AND REAL ESTATE

Office over Bank of Grand Rapids. West side.

All business promptly attended to.

First class fire insurance at Current Rates.

Over 20,000 acres of wild and improved farming lands for sale.

Houses and lots for sale in the city.

General agent for The United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co.

Fidelity, Judicial and Contract Bonds furnished.

Will insure banks and business houses against burglary.

HOUSES TO RENT.

FOR SALE—100 acre farm, 40 acres cleared, good house and barn, team, stock and farm machinery, situated town of Ft. Edwards, one mile from city limits.

FOR SALE—160 acre farm six miles east of city, good house, small barn, cheap.

FOR SALE—50 acre farm, fine house and barn, town of Hansen, 10 miles from city, excellent location. Can be secured at a bargain.

FOR SALE—Two lots with fine 10-room house, good barn and woodshed, situated in desirable residence part of the city, east side.

FOR SALE—One lot with fine house, modern improvements. Good location close to business part of city, west side.

FOR SALE—One lot with fine modern residence, good barn, French St., close to business part of city.

FOR SALE—Two good farms, town of Armenia, Juneau county, 120 and 300 acres respectively. Prices and terms very reasonable.

Prices, terms and full particulars furnished at my office.

C. S. WHITTLESEY,

GRAND RAPIDS, WISCONSIN.

A Fatal Mistake.
Mrs. Isolate (of Lonelyville)—You say the new book only stopped long enough at the Lonelyville railroad station to take the next train back to the city, Ferdinand? I fear you didn't show her enough little attentions on the trip out!

Isolate (miserably)—I bought her everything the train boy had; but I knew I had lost her when I didn't kiss her when the train went through the tunnel!—Brooklyn Eagle.

Probably Never Heard of It.
The theological argument waxed warmer and warmer.

"But, my dear sir," protested Deacon Ironside, agitated, "you don't pretend to know more about it than the Apostle Peter did, do you?"

"What did the Apostle Peter know," retorted the man with the aggressive pompadour, "about the higher criticism?"—Chicago Tribune.

Satisfactorily Explained.
"Why do you talk so much?" Mrs. cried, reproving little May.

"I suppose it's cause," the child replied, "I've got so much to say."

—Catholic Standard and Times.

FATHERLY ADVICE.

"What's de matter, Billy?"

"Me intended t'rew me over becu'z I didn't have no automobile."

"Take an old man's advice, an' don't have nothin' more to do wid her. A woman wid extravagant ideas like dat would ruin any man."—Detroit Free Press.

Mental Activity.
The man whose mind is ne'er content On one of two extremes is bent He pushes on to fame's front rank Or else he gets to be a crank. —Washington Star.

He is Still Looking.
"Here's a good chance for you, Jack," said the father of the young man just about to graduate from college, looking up from the "want" advertisement in the paper.

"A chance isn't what I want," said the young man, loftily. "I'm looking for an opportunity."—Somerville Journal.

How It Was.
Bjones—That's a terrible cigar you're smoking.

Giles—It cost 30 cents.

Bjones—So?

Giles—Yes. When I bought it the cigar man braced me for a quarter I owed him.—Judge.

Lost in the Crowd.
Policeman—That's the matter wid you, little one? S'pose you lost your mamma in the crowd? What's your name anyway?

Little Lost Girl—Pretty Mousie. Sweet Lamb, Papa's Nudell.—N. Y. Times.

Ample Opportunity.
De Garry—How are you going to squeeze through the summer?

Jack Hardup—I'll board at some place where there are lots of girls and few men.—Town Topics.

Peter's Part.
Dusnap—So the Peter's girls and their mother are here at the beach for all summer? Does old Peter come down?

Bert whistle (grimly)—Come down? Yes; handsomely!—Brooklyn Eagle.

An Easy Choice.
"You don't mean to say she has accepted him? He isn't at all her ideal!"

"Well, I don't take her long to choose between a fiancé in the hand and an ideal in the bush."—Puck.

The Way of a Man.
Madge—He said I was a peach and the apple of his eye. Is that what you call an epigram?

Marjorie—No, my dear. That's what I call a jolly.—Town Topics.

Cause and Effect.
Mamma—No cooking class to-day? May—No, ma; the teacher is sick.

"The heat, I suppose?"

"No; dyspepsia."—Philadelphia Record.

The Rift in the Lute.
"What's this now about Jack and Bessie breaking their engagement?"

"Very sad case. They quarreled about which loved the other best."—Boston Traveler.

The Hardest Part.
Mrs. Crawford—They always seem happy when out in society.

Mrs. Crabshaw—Ah, my dear, that's the hardest part of married life.—Town Topics.

Her View of It.
"Do you believe in marrying for love?" said Mr. Blecker, of New York, to Mrs. Dresbeef, of Chicago.

"Oh, yes, once in a while," replied the Chicago woman.—Harlem Life.

Too Limited a Subject.
Editor—Why don't you write something about bathing suits?

Joker—Nothing much to write about.—Smart Set.

Fall of Imagination.
"That dull Miss Wiggs doesn't seem to have a particle of imagination."

"Yes, she has; she thinks she can sing."—Tit-Bits.

MISS BASCOM'S WEDDING.

A Thanksgiving Episode Which Ended Happily for All Concerned.

LAWSON sakes! Polly, you don't tell me that you're going to marry Eph Lawson," said Mrs. Thomson took her hands from the dough and looked at the prim figure at the window, for Polly Bascom was trim and a mite over 40.

"On Thanksgiving day, Sarah. I'd like to know if I haven't as good a right to be sure you have, but there's the person, who lost his wife last year and who wants another helpmeet."

"And there's the Widow Jones and Miss Sickle," said Polly. "I can't help the person on this time."

"Really, I didn't know it had gone so far. Why, what have you done towards the wedding? This is the twenty-third."

"And I'm as ready as I ever will be."

"As ready as you've been for 20 years," said Mrs. Thomson went back to her work. Suddenly she looked up.

"Who's going to give the bride away?" she asked, abruptly.

"We're not going to have any such hifalutin' proceedings," pursued the bride-to-be.

HELD OUT HER HAND TO THE PARSON.

"I'd like to ask the privilege of bein' married in your house, Sarah."

"To be sure. To be sure," was the prompt rejoinder. "Thanking you to see you started well in life, if it is a little late." And thus the matter was settled.

Miss Polly Bascom began at once to prepare for the greatest event in her life. Mr. Lawson was a man of her own age, a timid bachelor who thus far had escaped the pitfalls of love, and who, like Polly, had come to the conclusion that ere long it would be too late to wed.

His courtship had extended over a series of months and some said that at the last moment he would "back out" and leave Polly still in the matrimonial market.

Thanksgiving morning found Polly ready for her nuptials. The whole neighborhood was on the quiver. And why shouldn't it be? Polly Bascom and Eph Lawson. Did you ever?

"I say, Polly, what if Parson Trimble had asked you first?" queried Mrs. Thomson, as she looked at Polly in her wedding gown.

"But he didn't. He had more than one good chance. Sarah, and you know that I don't want to miss this one," and Polly laughed as she surveyed herself in the mirror.

The hour of seven came on apace and the little parlor in the Thomson home had been arrayed for the occasion. The few guests who had been invited had come, and Parson Trimble accompanied by an itinerant minister of his own persuasion, was likewise on hand. But the bridegroom was strangely absent.

"I knowed he'd back out. These old bachelors hain't got the spunk of an—"

"He'll come," said Polly. "Eph said he would and that settles it."

"I'll be a sorry Thanksgiving for you, Polly, if he doesn't."

The hour passed and no Ephram. The guests looked at one another and always ended by stealing a glance at Miss Bascom. She was "frazzled," as Mrs. Thomson said. If she let this opportunity slip she might never have another. Polly always said she would be married on Thanksgiving, when she did marry, and it would be a long year before another came round.

Seven—eight o'clock struck.

"Polly," said Mrs. Foster, "are you going to disappoint us? We've come to see you married and there's no Eph here. He couldn't screw his courage to the sticking point."

Polly blushed and looked across the room where the parson sat.

"I didn't think Eph would set that way," she said. "It's treatin' me rather shabby, but just wait. I'll show him a thing or two, for no man can trifle with the affections of Polly Bascom."

In another moment the bride-to-be had crossed the room and held out her hand to the parson.

"I want to say that I disown Eph Lawson—a man who hasn't the courage to lead a young lady to the altar," she said. "I don't like to disappoint my friends and tomorrow won't be Thanksgiving. So, Parson Trimble, if you can take me for better or worse—take me yourself, I mean!"

Polly blushed again. "I'll do the best I can, and Eph Lawson will learn to his sorrow that he can't trifle with my affections."

Parson Trimble coughed a little, he said it was rather sudden, that he hadn't thought of such a thing, though, all knew he had, that he didn't care to infringe on another's rights, but that he had always regarded Mrs. Bascom as an unexceptional woman, one who would make any man happy.

"Walk up to the fiddler, parson, the supper's gettin' cold," broke in Mrs. Thomson.

"And if Polly don't get a husband this year there's no tellin' when she will," said Sally Truax.

And when the party filed into the dining-room Parson Trimble led the way with his new wife, and Polly wondered what Eph Lawson would say when he heard that there was at least one woman in the "desert" who had a mind of her own, and would not let her affections be trifled with.

Disinterested Family Joy.
For this all are grateful, I venture to say—that gifts are not looked for on Thanksgiving day.

—Chicago Record.

A Thanksgiving Benefactor.
A burglar carried off one of our tunkers.

"You don't say so?"

"Yes; and he left a note saying that he left us the other so we would have something to be thankful for."—Detroit Free Press.

Thanksgiving Discrepancies.
Health waits on moderate poverty. Fate's wisdom oft we question. The man whose dinner's best is he Who has the worst digestion.

—Washington Star.

IT'S TOMATO CHOWDER NOW.

The Disappearance of a Good Old Dish in Which Clams Once Figured.

That good old American dish which used to deserve its name of clamchowder seems to have degenerated these days into a thick, sour-tasting tomato soup, says the New York Sun. There is scarcely a place in town where one can get clam chowder now as it was made when the dish earned the great measure of popularity upon which its disreputable successor is still trading.

Instead of clams tomatoes have become the chief ingredient, and the result is an indigestible mess that recalls only in name the savory chowder of better days, and nine times out of ten the deluded diner who partakes of it will be afflicted with heartburn for hours afterward.

At the seashore where clams are abundant one would naturally expect to get a chowder made after the old orthodox fashion, but in the neighborhood of New York at least there remains only disappointment for anyone who banks on this hope. Even there the enterprising and inexpensive tomato has won the fight, and it is that product and not the clam that dominates the chowder.

Another instance of the aggressiveness of the tomato is to be found in most restaurants that serve spaghetti. This, too, instead of being an appetizing mixture of macaroni and meat gravy, topped with Parmesan, has come to be nothing more than a sauce of tomato poured over the spaghetti. So that it is little wonder that these two dishes—clam chowder and spaghetti—which formerly were so highly esteemed by those who knew good eating, have fallen in favor here, and it seems probable that the time is at hand when they will be found on the lists of only the poorest grade of eating places.

SECURING A LOWER BERTH.

The Trick Sometimes Played by Travelers to Get the Coveted Sleeping Place.

Those who travel a good deal and are compelled to make use of night appreciate the value of a lower berth in a sleeper. All kinds of tricks are resorted to to secure one and the agent must keep his eyes wide open if he would escape several kinds of trouble. One of Chicago's veteran passenger men the other day told of a practice that was common before it was decided not to show the diagrams of the cars to passengers.

"A customer would come into the office," said he, "and ask to be shown the diagrams of the various sleepers. In looking them over he would notice that John Smith had a lower reserved until four o'clock in the afternoon, as he was not certain that he would be able to take the train that day. After getting the name well fixed in his mind the tricky customer would purchase a ticket and go back to his office. About two o'clock he would send a messenger boy to the agency with a notice that John Smith had decided to take the berth he had conditionally reserved, whereupon it would be turned over to the messenger. When John Smith called at four o'clock the diagram showed that his lower berth was gone. It would not be proper to quote all that John Smith would say at such times. To save ourselves from these embarrassments and to protect our customers, we recently decided to treat our diagrams as confidential."

PROVISIONS FOR AN ARMY.

Large Ocean Steamships Are Obligated to Have a Well-Stocked Larder.

People who cross the Atlantic in one of the great liners are in no danger of famishing. A gentleman with a penchant for statistics has given the public the average supply aboard the Deutschland at the beginning of every voyage between New York and Hamburg, and, of course, all the other big ships are provisioned in about the same way.

In the first place, there are 40 tons of ice to keep things eatable and drinkable, and these are the things that were on the ice on a recent trip across: Fourteen heaves, ten calves, 29 sheep, 26 lambs, 9 hogs, 1,500 chickens, geese and game birds, 1,700 pounds of fish, 400 pounds of tongues and sweetbreads, 1,700 dozens of eggs, 14 barrels of oysters and clams, 175 barrels of potatoes, 75 barrels of other vegetables, 20 crates of tomatoes and celery, 200 dozen heads of lettuce, 90 barrels of flour, 600 pounds of oatmeal and hominy, 1,300 pounds of butter, 2,200 quarts of milk, 300 quarts of cream, 1,000 big molds of ice cream, 4 tons of fruit, 12,000 quarts of wine and liquor, 15,000 quarts of beer and 400 tons of drinking water.

Of course all of this is not used on each trip, but enough is carried to provide a liberal margin.

The Level of Lake Erie.

Lake Erie is now three and one-half feet below the city base of level, the standard from which the city takes measurements of altitude. What is known to engineers as the "city datum" represents the high water mark of the lake in 1838. It cannot be said that the level of the lake is steadily lowering, as some believe, for the level has risen above and gone below the city datum several times since 1838. It is interesting to note that the greatest depth in Lake Erie directly north from Cleveland is 83 feet. The greatest depth in the lake is more than 200 feet, off Long Point.—Cleveland Leader.

OUR REVENUES.

Collections During Fiscal Year Exceeded the Estimates by the Sum of $11,555,561.

Washington, Nov. 20.—The annual report of the commissioner of internal revenue shows that the total receipts for the year ended June 30, 1901, were $306,871,069, or $11,555,561 in excess of the estimates, about the same amount in excess of the receipts for the year ended June 30, 1900, and $33,000,000 in excess of the receipts for 1899. The receipts from the several sources of revenue are given as follows:

Spirits, $116,027,599, increase, $5,159,122. Tobacco, $82,481,507, increase, $3,126,822. Fermented liquors, $75,629,907, increase, $2,119,133. Oleomargarine, $25,510,101, decrease, $2,623. Piled cheese, $14,299, decrease, $2,411. Mixed flour, $6,694, decrease, $33. Special taxes not elsewhere enumerated, $4,163,725; decrease, $349,955. Legacies, etc., $5,211,385; increase, $2,277,247. Documentary and proprietary stamps, $3,241,657; decrease, $1,222,288. Bonds and tickets, $1,518; increase, $467. Miscellaneous, $1,331,225; decrease, $55,277.

The receipts from all internal revenue sources for the first three months of the current fiscal year ended September 30, 1901, were $73,115,535, a decrease, as compared with the corresponding period last year of $5,355,356. Upon this basis the commissioner estimates the receipts for the current fiscal year will approximate $280,000,000. The percentage of cost of collection is 1.35 per cent. The expenses for the previous fiscal year were $4,633,687.74, or 1.53 per cent. of the collections for that year. The percentage of cost indicated above is the smallest in the history of the bureau. The estimated expenses for the next fiscal year are $4,939,460.

TRAINS COLLIDE.

Wreck on the Santa Fe Railroad Near Franconia, A. T., Causes the Loss of Seven Lives.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 21.—A fatal wreck occurred on the Santa Fe railroad one mile west of Franconia, A. T., a switch station 20 miles east of Needles, Cal., at 5:15 o'clock Wednesday morning. Seven trainmen were killed, three passengers and 14 trainmen injured. Limited trains, east and westbound, No. 4 and No. 3 respectively, crashed together while running at full speed.

In the wreck the entire mail carried by both trains was burned. At least 30,000 letters mailed in this city for the east were destroyed. No registered mail was lost, none being carried on the limited trains.

WILL BECOME A PARK.

United States Government Purchases the San Juan Battlefield Hill and Blockhouse.

Santiago de Cuba, Nov. 25.—During his recent visit here Gen. Wood bought for the government the principal portion of the San Juan battlefield, including San Juan Hill, the site of the blockhouse and Bloody Bend. The tract comprises 200 acres and cost $15,000. It will be considered a United States reservation, and the government intends to lay out a beautiful park on the old battlefield.

Desperado Captured.

Sioux City, Ia., Nov. 22.—Jack Sully, accused of seven murders in the last 20 years, a notorious South Dakota outlaw, leader of the Lyman county gang of robbers and horse rustlers, a cattle thief and squaw man, is under arrest here. He tried to kill Pete Waugh for recovering cattle, and Waugh, with Sheriff Taylor, ambushed him. His arrest, together with that of Black Bird, his lieutenant, will break up the gang.

Crozier Chief of Ordnance.

Washington, Nov. 23.—The president Friday appointed William Crozier chief of ordnance, with the rank of brigadier general. The appointment of Gen. Crozier was made largely upon the recommendation of Secretary Root. Gen. Crozier has demonstrated his ability in nearly every department of ordnance and has shown a wide knowledge of all affairs pertaining to his profession.

The Fall of Colon.

Colon, Colombia, Nov. 21 (via Galveston).—The city of Colon is in possession of the liberals, who made an unexpected attack on the town. The government was not prepared and there was little resistance. After some fighting the liberals gained possession of all the public offices and the town of Colon. Fourteen men were killed and about 30 were wounded.

Congressman Resigns.

New York, Nov. 22.—Representative Nicholas Muller, of the Seventh New York district, has tendered his resignation as member of congress. Mr. Muller, who is a democratic leader in Richmond borough, and who was defeated for the office of president of the borough of Richmond at the city election, says his resignation is the result of ill health.

Burned to Death.

Quincy, Ill., Nov. 22.—Mrs. Lafayette Boyer, of Payson, was burned to death Thursday. Her clothing caught fire from the stove and she was burned almost to a crisp before any help could be had. She was 70 years old.

Swept by a Gale.

New York, Nov. 25.—The Long Island and New Jersey shores have been visited by a severe gale which did thousands of dollars' damage to docks and shore property.

Van Sant Will Act.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 25.—Gov. Van Sant has decided to call an extra session of the legislature to take up the fight on the Great Northern railway alliance.

Find Hot Knives.

A peculiar phenomenon was noted during a severe thunderstorm by the attendants at a church picnic near Wausau. During the progress of the storm several persons pulled their knives from their pockets simultaneously and threw them upon the ground, asserting they were too hot to hold. It is supposed the knives became heated by the electrical disturbances in the atmosphere.

Gold Vein Discovered.

A valuable vein of gold has been discovered on the farm of J. V. Allen, a few miles from Avalanche, Vernon county, adjoining the copper mine located there, and from specimens of the ore which have been examined by experts the deposit is destined to be the richest ever located in Wisconsin. The ledge also shows rich outcroppings of copper.

Professional Loyalty.

"I hate to see a man wasting his money," remarked the gentleman with gold glasses and slightly gray hair.

"I don't see why you should take the matter to heart personally."

"I am so selfish, I can't help it. I think every man ought to save every cent he can, so as to make a will that will be worth while for the lawyers."

—Washington Star.

Too Effective.

"John," said Mrs. Billus, after the caller had gone away, "I wish you wouldn't bunch your blunders so."

"What do you mean, Maria?" asked Mr. Billus.

"I didn't mind your telling her that you were ten years older than I, but you followed it up a minute later by letting it slip out that you were 52."

—Chicago Tribune.

Death of News.

"Hain't seen you since Sunday. How's all?"

"Jest so-so."

"Craps good?"

"Jest middlin'."

"Feelin' well yourself?"

"Right peart."

"Any news stirrin'?"

"Nothin' but the measles, an' the whoopin' cough, an' the yaller janger, an' a sprinklin' or chills an' fever!"—Atlanta Constitution.

The Turkey Gobbler.

Though of his size he boasted, He's now no cause to whoop; If tender he is roasted, It t'ough he's in the soup.

—Judge.

Viewpoints.

Cora—The football players must be thankful that the games are over for the season.

Merritt—Yes, indeed. It must be a great relief for them to feel that at last they can get a hair-cut.—Judge.

At the Summer Hotel.

"She has a good voice, but she doesn't seem to be able to control it."

"No, she sings whenever anyone asks her."—Smart Set.

ARRANGEMENTS MADE.

A Deal Closed that will Benefit Everyone in this Town.

Hereafter We Will be Sole Representatives of Vinol.

Vinol is attracting attention in every large city in the country.

The best druggists in every place represent VINOL.

They do this because they have investigated and become convinced of its merits. It is this that has led us to get the agency for this town.

We are happy to announce that we have succeeded in our endeavors.

We were told that no proprietary medicine has ever been so popular as VINOL. We have learned that the reason for this is because VINOL is really an old remedy, produced in a new form, and is now altogether delicious and doubly potent.

Vinol is a scientific tonic and restorative comprised of the curative principles of cod liver oil and a little organic iron dissolved in a delicious table wine. That is all—no oil—no grease—no disagreeable features, but all the medicinal virtues of cod liver oil and more.

There is no one living who will dispute the merits of cod liver oil as a builder of the human system.

The trouble before has been that but few people could take cod liver oil on account of its obnoxious taste and tortable odor.

With Vinol, however, everything is changed. You will get every bit of the good that was ever found in cod liver oil and, best of all, you will get this good without a particle of grease to help retard its action.

The way VINOL accomplishes its mission is better than it was ever possible for cod liver oil to bring about the same results. This is because the elements needed are now in a more highly concentrated form.

We are sure that all our customers will like VINOL very much and we anticipate a large and permanent sale for it.

We want all who are sick to call and let us tell them about VINOL, we want to convince our patrons that we have been working in their behalf as well as in our own, and we hope that everyone of our fellow townspeople will appreciate our enterprise in procuring the agency for this popular medicine and of being the means of bringing VINOL here. We are glad we are going to represent VINOL; to do this has caused much rivalry in the large cities between the best druggists, for only to the best druggists in each place has this agency been awarded.

If anyone buying Vinol of us is not satisfied that it does all we claim, we will refund the money that they have paid us. VINOL is always sold under this guarantee.

An Eye-Opener.

"I wish a position," curly began the young man who imagined the world waited on a corner for him.

"What can you do?" queried the cement-headed commercial bondholder.

"Oh, everything," said the young man, diffidently.

"Indeed?" marveled the business man. "To give you that job I should have to discharge my 3,000 employees, and, to be frank, I doubt the propriety of such a step. Good day."—Ohio State Journal.

What It Was.

"I am not expecting any package," said the lady of the house.

"This is the number," persisted the driver of the delivery wagon, looking at his book again. "Name's Higgins, ain't it?"

"Yes."

"No. 74?"

"That's our number."

"Then it's for you."

"I think not. It must be a case of mistaken identity."

"No, mum. It's a case of beer."—Tit-Bits.

Accounting for It Chemically.

"It may be merely fancy," remarked Mrs. Selldon-Holme, "but since my husband began drinking the water from that iron spring he has seemed to be ten times as obstinate as he used to be."

"Perhaps," suggested Mrs. Nixdore, "the water is tainted with pig iron."—Chicago Tribune.

A Mystery Solved.

Bessie and her father were sitting out on the lawn looking at the stars.

"That very red one," said her father, "is Mars, named after the god of war."

"The god of war?" cried Bessie. "Oh, papa, I wonder if that isn't where the shooting stars come from?"—Detroit Free Press.

A Bar to Marriage.

Daughter (coaxing)—Papa, do have a little mercy, and let Charles and me be happy together.

Papa (mathematical professor)—What? You want to think of marriage when you don't even know where to find the hypothenuse of a right-angled triangle?—N. Y. Times.

Confessed Her Error.

"Oh, you're always right, of course," he exclaimed, sarcastically. "I suppose you never in your life said anything you regretted."

"Oh, yes, I have," she replied, sweetly. "On a certain momentous occasion I said 'Yes' to your proposal of marriage."—Chicago Post.

A Hopeless Reformer.

"It is sad to see this mercenary spirit so flagrantly manifested in politics," said the earnest citizen.

"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum. "I have fought against it all I could, but it's no use. I can't get people to vote my way without payin' 'em."—Washington Star.

When the Cars Are Crowded.

"Mr. Perkins, you look crushed and yet pleased."

"Yes, on the way out a stout lady sat on me and grumbled because I wouldn't give her more room: before I got off a stouter lady got in and sat on her."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Sometimes.

"I suppose you have said some things you were sorry for."

"Oh, yes," answered Senator Sorghum. "I have occasionally said 'ten dollars' when five would have brought results just as well."—Washington Star.

His Busy Day.

Quarryman—Biddy!

His Wife—Phwat do ye want now, sure?

Quarryman—Four some kerosene on th' fire an' make it hot so Oi can thawoutme dynamite.—N. Y. Weekly.

It Would Seem So.

Some men work all night long, And some from sun to sun, But the bill collector has a snap— His work is always done.

—Chicago Daily News.

COMPARISON.

"Miss May, I do not know any better way to describe my embarrassment in your presence than to say that I feel as if I were about to be examined at school."—Bombe.

The Cynic's Misfortune.

This world's a place, when all is done, By fond illusions ruled; That man cannot have any fun Who never can be fooled.

—Washington Star.

A Chance for Trouble.

"Throwing an old shoe after a bride and groom means that all ill-feeling is thus thrown away."

"Yes, but suppose the old shoe should happen to hit the bride?"—Detroit Free Press.

Twice Ever Thus.

"Oh, yes, he adores me. I've known him for a fortnight."

"Then what's bothering you?"

"What's bothering me? Why, I've got to wait for him to find it out!"—Brooklyn Life.

AFFAIRS OF THE INTERIOR.

Secretary Hitchcock Makes Some Interesting Statements in His Annual Report.

BRIEF SYNOPSIS OF THE DOCUMENT.

Several Recommendations with Reference to the Indian Tribes—Dangers to Our Forests Are Strongly Pointed Out—Arid Lands and Land-Grant Railroads.

Washington, Nov. 25.—The annual report of Secretary Hitchcock, of the interior department, has been made public. In endorsing the conclusions submitted by Commissioner of Indian Affairs Jones regarding the present Indian educational system, the secretary says: "The management of the Indian service in the field and in the schools, while satisfactory under existing conditions, is not deemed to be the best for the welfare of the Indians, and different methods will hereafter be adopted. This policy contemplates requiring the working by Indian allottees to do so of a fair portion of lands allotted them and the contributing by their industry to their own support of all not entirely disqualified by actual disability, physical or mental, from the discontinuance of the issue of rations to those able to support themselves, and the extension to the latter of every possible aid for their well-being and encouragement; the inauguration of industrial training in all schools where more than a small part of the allottees, those conditions to be clearly shown; all other allottees to be required to work at least 40 acres of their allotment.

Income Decreased.—The income of the various Indian tribes from all sources during the year averaged $3,338,850, a falling off of $260,852, mostly due to the expiration of treaty obligations.

In the future full leasing privileges will be confined to those whose disability or inability actually disqualifies them from working any part of their allotments and in a lesser degree to those whose disability prevents their working more than a small part of their allotments; those conditions to be clearly shown; all other allottees to be required to work at least 40 acres of their allotment.

Enrollment of Tribes.—The Dawes commission to the five civilized tribes in Indian Territory reports that the rolls of membership of only one nation, the Chickasaws, so far have been approved, and the lands have not yet been entirely allotted. The time cannot be fixed with certainty when the enrollment of the four remaining tribes will be finished. There is a vast amount of labor yet to be done by the commission in investigating the claims of applicants for enrollment and equalizing the value of the lands already classified, and Secretary Hitchcock recommends that the commission be increased by four members. He also favors a modification of the law requiring a valuation of lands on the basis of equalized valuation and that a definite period be fixed for the completion of all work pertaining to the allotment of lands among the Indians in the territory.

Danger to the Forests.—The report says that the act of June 3, 1887, known as the timber and stone act, if not repealed or radically amended will result ultimately in the complete destruction of the timber on the unappropriated and unreserved public lands. The time has arrived, according to the secretary, when reservoirs must be built and managed as a part of a national system of forest and water conservation. They cannot be successful if maintained, however, without a thorough system of forest protection. The introduction of practical forestry on the forest reserves has now begun. The general policy as announced in an outline memorandum to the commissioner of the land office is that additional forest reserves, with boundaries drawn to liberate the smallest amount of scrip, should be created during this winter, the good will of residents in or near the reserves should be gained, forest fires guarded against and the resources of the reserves should be made available for the conservative use of the people. Systematic investigation designed to make them accessible and use to be undertaken and each forest reserve and part thereof should be dealt with on its own merits.

The Arid Lands.—On the question of reclamation of the arid region the secretary says: "The investigations which have been carried on demonstrate that there is no one question now before the people of the United States of greater importance than the conservation of the water supply and the reclamation of the arid lands of the west and their settlement by men who will actually build homes and create communities." It is recommended that construction at once be begun at the San Carlos storage reservoir in Arizona, reclaiming 100,000 acres or more of public land, at an estimated cost of $1,040,000; reservoirs in the Sierra Nevada in California for reclaiming desert lands in Nevada; the diversion of the Mary river into the headwaters of Milk river in Montana. An appropriation of $500,000 is asked to carry on the hydrographic work of the geological survey.

Land Grant Railroads.—The secretary says the net earnings of the bond-aided and land-grant railroads amount to over $13,000,000 and the increase in gross earnings to $7,000,000. The increase in expenses for the year was over $2,000,000. The debt of the Central Pacific road to the United States now stands at $38,812,715.

Iglesias Released.—San Juan, P. R., Nov. 22.—Santiago Iglesias, the agent of the American Federation of Labor, who was arrested here about a fortnight ago on a charge of conspiracy, has been released in $500 bail. The bail was furnished by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor. Iglesias will be tried December 2.

Fatal Collision.—Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 22.—Four trainmen were killed and seven injured in a head-end collision at ten o'clock Thursday morning between two Louisville & Nashville freight trains at Hughes Siding, seven miles from this city.

Navigation Closed.—La Crosse, Wis., Nov. 25.—Navigation on the Mississippi river is now officially closed, and the government is no longer responsible for accidents growing out of the fact that the lights along the river are not burning.

Report Is Untrue.—Vienna, Nov. 22.—An official Serbian statement declares that there is absolutely no foundation in the reports that Queen Draga has been shot at, or that she has committed suicide.

MAY BE RECALLED.

State Department Annoyed by Consul General Dickinson's Description of His Post at Sofia.

Washington, Nov. 25.—Abandonment by Consul General Dickinson of his post at Sofia, Bulgaria, may cause the state department to dispatch another official to that city to negotiate the terms for the liberation of Miss Stone. Mr. Dickinson will be required to make a full explanation of the reasons which induced him to leave Sofia for Constantinople.

Constantinople, Nov. 25.—Mr. Dickinson, the special diplomatic agent of the United States, who has been conducting the negotiations for the release of Miss Ellen M. Stone, arrived here Sunday from Sofia.

London, Nov. 25.—"Mr. Dickinson has received no reply from the brigands to his ultimatum," says a dispatch from Sofia to the Daily Telegraph. "The brigands threaten to kill Miss Stone unless the full ransom is paid by January 1."

MANY LIVES LOST.

Deadly Gas and Smoke Cause Disaster in a Colorado Mine—Twenty-Two Known to Have Perished.

Telluride, Col., Nov. 21.—What is likely to prove the most disastrous accident that has ever occurred in a metallic mine in Colorado resulted Wednesday from a fire which burned the buildings at the mouth of the Bullock tunnel, through which the Smuggler-Union mine is worked, and which filled the mine with deadly gas and smoke. It is impossible to give even an approximate estimate of the loss of life, but it is believed that it will reach nearly, if not quite, 100. Twenty-two are known to have perished.

Telluride, Col., Nov. 22.—The number of victims of the terrible disaster in the Smuggler-Union mine Wednesday is now known to be at least 29, with a considerable portion of the mine unexplored.

FIND THE BODIES.

Rescuers Discover the Remains of the Officials Who Were Lost in West Virginia Mine.

Bluefield, W. Va., Nov. 25.—The dead bodies of the lost party of eight well-known mining men who entered West mine of the Pocahontas Collieries company on Friday morning have been found by rescuers. The names of the victims are: A. S. Hurst, chief inspector; Bob Odham, sub-inspector; Frazier G. Bell, mining engineer; Superintendent of Mines Walter O'Malley; Joseph Cardwell, superintendent of the Shamokin Coal and Coke company; R. E. St. Clair, second assistant inspector; State Mine Inspector Price and Maurice St. Clair, sub-inspector.

Visits His Brother's Tomb.

Canton, O., Nov. 22.—Abner McKinley, brother of the late president, was here Thursday. During the day he accompanied Mrs. McKinley on a short drive, which included a visit to the cemetery. Acting on the advice of her physicians, Mrs. McKinley has ceased to enter the vault, but Mr. McKinley went inside Thursday. The casket is almost entirely concealed by flowers, which are received from time to time.

Rathbun Indicted.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Nov. 23.—The special grand jury selected to investigate the Rathbun insurance conspiracy and murder case Friday afternoon returned an indictment against Newell C. Rathbun, charging him with murder in the first degree. The body of Rathbun's alleged victim, supposed to be that of Charles Goodman, arrived from Little Rock Friday afternoon and was taken in charge by Coroner Coats.

Family Murdered.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 20.—The dead bodies of A. F. Wilcox, wife and two-year-old son were found in their home at Downey, 12 miles from this city. All the bodies were horribly mutilated, and the condition of the premises indicated that the murderer or murderers had met with a fierce resistance. Wilcox and his family had been shot and then cut to pieces with a knife.

Swooned in Court.

New York, Nov. 22.—Mrs. Elizabeth Dale, of Chicago, who is accused of poisoning her five-year-old daughter in Hoboken, N. J., swooned in court. She has pleaded with her husband to come to her assistance. Elbert Waller, the woman's companion, has been sent to prison.

Want Tax Reduced.

Washington, Nov. 22.—Whisky distillers will urge congress to reduce the tax from $1.10 to 70 cents a gallon, thus representing to them a saving of $60,000,000. Brewers and stock brokers will also ask liberal reductions from war taxes.

Very Prosperous.

Washington, Nov. 22.—Gov. Hunt, of Porto Rico, who is in this country on a vacation, says that the people are enjoying great prosperity and are not only acquiescing in American rule, but are becoming enthusiastically American.

Indian Affairs.

Washington, Nov. 23.—Commissioner of Indian Affairs Jones, in his annual report, suggests the discontinuance of rations and money to the red men, giving them instead education and throwing them upon their own resources.

Three Skaters Drowned.

Duluth, Minn., Nov. 20.—Miss Belle Woods, aged 25; Charles P. Vallency, aged 26, and Stanley McLeod, aged 24, skated into an ice hole in the St. Louis bay about ten o'clock Tuesday night, and were drowned.

NO ROOM FOR ANARCHY.

President Roosevelt in His Message to Congress Will Urge That It Be Stamped Out.

THE DOCUMENT READ TO THE CABINET.

Conservative in Tone and Carefully Avoids Telling the Lawmakers What They Should Do—The Paper Contains No New Departures Likely to Arouse Apprehensions.

Washington, Nov. 20.—One of the most earnest paragraphs in President Roosevelt's first message to congress will be that in which he urges the national legislature to take vigorous steps for the suppression of anarchy. The president has nearly completed his message, and read it Tuesday to the members of his cabinet. They were much pleased with it. Without exception they say it is terse and forceful. On account of the large number of topics touched upon, it is longer than the president had meant it to be, but it will not contain long routine recapitulations of department reports.

Contains No Surprises.—The message is conservative. It contains no surprises. There are no new departures likely to arouse apprehension. The president has felt the need of giving the country reassurance as to his caution and conservatism in his first state paper. Probably that feature of it which is likely to attract most attention abroad is found in what he has to say of the Monroe doctrine. Even there he is not aggressive, and follows pretty closely the traditional lines, with the exception that European observers will read between the lines a veto of foreign coaling stations on this hemisphere, a phase of the doctrine with which they are sure to find a good deal of fault.

Congress Left to Act.—The president in treating of controverted questions carefully avoids any effort to tell congress exactly what it should do. He contents himself with recommending action, or with pointing out certain principles which should be observed, leaving to the national legislature its proper duty of finding the means and arranging the details.

Reciprocity.—This is true of reciprocity, which the president recommends in general principles, but without entering into specifications. A graceful feature of the president's discussion of this topic is the references which he makes to the last great utterances of his predecessor in the presidential office. Relief for Cuba, which needs freer entrance to the American market, is urged.

The War Taxes.—There is a recommendation that the war taxes be reduced, but no suggestion of the precise method which should be adopted.

Legislation designed to build up the merchant marine is strongly recommended, but the subsidy and anti-subsidy controversy is carefully avoided.

In his recommendations for the navy and army and for the extension of the civil service system, not only in our domestic government but in the administration of our dependencies or colonies, he is more specific.

Repression of Anarchy.

Having been summoned to the presidency by the hand of an anarchistic assassin, President Roosevelt eagerly seizes the first opportunity to urge congress to take steps for a repression of this crime, or disease. In the message as now written there is no definite recommendation as to method. But later on the president may have something to offer in the way of a practical plan. He has taken keen interest in this subject, and has consulted freely with Attorney General Knox, Senator Spooner and other eminent lawyers concerning it.

Outlines Work of Congress.

Washington, Nov. 23.—Senator Allison, in outlining the work of the coming congress, declared tariff revision unlikely, believed a department of commerce and a Nicaraguan canal bill assured, expects reciprocity with Cuba will be arranged, repeal of war taxes likely, and a heavy river and harbor bill certain.

Found Dead in His Cell.

Junction City, Kan., Nov. 22.—W. D. Buchanan, of troop D, Fourteenth cavalry, located at Fort Riley, near here, who killed Policemen White and Cooper on Tuesday night, was found dead in his cell Thursday morning. Buchanan had committed suicide by hanging, having made a rope of a towel.

Enormous Expenditures.

Philadelphia, Nov. 23.—The expenditures to be made by the Pennsylvania Railroad company in 1902 for rolling stock will aggregate $25,000,000, a sum unprecedented in railroad history. Of this amount about $19,000,000 will be expended for cars and the other $6,000,000 for locomotives.

Takes Effect Thanksgiving Day.

Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 22.—Gov. Jelks has issued a proclamation announcing the ratification of the new constitution by 26,879 votes, and declaring that the new instrument shall become effective Thanksgiving day, November 28.

Broke Up the Camp.

Madisonville, Ky., Nov. 25.—Two companies of state troops captured a camp of striking miners at Nortonville, Ky., and arrested 23 men.

WISCONSIN STATE NEWS.

Beloit College.

President Northrop, of the University of Minnesota, in an address at the recent Yale bicentennial, said: "Beloit college was founded in southern Wisconsin in 1825. Half of its first faculty of two was Yale men. Its first president was Rev. Dr. Aaron L. Chapin, Yale, 1827, who held the office for 36 years, till 1863. To-day, as ever, Yale is represented in the faculty of Beloit. The ideas of the founders of Beloit were the same old conservative Yale ideas which have so generally characterized Yale educators, whether at home or abroad. To-day Beloit and Yale are alike presided over by their own brilliant graduates; what Arthur T. Hadley is to Yale, Edward D. Eaton is to Beloit; and if I were seeking in the whole west for a young Yale I would at once go to Beloit; and I have no hesitation in saying that there is no denominational or independent nonsectarian college in the west that is better than Beloit. President Eaton is a graduate of one of the departments of Yale."

Marries at Age of Seventy.

Richard H. Garland, aged 70, father of Hamlin Garland, and one of the pioneers of La Crosse county, and Mrs. Mary F. Bolles, widow of the late West Salem merchant, aged 62, were married at the home of the bride in La Crosse. Rev. Mr. Brown, of the Congregational church, performed the ceremony. The wedding was private, only witnesses being invited. A wedding supper was served at the home of the groom. The aged couple will reside upon the old Garland homestead at West Salem.

Not Guilty.

Patrick Kane, charged with the murder of his wife on September 23, was found not guilty in the circuit court at Prairie du Chien. Judge Clementsen took the case out of the hands of the jury and decided that the prisoner was not guilty. The judge held that there was no evidence to show that the shooting had not been accidental and nothing to support the murder charge.

Many Hunters.

Since the opening of the hunting season the state fish and game warden has had 23 persons from other states arrested for hunting in Wisconsin without a license. All of these persons have been convicted and fined from $50 to $100. Reports received by the warden indicate that the number of hunters this season will exceed 70,000, over twice as many as a year ago.

Rural Delivery.

Rural free delivery will be established at Fountain City, Buffalo county, on January 1. The service will embrace an area of 55 square miles, with a population of 1,000. Alexander Kachler and Edward Coley have been appointed carriers. The post offices at Behn and Kinley will be discontinued and mail will be sent to Fountain City.

Saves Its Last Log.

The Menominee River Lumber company, of which Jesse Spalding, of Chicago, is president and chief stockholder, saved its last log in Marinette. There was flying of flags and the boom of dynamite to mark the close of the lumber operations of a concern that has saved logs for nearly 50 years on the Menominee.

The News Condensed.

The county board has voted $6,000 to build a jail and sheriff's residence in Grantsburg.

Frank R. Mead, son of the late Joel Mead, one of the pioneer lumbermen of Oshkosh, has been judged insane and committed to the Northern hospital. He is a man of wealth. Mayor James Gorman sent an order to the Kenosha police department authorizing the officers to shoot at sight anyone found climbing a porch or prowling about the residences of the city.

The farmhouse of John Sewitzke at Lagladow was destroyed by fire and three children perished in the flames.

Safe blowers looted the First national bank at Mondovi of $6,800 in money.

Mrs. C. K. Adams has presented the Madison Art association with her jewels, valued at $10,000.—They will be sold and the proceeds applied to furthering the objects of the society.

The east tramway of the Keystone Lumber company caught fire in Ashland and 4,000,000 feet of lumber was burned. Loss, $75,000.

Dr. Dwight W. Day, of Eau Claire, ex-mayor and a veteran of the civil war, dropped dead while reading a paper before the Intercounty Medical society. Apoplexy was the cause.

William Jordan, father of Elizabeth Jordan, editor of a New York magazine, died at his home in Milwaukee of liver trouble, aged 60 years.

Charles D. Howard, general agent for the Canada Atlantic Transit company, died at Milwaukee. He was for years in the lake transportation business.

A freight crew discovered the body of Edward Hedges lying on the Northwestern track at Eagle River. It is supposed he had been shot and left there.

Claire Walker, aged 15, living near Aurora, was accidentally shot and instantly killed while playing on an organ in the parlor of his father's house.

The Osceola county commissioners have decided to place the sheriff's office on a salary instead of a fee basis after next year.

William Kampf mistook William Shaffer for a deer near Boyd and shot him dead.

A state conference of high school teachers was held in La Crosse under the auspices of L. D. Harrey, state superintendent of schools.

FILIPINO REBELS ROUTED.

Americans Capture a Stronghold in Samar and Kill Twenty of Their Enemies.

CLIMB CLIFF TWO HUNDRED FEET HIGH.

The Trails Leading to the Camp Were Lined with Poisoned Spears and Filled with Hidden Pitfalls—Aguañaldo Would Talk to Congress—Proclamation from Malvar.

Manila, Nov. 21.—Maj. L. W. T. Waller, of the marine corps, has cabled Rear Admiral Rodgers, at Manila, a full and detailed account of the attack, November 7, by the men of his command upon the rebel stronghold at Sojoton, near Basey, island of Samar. Three insurgent camps were destroyed, 40 bamboo cannon were captured, and much rice and other stores were destroyed. The rebel stronghold was almost impregnable. The trails leading to it were lined with poisoned spears sticking from the ground and were filled with hidden pitfalls. Maj. Waller's command attacked the enemy unexpectedly. To do this they had to scale a cliff 200 feet high; they climbed barefooted over bamboo ladders.

Would Talk to Congress.

Manila, Nov. 22.—Aguinaldo has written to Gen. Chaffee, the military governor of the Philippines, asking the latter's permission to go before congress and express the desires of the Filipino people. Aguinaldo further requests to be accompanied by eight friends, four of whom are prisoners at Guam, while the others are prominent in Manila.

Malvar Proclaims.

Manila, Nov. 22.—The rebel Gen. Malvar has issued a proclamation commending the insurgents for their recent successes and urging them to keep up a most active guerrilla warfare against the Americans and to take advantage of the opportunities offered by the changes in American forces owing to the return to the United States of many enlisted men whose time has expired.

Negroes Aid Filipinos.

Manila, Nov. 23.—It has been officially reported to Gen. Chaffee that the insurgent leader Caballos has 500 fully armed men, including a number of American negroes, under his command in Laguna province, Luzon. An insurgent officer has just been captured carrying papers dated Mauban, Laguna province, November 18, and signed by Caballos. The prisoner says that Caballos has 1,000 men with him and contemplated attacking Mauban.

Climb a Precipice.

Manila, Nov. 25.—Capt. Edward P. Lawton's company of the Nineteenth infantry has attacked and captured an insurgent fort on Bohol island, south of Cebu, in the Vizayan group. This fort was surrounded on all sides by a precipice, and the only entrance to the higher ground was guarded by a stockade with a line of intrenchments behind it. Capt. Lawton sent Sergt. McMahon and 20 men to climb the precipice and attack the fort in the rear. Sergt. McMahon's party accomplished their task after three hours' climbing through the thick undergrowth of brush and vines that covered the almost perpendicular cliff. They took the enemy by surprise and drove them from the fort. As the insurgents escaped they had to pass the remainder of Capt. Lawton's company at a distance of 150 yards. Here the enemy suffered terrible losses. The insurgents defended themselves with both cannon and rifles. The cannon were captured. The smaller ones were removed, while the larger ones were buried. Capt. Lawton in his report makes special mention for bravery of Sergts. List and McMahon.

Killed by the Trolley.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 23.—Capt. Antoine Neustadt, of Collinsville, aged 78, one of the oldest attorneys in southern Illinois and for years a law partner of former Congressman F. W. L. Hadley, of Collinsville, was run down and almost instantly killed by an electric car of the Collinsville, Caseyville & St. Louis electric railroad at Edgmont Friday afternoon.

Murder in Joplin.

Joplin, Mo., Nov. 22.—J. E. Grayston, a prominent attorney, was shot and instantly killed Thursday afternoon by George E. Bayne, superintendent of the waterworks. Grayston and wife had been separated a year or more, and Grayston, it is said, believed Bayne, who is a widower, was intending to marry Mrs. Grayston as soon as she was divorced.

Given a Life Term.

South McAlester, I. T., Nov. 21.—W. D. Stearnes, leader of the Caney (I. T.) train robbers, pleaded guilty at Antlers, and was sentenced to life imprisonment in the penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

In Given Warning.

London, Nov. 25.—Col. Arthur Lynch, the newly elected member of parliament for Galway, has been informed that if he comes to England he will be tried forthwith for treason.

Asks for Aid.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 22.—Gov. Van Sant has written to the governors of other northwestern states, asking their assistance in his fight against the Hill railway combination.

Robbed of Enormous Sum.

Liverpool, Nov. 23.—The Bank of Liverpool has been robbed of £170,000 by a trusted bookkeeper, who is said to be on his way to America.

WHISKY-LOVING FEET.

Strange Case of a Brooklyn Man Who Is a Drunkard from His Ankles Down.

There is a man over in Brooklyn who is a drunkard only from his ankles down, says the New York Times. That is to say, while he never puts a drop of intoxicating liquor into his stomach, his feet are confirmed toppers. They must have their whisky at regular intervals each day or their owner suffers.

The man who possesses these whisky-loving feet is employed in one of the city departments in the municipal building, in Borough Hall square. At least half a dozen times each day he appears in a popular cafe on Fulton street, near Red Hook lane, and orders whisky. He fills a glass almost to the brim with the liquor, but has never been seen to drink any of it. Instead, he stoops down, unlaces one of his shoes, and pours half of the whisky into it. Then he pours the other half of the liquor into the second shoe.

This strange performance long puzzled the bartenders in the place until one day one of them made bold to ask the man why he disposed of the whisky in so queer a way. The man explained that for years he had had a peculiar trouble with his feet. One day he accidentally found that whisky, when applied to the aching feet, drove away the pain. When at home it was an easy matter for him to remove his shoes and bathe the feet in the liquor, but when about in the city this could not be done conveniently. He finally hit upon the expedient of pouring whisky into his shoes, thus soaking the feet and relieving the pain. These whisky baths for his feet formed quite an item of expense each day, but the relief obtained was well worth it.

THE DEUTSCHLAND'S LARDER.

An Average List of the Provision Carried for a Regular Trip Across the Ocean.

For the lover of statistics for their own sake, and incidentally for the man who likes to eat well, the list of the contents of an ocean liner's larder is attractive reading, says the New York Sun. Here, for instance, is about an average supply aboard the Deutschland at the beginning of every voyage between this port and Hamburg, and, of course, all the other ships are provisioned in about the same way.

In the first place there is 40 tons of ice to keep things eatable and drinkable, and these are the things that were on the ice on a recent trip across: Fourteen barrels, 10 calves, 29 sheep, 26 lambs, 9 hogs, 1,500 chickens, geese and game birds, 1,700 pounds of fish, 400 pounds of tongues and sweetbreads, 1,700 dozens of eggs, 14 barrels of oysters and clams, 175 barrels of potatoes, 75 barrels of other vegetables, 20 crates of tomatoes, and celery, 200 dozen heads of lettuce, 90 barrels of flour, 600 pounds of oatmeal and hominy, 1,300 pounds of butter, 2,200 quarts of milk, 300 quarts of cream, 1,000 big moulds of ice cream, four tons of fruit, 12,000 quarts of wine and liquor, 15,000 quarts of beer and 400 tons of drinking water.

Of course all this is not used on each trip but enough is carried to provide a liberal margin.

ORIENTAL GEOGRAPHY.

Sultan of Morocco Wanted a Map Showing His Dominion as Filling a Hemisphere.

Talking one day with a Frenchman who dwelt on the frontier between Morocco and Algeria, the sultan of Morocco wished to be exactly informed as to the position of the frontier line, says Golden Days.

To explain it the Frenchman laid before him a map, with the names of the places and water-courses marked in Arabic.

The sultan was amazed at the size of this map, such as he had never seen before. However, not wishing to seem humiliated, he said to the Frenchman:

"Oh, I have a map, too! I believe it is better than yours, for that matter."

And he signed to his chamberlain, who left the room, and returned with a long, narrow box. Out of this he took a stick covered with linen, stretched over ribs, which, when opened out, formed a terrestrial globe, the stick being the axis. On this globe Morocco was about as large as his little finger-nail.

"I was obliged to make the best of it," said the sultan, pointing sadly to the tiny space his dominions occupied on the face of the earth. "I asked a learned man to make me a globe like this with one side of it filled by Morocco and the rest of the world on the other. But he could not do it."

Doesn't Like the Auto.

A newspaper published in Nice, France, loudly declares against the arrogant and ill-smelling automobile. It says: "These vehicles are bringing about the complete ruin of the coast as well as of all the watering places, by taking possession of the principal roads and driveways and speeding over them. Persons who walk on the roads or who ride in other carriages are virtually taking their lives in their hands. The so-called automobile week which we have just had at Nice has been a veritable scandal. During whole days the public was debarraded from the Promenade des Anglais. More than 100,000 persons were affronted in order that a few millionaires might be satisfied."

Grand Rapids Tribune

BY DRUMB & SUTOR.

Entered at the Post Office at Grand Rapids, Wis., as second-class mail matter.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

One Year.....$1.50
Six Months.....75

Grand Rapids, Wis., Nov. 30, 1901.

GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER.

Two Men convicted at Stevens Point for Killing of Thos. Davis.

The jury in the case of the State of Wisconsin vs. Pat Haley and Sam Mills, which was being tried before Judge Webb at Stevens Point, brought in a verdict on Tuesday of manslaughter in the third degree. The penalty for the crime is imprisonment in the state prison for not more than four nor less than two years.

Thos. Davis, the murdered man was an old soldier, and while in the city of Stevens Point on the night of July 13 he was handled so roughly by a number of young toughs that he subsequently died. Davis was partially intoxicated at the time and unable to do anything to help himself and the toughs did everything they could think of to torture the poor old man. The affair stirred up great indignation among the better element and as a result the license of the man who run the saloon was revoked.

The attorneys for the two men immediately made a motion for a new trial.

Jumped on a Ten Penny Nail.

The little daughter of Mr. J. N. Powell jumped on an inverted rack made of ten penny nails and thrust one nail entirely through her foot and a second one half way through. Chamberlain's pain balm was promptly applied and five minutes later the pain had disappeared and no more suffering was experienced. In three days the child was wearing her shoes as usual and with absolutely no discomfort. Mr. Powell is a well known merchant of Forkland, Va. Pain Balm is an antiseptic and heals such injuries without maturation and in one-third the time required by the usual treatment. For sale by Johnson & Hill Co.

Society and Club Notices.

The Travel class will meet on Tuesday at 2:45 p. m. with Mrs. I. P. Witter.

The Ladies' Aid society of the M. E. church of east side will meet next Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Kellogg.

The Woman's Club will meet next Monday evening with Mrs. E. T. Harmon.

The Ladies' Aid society of the First Congregational church, west side, will meet next Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. W. H. Getts.

The Ladies' Aid society of the First Congregational church of the east side will meet next Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. F. J. Wood.

The Ladies' Foreign Missionary society of the Congregational church will meet on Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. E. A. Tennant.

Foreign Missionary society M. E. church meets at church parlors Friday afternoon, Dec. 6th.

Women and Jewels.

Jewels, candy, flowers, man—that is the order of a woman's preferences. Jewels form a magnet of mighty power to the average woman. Even that greatest of all jewels, health, is often ruined in the strenuous efforts to make or save the money to purchase them. If a woman will risk her health to get a coveted gem, then let her fortify herself against the insidious consequences of coughs, colds and bronchial affections by the regular use of Dr. Boesche's German Syrup. It will promptly arrest consumption in its early stages and heal the affected lungs and bronchial tubes and drive the dread disease from the system. It is not a cure-all, but it is a certain cure for coughs, colds, and all bronchial troubles. You can get Dr. G. G. Green's reliable remedies at Johnson & Hill Co.'s Drug Department. Get Green's Special Almazac.

Low Rates.

From Dec. 15th to Dec. 21st the Wisconsin Central will sell to teachers and students wishing to return home tickets at one and one-third for round trip. Good returning Jan. 9th provided they have a certificate signed by the principal or president of the school or college.

Dec. 2nd to 5th the Wisconsin Central will sell tickets to Saratoga, Pa., account American Federation of Labor convention at one and one-third fare for the round trip. Good to return Dec. 18th.

Dec. 6th to 10th the Wisconsin Central will sell tickets to Cincinnati, O., account American Federation of Catholic societies at one and one-third fare for the round trip. Good to return Dec. 18th.

Dec. 3rd and 17th the Wisconsin Central will sell Homeseekers excursion tickets to points in Iowa, Minnesota, Dakota, Montana, Nebraska, and Wyoming at one fare plus $2 for the round trip. For further particulars apply at ticket office.

C. W. Hodson, Agent.

—When you feel that life is hardly worth the candle take a dose of Chamberlain's stomach and liver tablets. They will cleanse your stomach, tone up your liver and regulate your bowels making you feel like a new man. For sale by Johnson & Hill Co.

Education that Pays.

Four years ago Toland's business university at Wausau was founded. Since that time every student of that institution who has excelled has been sent to a desirable position. No other business college has ever made such a record. The winter term begins Monday Dec. 2d and for the first time in the history of the school, reduced rates will be allowed all students entering on or before that date. For information concerning this special offer address F. J. Toland, La Crosse, Wis.

COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS.

(GRAND RAPIDS, WIS., Nov. 12, 1901.)

Court House, 2 o'clock p. m.
The Board of Supervisors of Wood County, Wisconsin, met in annual session and was called to order by Chairman John Juno.

Roll was called and the following members answered to their names:
J. W. Arpin.....Arpin town
N. M. Berg.....Auburndale village
Wm. News.....Auburndale town
John Ommott.....Cary town
James K. P. Hiles.....Dexter town
E. P. Arpin.....Grand Rapids 1st ward
Wm. Scott.....Grand Rapids 3rd ward
Geo. T. Rowland.....Grand Rapids 4th ward
Ira Bassett.....Grand Rapids 5th ward
J. W. Cochran.....Grand Rapids 6th ward
John Bell.....Grand Rapids 7th ward
Nels Johnson.....Grand Rapids 8th ward
J. D. Voigt.....Grand Rapids town
P. E. Bean.....Hansen town
P. N. Christensen.....Lincoln town
James Tallant.....Marshfield 1st ward
E. P. Meckler.....Marshfield 2nd ward
Chas. Hahn.....Marshfield 3rd ward
John Rausch.....Marshfield 4th ward
W. D. Connor.....Marshfield 5th ward
John Juno.....Marshfield 6th ward
Henry Fehhelm.....Marshfield town
Michael Krings.....Milladore town
Wm. Hooper.....Nekoosa village
E. Eichsteadt.....Port Edwards town
J. D. Potter.....Pittsville 1st ward
L. W. Pitts.....Pittsville 2nd ward
W. E. Nolter.....Remington town
J. C. Davis.....Richfield town
Ed. Provost.....Rock town
John McTavish.....Rock town
Harry Thomas.....Sherry town
Chas. Johnson.....Sigel town
Peter Mullen.....Saratoga town
Marlin Jackson.....Seneca town
E. D. Ayers.....Wood town

Absent—
Theo. Brazeau.....Grand Rapids 2nd ward
A. B. Corey.....Pittsville 3rd ward

On motion the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting was dispensed with.

Credentials of the appointment of Nels Johnson in place of W. J. Conway, supervisor of the 8th ward, John Juno was sworn in as a member.

A communication of the Wisconsin State Tax Commission was read and ordered placed on file. Also letter from State public school at Sparta was read and ordered placed on file.

J. W. Cochran, chairman of the judiciary committee, read the following report:

To the County Board of Supervisors.
GENTLEMEN:—Your committee on Judiciary to whom has been referred the annexed certified statements made by the State Board of Control as to expenses properly chargeable to Wood county for care of the chronic insane in the state hospitals, and in the several county asylums hereinafter named, and also for care of persons, residents of Wood county committed to the industrial school for boys and to the home for the feeble minded, would respectfully report that we have carefully examined each of the several certificates and find the same correct. And we recommend that said several certificates be placed on file and the material portions of each thereof be spread at length upon the records of the proceedings of this board and published in the manner and form heretofore practiced in such cases.

November 11, 1901.

J. W. COCHRAN,
Chairman.

Wisconsin State Hospital for the Insane: $ 44.88

Northern Hospital for the Insane: 96.05

Josephine Landwehr: 110.84

Chas. Johnson: 115.10

Durward Wakely: 87.70

Johanna Becker: 109.11

Jimmie Godavitz: 50.21

John Fischer: 80.28

Wilhelmine Panzer: 41.00

Arthur Cummings: 41.84

John H. Spuler: 75.71

Kate Wirth: 39.58

Chas. F. Zeaman: 1.71

Stephen Kingston: 49.47

Vinnie Lyons: 46.59

Louise Leimer: 26.36

Henriette Forester: 25.29

Therrie Adler: 2.26

Katie Weinst: 2.26

Winnebago county asylum for the county insane: $110.93

Peter Jensen: 108.41

Susan Bieler: 109.56

George C. Landwehr: 20.52

Washington county asylum for the chronic insane: 165.26

Anna Krites: 164.81

Gertrude Thompson: 41.84

Expenses for transferring, etc.: 87.70

Trempealeau asylum for the chronic insane: $ 49.97

Susan Bieler: 53.72

Arthur Cummings: 50.97

Peter Jensen: 50.28

Anna Krites: 50.28

Gertrude Thompson: 50.28

Richard county asylum for the chronic insane: 174.87

Adolph Chisum: 95.65

Stana Armstrong: 114.79

Edw. du Lac county asylum for the chronic insane: 108.83

Theresa Stangl: 108.83

Expense transferring the above patient to the Trempealeau county asylum: 9.79

Josephine Landwehr: 108.21

Manie Gerard: 108.21

Mathias Kontor: 108.21

Michael P. McCarthy: 108.21

George Curry: 108.21

Leonard J. White: 108.21

Dennis Connelly: 108.21

Sarah Anielstad: 108.21

Catherine E. Cochran: 45.29

Marathon county asylum for the chronic insane: 175.43

Herman Bruhn: 169.68

Gustave Dahlke: 169.68

John Henick: 164.90

Wm. Frederick Kiewin: 164.90

Joseph LaVigne: 168.68

Adelphia Helen Rapp: 171.25

Francis P. Mason: 169.18

Chas. Paulson: 169.18

John Reiter: 167.15

Magdalena Chichy: 167.15

Lillie Nauve: 167.15

Nary Olson: 166.10

Adelphia Helen Rapp: 166.10

Lena Rose: 158.50

Outagamie county asylum for the chronic insane: 165.78

Polly Larson: 165.78

Wisconsin Industrial school for boys: 52.00

Anon Habel: 39.42

John Habel: 39.42

Eugene Huey: 42.71

Paul Godschalk: 42.71

John Habel: 42.71

Fred Huey: 42.71

Edmund Parison: 42.71

Adolph Fitz: 21.71

Hattie Young: 14.57

RECAPITULATION.

Wisconsin State Hospital for the Insane: $ 44.88

Northern Hospital for the Insane: 96.05

Winnebago county asylum: 849.44

Washington: 276.88

Trempealeau: 412.72

Richard: 174.87

Fond du Lac: 124.58

Marathon County (Chippewa Falls): 852.50

Marathon County asylum: 163.77

Outagamie County asylum: 165.78

Wisconsin Industrial school for boys: 52.00

Total: $6,293.26

Moved and carried that the report and recommendation be adopted and placed on file. Motion carried.

Supervisor J. W. Cochran, chairman of the committee on Judiciary, read the following report:

To the Board of Supervisors of Wood County, Wisconsin.
GENTLEMEN:—Your committee on Judiciary to whom was referred the following claims would respectfully report that after a careful examination of all items contained therein we recommend that the several amounts as set forth in this report be allowed, respectively to-wit:
Moved and seconded that report and recommendation of Judiciary committee be adopted unless objected to.
Motion carried.

R. E. Andrews, Municipal Judge

Inquests and post mortem exam. $ 75.00

Inquest—Anton Springer: 1.00

John Schuster: 1.00

Dr. A. M. Corbett, post mortem exam.: 5.00

John White, juror fees: 1.20

John Schuster: 1.20

Wm. L. Hildner: 1.20

John Harkis: 1.20

John Theroff: 1.20

Anton Thoen: 1.20

August Leskin, care of body, coffin, burial, etc.: 32.50

Frank Vaughn, stenographer fees: 2.00

August Grifflin, officers fees: 5.27

Inquest over the body of Rosie Adler: 5.00

Dr. Hayward, one examination: 1.16

John Adler, witness fees: 1.16

Frank Vaughn, stenographer fees (order of court): 2.00

Dr. L. Reese, juror fees: 2.40

J. D. Giles: 2.40

IP Tiffault: 2.40

Ernest Segner: 2.40

James Kelly: 2.40

John A. Vogel: 5.90

A. F. Gerwing, order of the body of Truman Childs: 1.80

Albert Greenwood, witness fees: 1.80

Fred Duval: 1.80

G. C. Chiford: 1.80

Dr. K. W. Doege, examination and testimony: 5.00

Frank Vaughn, stenographer fees (order of court): 2.00

Wm. Eggebrecht, juror fees: 5.50

Chas. Schmirler: 5.50

John Adler: 5.50

Aug. Forstenberg: 5.50

Matt Wright: 5.50

Fred Wazinski, dep. sheriff's fees: 5.41

State vs. Fred Wazinski: 4.29

Michael Griffin, officer's fees: 16.15

State vs. John E. Kennedy: 5.28

Wm. Mar, witness fees: 2.08

Dan Rousseau, witness fees: 4.22

Nels Anderson: 1.08

Michael Griffin, officer's fees: 1.08

State vs. Edward McNamara: 1.08

Louis Stangl, witness fees: 1.08

Mrs. Louis Stangl: 1.08

Anna Stangl: 1.08

Charles Miller: 1.08

Anna Holdorff: 1.08

Fred Wazinski, dep. sheriff's fees: 24.12

Michael Griffin's fees: 2.10

State vs. Joseph Zwick: 4.17

A. F. Gerwing, officer's fees: 5.77

State vs. Frank Zwick: 6.07

Michael Griffin, officer's fees: 2.97

State vs. Frank Zwick: 1.97

State vs. James Conner: 6.17

Michael Griffin, officer's fees: 2.97

State vs. John French: 16.57

Michael Griffin, officer's fees: 1.77

State vs. Wm. Smith and Wm. Ellis: 1.08

Michael Griffin, officer's fees: 1.08

State vs. John Howard: 1.08

A. F. Gerwing, witness fees: 6.08

State vs. Joseph Gidson: 6.00

Michael Griffin, officer's fees: 6.57

State vs. Thos. Lansing: 7.00

Geo. B. Brazeau, justice of the peace: 57.95

Geo. B. Brazeau, justice fees, etc.: 7.00

Inquest on the body of unknown man: 7.00

Wm. Connor, witness fees: 7.00

Ed Favel: 7.00

E. Eichsteadt, Jurors: 7.00

C. S. Wiedes: 7.00

Wm. Auer: 7.00

E. F. Deyo: 7.00

O. B. Dodge: 7.00

Chas. Hinkle: 7.00

Geo. W. Baker, taking care of body of unknown man: $26.50

Inquest on the body of Arthur Palm: 7.00

Emmett Auer, witness fees: 7.00

Ray Struger: 7.00

Sydney Larson: 7.00

E. B. Garrison Jurors fees: 7.00

C. A. Jaspersen: 7.00

Burt Millard: 7.00

Joe Schuster: 7.00

W. A. Brazeau: 7.00

Geo. Scott: 7.00

E. F. Dero, officer fees: 7.00

Inquest on the body of Carl Larson: 7.00

Emmett Auer, witness fees: 7.00

Ray Struger: 7.00

Sydney Larson: 7.00

E. B. Garrison Juror fees: 7.00

C. A. Jaspersen: 7.00

Burt Millard: 7.00

Joe Schuster: 7.00

W. A. Brazeau: 7.00

Geo. Scott: 7.00

E. F. Dero, officer fees: 2.11

Michael Griffin, several bills, $70.97, allowed: 22.12

Fred Wazinski, several bills $19.27, allowed: 4.13

Fred Wazinski, several bills $10.82, allowed: 10.83

A. F. Gerwing, several bills $30.25, allowed at 30.25: 30.25

LOCAL ITEMS.

Regular meeting of the city council next Tuesday evening.

A baby boy arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Billmyre on Thanksgiving day.

Do not forget the second number on the Elks entertainment course, Thursday Dec. 5th.

A baby girl arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brazee of the west side on Saturday.

Buyers have been paying 66 cents a bushel for potatoes during most of the time during the past week, and while every day finds some potatoes coming in the receipts have not been large.

Dr. Bird operated upon the son of Mr. Chas. Brys of Rudolph, last week for enlarged tonsils. The patient is doing nicely.

On Tuesday evening, December 10, the Canadian Jubilee singers will appear at the Methodist church in the city. Further particulars next week.

Otto J. Len, Rob Len, Dan Keenan, Arthur Gaash and Charles Natwick hunted in the neighborhood of Hansen the fore part of the week. They succeeded in capturing four fine deer.

Pittsville Pilot: Ward Phillips, the 16 year old son of F. A. Phillips, west of the city, was shot through the wrist Sunday, while climbing over a stump, by the accidental discharge of his gun.

The Canadian Jubilee singers will be at the M. E. church on Tuesday evening, Dec. 10.

Two of the Appleton football boys were so badly hurt that they required the assistance of a doctor after the game. It is understood that it was nothing serious, however.

The proposed watch factory project at Stevens Point has fallen through. The citizens were to subscribe for ten thousand dollars of the stock, but only about five thousand worth of subscriptions were forthcoming.

The work of connecting the east and west side waterworks system was commenced on Tuesday, and the frost in the ground made the digging anything but easy, the frozen macadam being almost as firm as granite.

Lost—Between the Commercial house and the opera hall, a gold medal representing "The Rambler." Finder will receive suitable reward by leaving at Daly's drug store.

A wrestling match has been arranged between Fred Beall of Marshfield and the world famous Farmer Burns is to throw Beall three times in one hour, actual wrestling time. The match occurs Saturday evening, December 14th.

A. M. Atwood, alias "Towhead," who resides east of the city, has re-shingled his house, put on paper, new siding, windows and doors, which makes a great improvement in his dwelling. Towhead is becoming quite proud in his old age.

Wanted—A good, strong boy to learn the baker's trade. A good opportunity for the right boy. Call at this office, or write L. A. Wright, Marshfield, Wis.

Notwithstanding claims to the contrary the open season for partridges and prairie chickens closes on the 30th instant and it is unlawful to kill them after this date. The fine is from $10 to $50 or a jail sentence not to exceed ninety days.

Chamberlain's stomach and liver tablets cure biliousness, constipation and headache. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect. For sale by Johnson & Hill Co.

A number of the deer hunters hid themselves to the northern woods again on Sunday, the fall of snow of the night previous having proven too much for their self denial. Among those that went up were L. M. Nash, Frank Botes, Will Carey, Will Conway and Garry Mason.

Strayed into my enclosure on November 16th, eight sheep, color white. These can be found at the farm of Peter Swigart in the town of Arpin, section 23-1-1.

PETER SWIGART.

Suits were started against the various railway companies at Marshfield last week to the city of Marshfield to compel the railroad companies to put in gates at their crossings. A hearing was to be had on Saturday, but it was dropped on the promise of the officials to comply with the ordinance at once.

All persons holding season tickets for the Elks All Star Entertainment Course will please have seats for the second number, The Boston Musical and Dramatic Co., Thursday, Dec. 5, reserved early. Seats on sale at the usual places, Dec. 2.

On Monday a deal was made through Oliver Akey of Rudolph by which Oliver Walters of Monroe became owner of the Paul Kowalski farm in Sigel; consideration, $3,200. Mr. Walters purchased the farm for his son, Samuel, who will at once take possession. Mr. Kowalski will probably move his family to this city.

Sale of Christmas articles, dressed dolls and doll garments at the M. E. church parlors on Tuesday, Dec. 3d. Refreshments in afternoon and supper from 5:30 on.

The Baby Land show that was to appear at the opera house on Tuesday evening failed to put in an appearance, their last show having been given at Fortage, where the aggregation went to pieces. The cause of the disbandment was not reported but is supposed to have been from lack of patronage.

For Sale—A building 16x24 very cheap. Also a lot of studding and joists. Apply to D. FACETT.

Mrs. Lawrence Jozwick of Sigel died on Tuesday from blood poisoning subsequent to confinement. Deceased leaves a husband and seven children, the oldest of which is ten years old. She was the only daughter of Peter Brostowitz of Sigel. Mr. Jozwick is the treasurer of the town in which he lives and the deceased lady was highly esteemed by all who knew her.

The Boston Musical and Dramatic Co., consisting of Helen Louise Trickey, violinist, Walter E. Paine, tenor soloist, and female impersonator and Walter Eccles, humorist and dramatic reciter at the opera house, Dec. 5th.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Ira Moores of Hancock visited friends in the city on Thursday.

James Shearer and family of Merrill are visiting friends in this city.

Larry Ward of Babcock transacted business in the city on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Wood visited at Madison and Milwaukee the past week.

Miss Mayme Daly is the guest of Miss Cora Vaughn at Marshfield this week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Warren returned on Wednesday from their wedding tour.

John White and daughter, Miss Nan, of Pittsville were in the city shopping on Tuesday.

J. F. Moore has been confined to his home for several days past by a slight indisposition.

August Wagner of Nekoosa, was in the city on Thursday to attend the football game.

Miss Floreda Berg spent Thanksgiving with Miss Agnes Hanson in the town of Sigel.

Miss Berdena Berg left last Tuesday to spend Thanksgiving at Marshfield and Chili with friends.

John Hassel and Ed. Sharkey of Rudolph attended the Thanksgiving ball at the opera house.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Garrison of Port Edwards spent Thanksgiving day in this city among relatives.

Miss Blanche Ferguson is off duty this week and is spending the time with her mother in this city.

Rev. W. A. Peterson spent a part of the past week at Wausau where he was assisting in revival work.

Dr. F. D. Humphrey returned on Wednesday from Clintonville, where he had been called in consultation.

Dr. and Mrs. Edward Hengen spent Thursday in this city the guest of Mr. Hengen's brother, Dr. O. T. Hengen.

Register of Deeds E. A. Upham was at Plainfield on Thursday to assist in the dedication of a new Masonic hall there.

W. L. Oswald was confined to the house by sickness on Tuesday, but was able to be at work again the day following.

Mrs. M. Hesser and children of Marshfield are visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Young.

Louis Schall, who has spent the past year at Castleton, N. D., returned to his home in this city on Friday of last week.

Miss Clara Rummel of Wrightstown arrived in the city on Thursday and is the guest of Mrs. T. Knutz and daughters.

Miss Ethel Kelly visited with Miss Vinnie White at Vesper over Saturday attending the show and ball there that evening.

Miss Mary Buege of Pittsville, spent Thanksgiving day in this city and attended the ball at the opera house that evening.

George Delap came down from Marshfield on Tuesday with the intention of spending a few days in this vicinity hunting.

Harry Whittlesey and Miss Harriet Whittlesey of Cranmoor were in attendance at the ball in this city Thursday evening.

Dr. C. E. Bartholf of Union Grove was in the city on Friday looking over the ground with a view to opening dental parlors here.

Mrs. Geo. P. Hambrecht left on Wednesday evening for Tomah to spend Thanksgiving with Mrs. Hambrecht's parents.

Dr. D. A. Telfer made a business trip to Madison on Monday, returning home the day following with Mrs. Telfer and her parents.

John Schenck, Fred Laughlin and Miss Lulu Laughlin of Biron were among those who attended the Thanksgiving dance at Nekoosa.

Miss Mabel Marceau came down from Wausau on Wednesday evening and spent the remainder of the week with her folks in this city.

John Kiskinzer who is attending the Toland business college at Wausau, arrived home Wednesday for a short visit with parents in Sigel.

A. N. Cross spent Sunday in this city with his family. He has been employed in dredging work in the neighborhood of Cranmoor.

Dan McKercher was down from Merrill on Thursday to interview his numerous friends and eat Thanksgiving dinner with his people.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Kellogg left on Friday for Racine, where Mrs. Kellogg will visit for about two weeks. Mr. Kellogg expects to return home next week.

C. V. Snyder, cashier at the Central depot, has been taking a vacation during the past week, and expects to be absent from his office until some time next week.

Misses Christina Pinion and Fannie Tallant of Marshfield visited friends in the city on Thanksgiving day and attended the ball at the opera house that evening.

Miss Myrtle Horton entertained a number of her young friends at dinner on Sunday last at her home near Biron, the occasion being her nineteenth birthday.

Ed. Wheelan returned on Wednesday evening from Madison where he is attending the university, and spent Thanksgiving with his relatives and friends in this city.

Carl Winger was home from the university and helped to cheer the Howe high to victory on Thanksgiving day. He expects to take up his studies again Monday.

Mrs. Wm. Walton of Stevens Point arrived in the city on Wednesday to spend Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Renne. Mrs. Walton being an aunt of Mrs. Renne's.

B. W. Boyer of Merrill, deputy revenue collector, was in the city on Tuesday. This city is out of Mr. Boyer's regular district and he was sent here on special business.

Wilbur Briere, who has been in the employ of a lumber company in Kentucky during the past year, returned to the city on Monday to spend Thanksgiving with his parents and other relatives. Wilbur has been in the employ of the G. W. Jones Lumber company of Appleton and has been at Greenville, Kentucky.

Ellen and Mildred MacKinnon came up from Fond du Lac, where they are attending Grafton Hall, and are spending the week with their parents. They return to school next Monday.

Misses Celia Burr and Anna Granger, who are teaching in the town of Port Edwards, suspended their labors long enough, to spend Thanksgiving with their relatives in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Anderson of Marshfield were in the city on Friday. Mr. Anderson was on business for the Champion Machinery company and Mrs. Anderson visited with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Demarais of Minneapolis and A. L. Kromer and daughter Sylvia of Ashland arrived in the city on Wednesday and visited relatives in this city over Thanksgiving.

Henry Neblag of Watertown and Edward D. Neblag of Newark, N. J., who have been visiting with the family of E. Roeders for some time past, returned to their respective homes on Friday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Laughlin of Biron entertained a number of friends at dinner Thanksgiving day. The younger members of the party enjoyed a candy pull during the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kohl of Marshfield were in the city on Thursday visiting Mr. Kohl's relatives, Mrs. J. Hamm and family. Mr. and Mrs. Kohl are but recently married, the event having occurred on Tuesday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bertin Ramsay of Appleton, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ramsay of Seattle, Washington, and Mr. and E. M. Platt of Chicago are visiting in the city with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Hoskinson and Mr. and Mrs. F. MacKinnon.

Harry Miller came home from the university on Wednesday to spend Thanksgiving with his parents and other friends. Mr. Miller left for Chicago Thursday evening where he had some business to transact before returning to school.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Jones of Mazomanie arrived in the city on Tuesday and are visiting with the families of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Telfer, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Muir and Mrs. W. T. Jones. They expect to spend the remainder of the winter in this city.

A. W. Bryant, our whilom telephone manager, spent Thanksgiving in this city and managed to find time to attend the football game in the afternoon and the dance in the evening. Mr. Bryant was on his way from Rhinelander to Chicago on business.

G. Bruderli is still incapacitated by the hurt which he sustained about two weeks ago. It was found on examination that one of the bones in his right foot was broken and the muscles are so badly wrecked that he is unable to use the member. He has been able to get down to his place of business by riding, however.

Mr. and Mrs. F. MacKinnon and son Reginald leave on Monday for San Diego, California, where Mrs. MacKinnon expects to spend the winter, the climate of Wisconsin being rather severe for her health. Mr. MacKinnon expects to return here about Christmas time, but Mrs. MacKinnon will remain until the first of May.

Private advices received from Dr. J. C. Conaff state that he has been traveling through California during the past two weeks, and is enjoying fairly good health. He pronounces the climate delightful, with flowers in bloom and much resembling our weather in June. He also expected to return to Nevada in the near future where he would probably spend a greater portion of the winter.

Among those who went to Stevens Point Saturday evening to hear Brooke's Marine Band orchestra were Misses Edith Nash and Mollie McGloin, Charles Podawiltz and Emil Lambert. They pronounced the music to be something excellent as well as out of the ordinary. Brooke is certainly a great bandmaster, and while he always plays a high grade of music he introduces enough novelty into his programs to catch the ordinary lover of music who is not up in the classics.

The Priest has His Inning.

Neillsville Times: Rev. Youngblud and Lizzie Nolan, whose names have been in the criminal calendar of the Clark county circuit court for November now in session, had a hearing last Saturday before Judge O'Neill on an application for a change of venue, securing what they asked for, and the cases were sent to Wood county, and will be tried at Grand Rapids. Their attorneys were here from Eau Claire and Prairie du Chien to argue the matter. There was no great excitement over the event and spectators were few.

The Youngblud party made rather a junket of their trip here, putting up at the O'Neill, laughing, taking their beer in the parlor and making their farewell to Neillsville as gay as possible. The crime with which they are charged is a black one, the cruel and inhuman abuse of a little orphan girl named Mary Prieur, who had been committed to their charge.

Business Locals.

Dr. J. J. Looze Grand Rapids, office over Wood County Drug store, telephone No. 62. Residence telephone No. 246.

Dr. A. L. Ridgman, Centralia. Office over Centralia Drug Store. Telephone No. 92. Telephone at residence, No. 23.

F. Pomainville, M. D. Office in fear of Steib's drug store. Telephone at office, No. 35; residence, Centralia, No. 248.

Dr. D. Waters, physician and surgeon. Office over Church's drug store, telephone 182. Night calls at Dixon House, telephone 55.

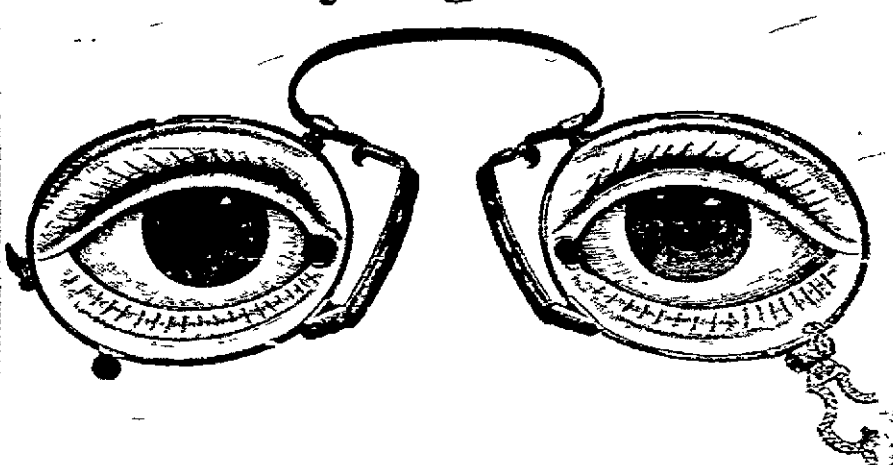

Dr. Chas. Pomainville, Dentist. Office over J. A. Cohen's store, Grand Rapids, Wis. Telephone 216.

For fine dental work, go to Dr. D. A. Telfer, office over Wood County National Bank, Grand Rapids.

Dr. F. D. Humphrey, homeopathic physician and surgeon, office over "White Front." Special attention given to women and children and all chronic diseases.

A. B. Crawford, Dentist. Office in Reiland building, Grand Rapids. High grade service at reasonable fees.

Defects in Eyesight

Can be corrected by having your eyes fitted accurately to a pair of glasses by J. R. CHAPMAN. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

If you will watch closely our advertisements hereafter you will find something new every week.

EVERY WEDNESDAY Is A Sales Day

At our store during the winter months and we shall make a special effort every week to make Wednesday's genuine bargain days.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 27

We will place on sale

LADIES DRESSING SACKS

You will find something nice for a Christmas present among these goods. N. B. No trading stamps given on goods advertised on sales day

MRS. J. HAMM,

EAST SIDE, TELEPHONE NO. 268.

People who are Particular

What They Eat always insist upon having Dewey, Victoria or Sunbeam Flour. Bread made from it retains all the elements of the wheat that goes to make brain and strength and has a delicious wheat flavor that is all its own. Sold by all grocers. If not at yours, write the mill.

Grand Rapids Milling Co.

SOMETHING NEW!

Stop in and see our line of Fancy China in the New Japanese Decorated Ware, consisting of Cups and Saucers, Plates Tea Sets, Vases, Cracker Bowls, Chocolate Pots, etc. The prices are right at

SAM CHURCH'S,
The Bald Headed Druggist, West Side.

PHOTOGRAPHS!

LATEST STYLES.

You will probably want some photos during the holidays to give your friends, and if so I think it entirely probable that I can please you at my studio. Photos finished in any style to suit the customer. You cannot appreciate how many new styles there are to select from unless you visit my gallery and look them over.

Views, Crayon and Photo Enlargements, Carbon Prints, etc.

I have an extra nice selection of views from this part of the country. Come and look them over.

O. MORTERUD,

The Photographer.

Quite a Difference.
"You announce in your paper," said the wrathful young woman, "that I would not be married, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding."
"Well, isn't that the report you sent in?" asked the society editor.
"No, it isn't," answered the wrathful young woman. "The inference is all wrong. I said I would not be married to the particular young man to whom I was reported engaged, which is quite a different matter."—Chicago Post.

One Way of Telling.
Curley—See that fellow looking over there? He used to go to the same college that I did. I wonder if he remembers me?
Burleigh—Ask him for the loan of five dollars.
Curley—What for?
Burleigh—If he remembers you, you won't get it.—Judge.

The Way to View It.
Keep your old heart happy still—Time's a reckless rover;
Why grieve about the milk you spill—When there are cows and clover?
—Atlanta Constitution.

AN UNNECESSARY LABOR.

Church Settlement Young Lady (kindly)—I hope you brush your teeth regularly, Maggie.
Maggie (indignantly)—Brush me teeth? Wot would I do that for? There ain't no hair on me teeth!—Brooklyn Eagle.

A Summer Tragedy.
He wrote the girl a novel plan—His heart's proposal on a palm-leaf fan. That cruel girl—oh, what a crime, indeed—Hanged it round the porch for all to read.—Chicago Record-Herald.

What He Was After.
He—Well, I've just been elected president of the road. More yachts, more diamonds, more corner lots.
She—But haven't you enough, dear?
"Oh, I've never cared about my own enough. I want the other fellow's."—Brooklyn Life.

Chance for Heroism.
Adorer (anxiously)—What did your father say?
Sweet Girl—Oh, he got so angry I was afraid to stay and listen. He's in a perfectly terrible rage. Go in and appease him.—N. Y. Weekly.

Smacked of Suture.
School Commissioner—I think a nice motto would look well over your desk. How would "Knowledge Is Wealth" do?
School-Teacher—What, with my salary?—Baltimore World.

It Takes Ten.
Coakley—Poor Woolman has nine mills running now, but they're all losing money.
Joakley—Well, he should have known that nine mills would never make a cent.—Philadelphia Press.

A Scare-Flu.
Baker—Old Baldy is getting ready for the fly season.
Jones—What is he doing?
Baker—Having his head tattooed with a design of a spider's web.—Judge.

Brought Home to Him.
"I throw myself upon your mercy," sobbed the 200-pound heroine. The villain sank beneath her weight.
"I now realize," he murmured, "what is meant by the power behind the throne."—Philadelphia Press.

Highly Recommended.
Mr. Jackson—Didn't de boss gib yo a recommend w'en yo left?
Mr. Johnson—Oh, yes. He recommended Fakem's nerve fo' "dat tired feelin'."—Leslie's Weekly.

Like the Airship.
Quinn—We don't hear much of the cigar-shaped train these days.
DeForte—No. I guess it was puffed up so much that it all went up in smoke.—Chicago Daily News.

Just Like a Woman.
Benham—Why did that woman keep you standing at the door for half an hour?
Mrs. Benham—She said she hadn't time to come in.—Brooklyn Life.

Too Late.
He—Your father ought to know what I have to say to him. I have been coming here so long.
She—I am afraid he has given up all hope.—Detroit Free Press.

A Caustic Hint.
Rattles—But, listen, dear; let me explain.
Mrs. Rattles—I'd rather you didn't; your conduct is suspicious enough already.—Brooklyn Life.

Opposed to Gossip.
Lady (to new servant)—I do not tolerate gossip, but—if you know any interesting news you may tell me!—Tit-Bits.

An Infallible Cure.
"The surest way to kill the love microbe," remarked the Observer of Events and Things, "is to get married."—Yonkers Statesman.

SECRET OF LONGEVITY.

The Simple Explanation of It Is Briefly Given by a Noted French Centenarian.

The recent unveiling in Paris of the statue of the centenarian savant, Chevreul, has served to justify the reprinting of an interview with him in 1886, when he attained his one hundredth year, says the New York Post. Asked by the reporter for the secret of his long life, he replied, gravely: "I can give it to you in four words: 'Keep in good health.' That is my whole secret." What were his recreations? Fishing, though he hated the taste of fish, and never himself sampled the trophies of his line. He was also born without a "sense" for wine, which was not only "indifferent" to him, but positively abhorrent—"a pure question of offensive odor," he explained. But what did he do when he was fatigued?

"Fatigue? I do not know what the word means. Work is the way to rest."
"But there are surely limits to human power, and, besides, when one is ill—"

"Ill? I do not know what that word means either. I do not remember ever to have been ill."
Thus the rule for living 100 years came down to the simple direction always to live in firm health. Chevreul's idea of age was strangely brought out at the dinner given him in honor of his centenary by the Parisian press. His son was present, and undertook to correct the father's memory of a certain ancient menu. "Tais-toi, gamin!" cried out the old gentleman with parental authority. The gamin, be it observed, was then 66 years old!

AUSTRALIAN ORANGES.

District That Produces an Infinite Wealth of the Finest Fruit.

What apple culture is in England that of the orange is in New South Wales, the Parramatta district, near Sydney, being to Australia what Kent, with its countless luxuriant orchards, is to the United Kingdom. The scenery on the Parramatta river, remarks the Sydney correspondent of the London Globe, is not unlike that of the Thames above Richmond, only more romantic and beautiful, especially during springtime, when the wonderful profusion of wild flowers imparts an additional charm to the picture. Even the masses of rock, which in many places rises boldly from the edges of the stream, are decked with bright colored clusters of Australian native flowers of the most lovely and varied description. The trees also claim a large share of admiration, not only from the lover of the beautiful in nature, but also from the utilitarian, for they include the orange with its bright green foliage and dainty white flowers or rich golden fruit, both often being seen on the tree at one and the same time. The orange is not only a picturesque adjunct to the garden, but also more than repays the trouble and cost of cultivation. In the Parramatta district rich and luscious oranges are as plentiful as blackberries in an English country lane during the autumn time.

TO REACH THE NORTH POLE.

French Navigator Suggests a Tunnel Through the Ice as the Best Means.

The most curious method of reaching the north pole ever proposed is by tunnel, a plan urged by Capt. Louis Launette, formerly of the French navy. Capt. Launette's idea is that by building a tunnel of closely cemented ice blocks, and lighting it with electricity, he would establish a route to the pole perfectly protected from the elements and available for travel at all times, with bases of supply at convenient intervals, an abundance of dogs for traction and constant communication throughout its entire length. He proposed to travel overland, says a London paper, to some point in Alaska, whence a vessel designed for arctic waters would sail with the expedition to a point already selected by Capt. Launette—a point as far north as it is safe to navigate. Thence during the short summer the expedition would be rushed over the border of the region of perpetual ice, where the main base of supplies would be established. Then the ice-men and laborers would unpack their tools and set to work at the tunnel road to the north pole. It was to have an ice floor, ice walls and an ice roof.

Asphalt a Scientific Mystery.
A writer in the Chicago Record-Herald says that asphaltum is the puzzle of scientists and the joy and pride of roadmakers. Geologists and chemists have placed the mysterious material in the coal and petroleum family, yet they do not agree on its origin. Some of them claim volcanic parentage for the curious stuff; others trace its family back to the vegetable tribe. But all are of one mind in that it is one of the most useful and usable products of the earth's crust.

A Summer Novelty.
The crystallized mint leaf is the latest novelty in summer confections. The lover of mint, whether in the form of candy or julep, will find them deliciously refreshing. The sprays of fresh leaves are treated apparently much in the same way as candied fruits are produced, only the mint retains all its original flavor. Crystallized mint leaves are rather expensive, selling at 15 cents an ounce, but they are said to be well worth the price.

Another Opportunity.
A Certain Man, having read somewhere that Opportunity knocks only once at each one's door, concluded to sit up all night for fear he would miss the Call. So while he was sitting near his door there came a heavy knock thereon.

When he opened the door a stranger seized him and beat him all up and took his money and garments and chided him for being so Easy.

"But," said the Man, thinking to excuse himself, "I thought it was Opportunity who knocked."
"So it was," responded the Other, "but it was my Opportunity."

Moral: It is Better to Carry your Opportunity with you.—Baltimore American.

A Feministic Opinion.
"They say that in order to be happy," said the young woman who reads a great deal, "a man ought to be a fool or a philosopher."
"Yes," answered Miss Cayenne. "If a man is a fool he can't get a woman to accept him. And if he is as wise as philosophers are credited with being he won't propose."—Washington Star.

A Wise Judge.
"Why did they throw the case out of court?"
"Well, she claimed that he tried to kiss her."

"I should think that would have made it all the worse for him."
"No," she declared on the stand that he didn't succeed.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Making Progress.
Miss Young (enthusiastically)—Oh, Miss Timer is so lovely, so intellectual! Not in her first youth, you know, but—
Miss Stager—No; but from what I have learned about her, I should think she must be well on in her second childhood.—Leslie's Weekly.

A Practical Guest.
"What makes that friend of yours keep clamoring for the young man in politics?"
"I don't know," answered Senator Sorghum, "unless he thinks that some of the older fellows are getting too wary and hard to handle."—Washington Star.

Chronicle.
Tramp—Would ye kindly help a poor sick man, me lovely lady, who'd orber be in the hospital, but's too proud ter go?
Lady—Poor fellow! Here's a quarter. What is it you're sick with?
Tramp—Spring fever, mum.—Harper's Bazar.

A Bluff.
"Pa," said little Willie, looking up from his books, "what are 'gastro-nomics'?"
"Why—er—lemme see," said the old man. "O! they're these country jays that blow out the gas."—Philadelphia Press.

Science Set at Naught.
"Mosquitoes give us malaria and malaria robs us of energy."
"Oh, I don't know: when a mosquito bites me I at once feel great increase of energy, and hop around like mad until I get a slap at him."—Chicago Record-Herald.

His View.
"Why," said his friend, "the temperature is lower than it was yesterday."
"I don't care anything about the temperature," said the stout person. "A man is as hot as he feels."—Puck.

Always Careful.
Mamma—I hope you gave that young Custer a piece of your mind when he kissed you!
Ethel—Ah, mamma, I wanted to hear your opinion about it first.—N. Y. Times.

The Better Part.
The bachelors say that, on the whole, their independent homes will do; but married men have better halves and therefore better quarters, too.—Good Housekeeping.

THOSE EQUINE HATS.

Uncle Hickorycreek—Whos, thar, Betsy! Dang it! Whar ye gwine?
Betsy—There's a furniture van ahead with a mirror in the rear end. I want to see if my hat's on straight.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

On Again: Off Again.
"What pretty white flowers they are on that plant!"
"Yes, but they don't stay on very long."
"No?"
"No, they're bachelor's buttons, you know."—Philadelphia Press.

A Daily Programme.
Auntie—Don't you want to go to Heaven?
Johnny—I don't know. I think it must be a place where people spend their time behaving themselves.—Puck.

Explained.
"I never could see why they always called a boat 'she.'"
"Evidently you have never tried to steer one."—Brooklyn Life.

NEWSPAPER MAN'S MISTAKE.

He Sent Vice President Hobart's Card to a Senator Instead of His Own.

A Baltimore newspaper man once came over to Washington to do some interviewing of public men, says a Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia North American. It was when Garret A. Hobart was vice president, and he called upon that distinguished New Jerseyan first. Then, with fear and trembling, he went to the residence of a senator who was noted for frigidity toward representatives of the press. He sent up his card and expected to be sent a curt refusal to be seen. What was his astonishment when the lackey came downstairs, bowed profoundly and said that Senator So-and-So would be down in just a minute, and would be so good as to make himself at home meanwhile. In less than that time the statesman came down the staircase at a pace that made the reporter fear for the safety of his limbs.

"Ah! Mr. Hobart, delighted to see you," he said, as he entered, with his hand outstretched, and before his eyes had become accustomed to the darkened parlor. Then, of a sudden, he drew himself up stiffly, fumbled in his waistcoat, pulled out the card that had been sent to him, and demanded: "What do you mean by this imposition, sir?" Like lightning it flashed on the newspaper man what had happened. He had, while in the vice president's room, inadvertently picked up one of Mr. Hobart's cards and had used it by mistake for one of his own. His apologies were ample, but the senator could not be induced to forgive that thrilling dash down the slippery staircase simply to accommodate a mere scribbler.

MUST CARE FOR THEIR OWN.

Parents in the State of Ohio Are Held Responsible for Their Children's Support.

The Ohio legislature at its last session passed a law attaching a penalty of a term in the penitentiary for parents who refuse to support their offspring. The first conviction under this law is reported from Columbus.

It appears that a miner named Baby was making good wages, but he could not be induced by the authorities to support his only child. Some months ago he separated from his wife, and he made a fight for the possession of the child and was successful. As he was not prepared to properly provide for the child, it was taken to the children's home to be cared for. When the child was left there it was to pay a certain stipend for the services. He failed to comply with his contract, and all the urging of the county officers had no effect in inducing him to let loose of his purse strings to pay for the necessities of life for his child. After a large number of admonitions he was arrested and the court sentenced him to serve one year. In April, 1890, the general assembly passed a law attaching a workhouse sentence for cases of that kind, but the law was amended by the last legislature, and the penitentiary was substituted for the workhouse.

PRETTY MARRIAGE CUSTOM.

It Was Inaugurated by Queen Victoria and Has Been Copied by All Her Children.

A pretty custom dating from the wedding of the late Queen Victoria, is that a sprig of myrtle which formed part of the bride's wreath was carefully cultured, and in due time planted out. When the princess royal was married sprigs were cut for her bridal wreath from this myrtle tree. The princess, following her mother's example, had one of the sprigs cared for till it became a full-sized tree, which served for her daughter-in-law's wreath at the wedding of the present emperor of Germany.

The custom was observed in the marriage of the prince of Wales and all other of Queen Victoria's children and grandchildren. There is already, as the result of this charming custom, the making of a grove of myrtle trees. Other customs attached to the marriages of the royal family relate to the bouquet and the wedding cake. Ever since the marriage of Queen Victoria a firm of Windsor florists have had the honor of presenting the one, a Chester confectioner finding the other, neither accepting payment.

Silk Culture a Home Industry.
A writer in the Philadelphia Times says that silk culture is not, and never has been, an exceedingly remunerative business, but it adds vast wealth to the nations engaged in it for the simple reason that it can be pursued by the humblest and poorest, requiring only a small outlay. The raising of a few pounds of cocoons every year does not materially interfere with the household and other duties that now engage the time of the farm girls, and it is by each household raising a few pounds of cocoon that silk culture must be carried on in this country, as it always has been in other countries. In France cocoons are regularly produced by more than 150,000 families.

"Black Death" Still Defiant.
The bubonic plague is said to be the most stubborn of epidemics, not yielding to the most energetic treatment. While the dread of smallpox, cholera and yellow fever has been much lessened of late years because of the progress of medical science, no great hold has yet been obtained on the "black death."

Preventive of Smallpox.
A doctor out west alleges that he has discovered that apple cider vinegar taken in reasonable quantities is a sure preventive of smallpox.

POLISH NAME IN WIRE.

Job That Gave a Street Faker Something to Be for His Money.

A street faker who had a stand down in State street has temporarily gone out of business. His particular specialty consisted in fashioning brightly colored wire to spell out the name of his customers. He used no pliers or other tools, but twisted the wire to form the various letters by using his fingers only. The other night he stood at his appointed place of business loudly extolling the marvelousness of his wares, says the Chicago Tribune.

"Step up, step up, loidies and gents, and see me make yer noimes in wire. I kin wire in every shape and form and spell out yer name, no matter whether it be Smith, Brown or Ruberson. Come up, loidies and gents, and toike home yer noimes neatly made to hang above yer fireside."

One of the passersby paused to look at the faker's handiwork, and he was at once pounced upon by the faker, who besought him to have his name spelled out for only ten cents. "Vell," said the man, "I vill; dere ist de mona."

"Well, gent," said the faker, airily, "an' now what might be de name be?"

"Ignace Stanislaus Zajaczschowski." The faker grew pale. "I say," he said, "do you think this is a wire mill?" Then he tried to laugh the man away. "It 'nd toike two mileski of barbed wirejeski to spellski out that heathen noimejeski of yourself," he said.

"You my mona hajski," said the foreigner. "My namen, ples."

The crowd around the faker at once sided with the customer.
"Sure," shouted half a dozen voices in a clamor. "Make the felly his nameski. That's rightski. You offered to make his nameski for ten centski. He gave you the moneyki. Now make goodski."
"Make the name, you lobster, or we'll wreck your whole outfit," yelled a tough-looking man in the back of the stand.

"All right, all right, gents," shouted the frightened faker. "I'll make the gent's noime, but it'll take all the wire I've got on the stand, and I'll have ter pinch me fingers out of shape."

"Make ther feller's name and shut up," growled the tough-looking party. So without another word the fellow picked up his wire and worked for half an hour and at the close of that time he had fashioned out the name. And Ignace Stanislaus Zajaczschowski took his purchase and went home, while the faker gathered up the two inches of wire he had left and fled down an alley.

SCARING THE LIONS.

Fierce Forest Kings Driven Off by Imitating the Cries of a Pack of Wolves.

M. Foa, the French explorer, says that lions have a wholesome fear of African wolves, which hunt in packs, and do not scruple to attack even the lion. There are terrible battles in which the lion succumbs to numbers, and dies fighting. In connection with the lion's fear of wolves M. Foa tells a story from his own experience. It was a very dark night, so dark that trees could not be distinguished until the travelers were close upon them. Lions prowled about the party, one of them roaring from a point so close as to have an alarming effect on the nerves. The animals could not be seen, but they could be heard on all sides.

Reaching a tree, the men found one of their comrades with rifle cocked, peering into the darkness, trying to discover the whereabouts of the animal, which could be plainly heard walking among the leaves. A second man was trying to relight a half-extinguished torch. Still the lions could be heard coming and going in the darkness.

At this point the native servant whispered the advice to imitate the cry of wolves in the distance. The party at once began barking and crying: "Hu! hu! hu!" in an undertone, as if the pack were still at a distance, while the man at the camp made the same well-imitated cry.

The effect was instantaneous. There was the sound of a rapid stampede across the dry leaves. The lions decamped in a panic, driven off by the supposed approach of a pack of wolves. For the rest of the night the party was undisturbed.

Kimberley After the Siege.

A city relieved after a siege is a queer place. Julian Ralph, in "An American with Lord Roberts," says that there never were so few horses in the streets of any modern town as were to be seen in Kimberley, when its four tragic months were over. Of course there were no horses; the people had eaten them. The dogs consisted of bones, with a tongue hanging out. They looked like frames of dogs in process of construction.

The shops were open but the clerks had grown to be as automatic as cuckoo-clocks. Instead of saying: "Cuckoo! cuckoo!" they kept on remarking: "All out, ma'am! All out, sir!" in reference to the necessities of life.

"Milk for my coffee," ordered the new comer.
"The regulars has the only milk there is," replied the restaurant-keeper. "Likewise the jam, and they won't give it up."

"Give me a match," was the next request, and the host replied: "There's the candle. The matches ran out in November."

Had a Better Story.
"Did you see the account of that flash of lightning that burned the hair from a boy's head without otherwise hurting him?"
"I did," answered the cheerful liar, "and I was pained to note the incompleteness of the story. Now, I happen to know of a case that is really remarkable. The lightning entered a barber's shop and not only undertook the task of singeing a man's hair, but it rung up the proper amount on the cash register."—Chicago Post.

A Sure Indication.
"Oh, I visited such a woefully poverty-stricken family this morning," said the sympathetic member of the charity committee.
"Indeed!" asked the chairman of the committee. "Were they very, very poor?"

"Poor! Man, it is pitiable. Why, they are so poor that they keep 15 dogs."—Baltimore American.

Compound Profits.
Skinner—I just sold the last of those suburban houses I put up.

Weaver—What are you going to do with all the money?
Skinner—Invest it in quinine and sell it to the purchasers of the houses as soon as they have caught the malaria.—Leslie's Weekly.

Proposed Compromise.
Tramp—Lady, could yer loan a poor pilgrim yer husband's razor?
Lady—And what will you do in return? Out some wood?

Tramp—Not exactly that, mum; but I will compromise an' give yer me shorn whiskers to stuff a pin-cushion.—Philadelphia Record.

True Musical Instinct.
Reilly—Couplings is a fireman with a true musical instinct.

McCarthy—I didn't know he had any talent in that line.
Reilly—Well, he has. When the music store burned yesterday, Couplings played on six pianos all at once.—Leslie's Weekly.

The Same Remark.
"What did Mame say when her father gave her that new gold watch?" asked one gladsome girl.
"Oh, the same thing that she always says. She remarked that she was having a perfectly lovely time."—Washington Star.

A Materialist.
Mrs. Newlywed—I'm sorry, love, but the cakes did get just a little bit burned, this morning.

Newlywed (reassuringly)—Never mind, my dear: I assure you they taste just like those my mother used to burn.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Similar But Different.
Tom—Have a smoke, old man?
Jack—Thanks. Don't care if I do.
Tom—You'll find that is something like a cigar.

Jack (after a few puffs)—By George, there is a slight resemblance. What is it?—Chicago Daily News.

As Represented.
"Did you find the house as represented?"
"Oh, yes."

"Water on the top floor?"
"Yes; the roof leaked."—Chicago Daily News.

Just a Little Hope Left.
Bluff—I'd have you know, sir, that I'm a self-made man.

Gruff—Well, I'm sorry for you; but keep dark and don't worry, and perhaps you'll get along all right.—Tit-Bits.

One View of It.
"She's such a businesslike girl that I suppose she will invest the fortune that has just been left to her."
"Yes; she will invest in a husband."
"Dear me! I didn't know she was so fond of luxuries."—Chicago Post.

Plaint of the Summer Maid.
Ah, me, how dull is a nook.
Though as snug as snugs can be,
With just one's self, and a book,
And a circling arm of the sea.
—Edwin L. Sabin, in Smart Set.

CRAWLING UP THE STAIRS.

Auntie—Ten o'clock, 11 o'clock, 12 o'clock, and then what comes, Bertie?
Bertie—Pa, without his boots.—Ally Sloper.

For Instance.
The names of institutions
Are thoughtless and unjust.
The "trusts" will trust nobody
And nobody trusts a trust.
—Washington Star.

One Point of View.
"In some states the law forbids persons of unsound mind to marry."
"And nobody else cares to!"—Detroit Free Press.

There Are Many Liars.
"The truth should not be spoken at all times."
"Don't worry; it isn't."—Brooklyn Life.

Still in the Business.
Church—I see a man milliner up-town has gone into politics.
Gotham—Well, he's a trimmer yet.—Yonkers Statesman.

The U. S. Government Tests
Show the Absolute Superiority of Royal Baking Powder.

THE PERFECTION OF COAT MAKING

FRIEND BROS. CLOTHING

Many of our friends prefer our honest winter ulster to all other coats. This is the one best overcoat for a protector "from the winds that howl." It has extra liberal storm collar and big, deep pockets and is made to stand the racket. We have sold thousands of these splendid coats in the Northwest and know from the praise of the wearers that they are held in greatest regard for absolute comfort and perfect protection from Old-Winter. "We make four styles of winter overcoats from which you may select. They embody the latest thoughts in coat making." Look for our name in the right hand breast pocket (a guarantee). Sold by leading dealers.

Friend Bros. Clothing Co., Milwaukee, Wis.

ASTHMA CURE FREE!

Asthmalene Brings Instant Relief and Permanent Cure in all Cases.

SENT ABSOLUTELY FREE ON RECEIPT OF POSTAL.

There is nothing like Asthmalene. It brings instant relief, even in the worst cases. It cures when all else fails.

The Rev. C. F. WELLS, of Villa Ridge, Ill., says: "Your trial bottle of Asthmalene received in good condition. I cannot tell you how thankful I feel for the good derived from it. I was a slave, chained with putrid sore throat and asthma for ten years. I despaired of ever being cured. I saw your advertisement for the cure of this dreadful and tormenting disease, asthma, and thought you had overspoken yourselves, but resolved to give it a trial. To my astonishment, the trial acted like a charm. Send me a full-size bottle."

We want to send to every sufferer a trial treatment of Asthmalene, similar to the one that cured Mr. Wells. We'll send it by mail POSTPAID, ABSOLUTELY FREE OF CHARGE, to any sufferer who will write for it, even on a postal. Never mind, though you are despairing, however bad your case. Asthmalene will relieve and cure. The worse your case, the more glad we are to send it. Do not delay. Write at once, addressing DR. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO., 79 East 130th St., N. Y. City. Sold by all Druggists.

SPARKLING RICH PURE GUND'S BEER

For deliciousness of flavor and purity of material this beer is unsurpassed. Order a case of our Peerless Bottle Beer sent home and let every member of the family enjoy it. Our lithographed booklet sent to you free on request.

John Gund Brewing Co., La Crosse, Wis.

SUNSHINE SHOWERS

revive the grass and flowers, giving them beauty, vigor and freshness. In precisely the same way put vigor and health into the nerves of men and women who have lost strength, and grown discouraged and despondent.

PALMO TABLETS

No matter what brought about your condition, Palmo Tablets will not fail to infuse new blood, life and nerve-happiness into your entire being.

Results are a scientific certainty. 50 cents per box, 12 for $5. Guaranteed.

Book Free. Made by Standard Oil Company.

Halel Drug Co., Cleveland, O.

Palmo Tablets

Revive the grass and flowers, giving them beauty, vigor and freshness. In precisely the same way put vigor and health into the nerves of men and women who have lost strength, and grown discouraged and despondent.

No matter what brought about your condition, Palmo Tablets will not fail to infuse new blood, life and nerve-happiness into your entire being.

Results are a scientific certainty. 50 cents per box, 12 for $5. Guaranteed.

Book Free. Made by Standard Oil Company.

Halel Drug Co., Cleveland, O.

Full of Snap and Go

That's the way you should feel at all times. Something wrong with your Liver or Stomach if you don't. How is your liver? Does your backache? Are you thin and weak? Does your sleep rest you? Is your stomach in good condition? Are you dull and listless? Do you have dizzy spells?

Dr. Arnold's Nuvo Family Tea

will give you the proper feeling of alertness and make life worth living. If your Liver is deranged and does not properly perform its functions, if your bowels and stomach do not secrete the right juices and cause indigestion and Chronic Dyspepsia or, if you are troubled with Constipation you cannot be active, alert and full of life.

You should not delay a minute in getting a medicine that will assist Nature in restoring your deranged system and let Dr. Arnold's Nuvo Family Tea that you must have to feel better and be cured right away.

For years our medicine has been curing people that feel just like you and it can cure you also. Builds up and strengthens the entire system and sends rich, red blood through your veins. Price 25 cents a package.

Your druggist sells Dr. Arnold's Nuvo Family Tea. If he won't supply you, we will send you a package free of charge. No substitute but, send us 25 cents stamps and we will forward a package prepaid.

Our Consultation Department gives free advice. Describe your case.

HENRY SCHROEDER, Wholesale Distributor,
485-487 Milwaukee Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

The Thanksgiving Tramp

A LOVE STORY
By MANDA L. CROCKER

HALLIE WOODBURN stood on the broad, homey steps of Merriwold taking a sweeping inventory of the darkening November sky.

"And to-morrow is Thanksgiving again!" she said, in a troubled way, looking across at Thad, the chore man, who was busy tying down the rose-vines for their winter's rest.

"Yes," he answered, glancing up, "time flies as if it had angel's wings."

"But time goes dreadfully slow, sometimes, for some people," she replied, with a shiver, turning away.

"It's too mortal mean that those friends of hers couldn't have come to eat Thanksgiving with her, when they promised," Thad concluded to himself as he covered the last refractory cane. Then he went around to the kitchen to speak to Genie.

"The mistress is dreadfully put out about those visitors," said he, confidentially, "or else—she has something on her mind; it can't be she's getting kind o' afraid like now, since the father and mother are laid away?"

"O, I dunno!" she answered, mysteriously. "If I was judgin' I'd say she was grievin' over sendin' her lover off without much of a reason, as near as I can find out."

"Her—lover?" and Thad stared at the prophetic Genie with wide-open eyes.

"Why yes; Ned Vickers. You know I told you," she answered, reproachfully.

"O, but that was a good while ago," put in Thad.

"Yes, I know," went on Genie, wisely, "but she had her home once all along until lately, and now it's different. And Thad," turning toward him suddenly, "it's about this time o' year that she shut the doors of Merriwold against him and—it hasn't been Merriwold since! And Thad—cross your heart now, this is a dead secret—"

"Cross my heart," repeated Thad, solemnly.

Then Genie leaned nearer her attentive auditor and whispered: "I saw her cryin'."

"NED VICKERS, YOU HAVE DECEIVED ME."

as if her heart would break into yesterday over a picture of Ned Vickers. So I think she is grievin' over him."

Thad drew his breath in sharply. "I didn't know," he said, softly. Then he stumbled along into the milk-room for the pails, leaving the perplexed maid wondering "what it was to Thad—this bit of gossip."

But when the chore man sat down by crumpling horn in the dusky stables, he murmured: "I said I didn't know; but I do. I know more than anyone at Merriwold knows about it."

With the deepening twilight came a storm of snow, sweeping the countryside. The curtains were drawn at Merriwold and a ruddy blaze illuminated the hazy hearth. The lamp on a side-table was turned low, for Miss Woodburn was not reading; she was looking into the fire and listening to the "click" of the icy snow against the panes.

"Ten years ago to-night it stormed just this way. O, how I remember it!"

Perhaps she breathed a prayer, for her lips moved inaudibly; then she went into the adjoining room, where Genie was braiding her long, beautiful hair before the mirror and humming: "Douglas, Tender and True."

"Don't sing that to-night, Genie," she said, almost sharply. Then she asked where Thad was.

"I dunno, ma'am, unless he is in his room," answered the maid, in a sympathetic tone; "but I am sorry, Miss Hallie, if I disturbed you with my singing."

"No matter now," replied Miss Woodburn, hastily. "I guess I am a little nervous. Would you go up to Thad's room and see if he is there?"

Genie flew upstairs and along the corridor to the west wing, but Thad was not in his room.

that's nothing, he's somewhere around and will be in by and by. It is scarcely dark yet."

As Genie said, by and by Thad came in, with the snowflakes thickly sifted in his curly hair.

"Why! where have you been?" cried Miss Woodburn, in an excited, yet relieved, tone.

"To the village, ma'am," came the answer, reluctantly.

"On such a night as this?" and she held up her hands in astonishment.

"Yes," he said. "The harness gave out and I had to get it mended."

Then he went up to his room chucking to himself. "My! I've told more lies to-night than for a long time." A comprehensive smile lighted up his face as he sat down to warm his toes.

An hour passed and the great watch-dog rattled his chain and barked furiously. In a moment the bell in Thad's room tinkled jerkily.

"I knew she'd call me," he laughed, obeying the summons with alacrity.

"See what disturbs Bijou so," said Miss Woodburn, from over her book.

The chore man went out quickly, letting in a flurry of icy snow behind him.

Presently he came back, bringing a flurry in with him.

"It's a man who has lost his way," he said, "and he'd like a cup of coffee and a bit of warmth before he goes further. And it's an awful night!" emphasized Thad.

"A tramp?" and Miss Woodburn's face was a study. "It is hardly safe for—us—to—"

"If he's a tramp he's an awfully nice one," interrupted Thad, forgetting his manners, "but whoever he is, he is almost froze!"

A vision of Ned Vickers going out into that other, storm rose up. And he had gone to the bad, people said. Maybe he, too, was a tramp by this time!

"Bring him into the dining-room, then," she said, kindly.

"A nice tramp!" huffed Genie, poking the kitchen grate and rattling the cups with a savage spitefulness. "Whoever heard of a—nice tramp?"

"THREW HER ARMS AROUND HIS NECK."

She stood "afar off" with her hands folded in her white dainty apron while Thad ushered in the stranger.

"I think I am a little faint," he said, sinking into the comfortable seat near the fire and letting his head rest on his hand, while a dilapidated cap dropped to the floor.

Hallie Woodburn was on the other side of the heavy portiere, but the voice startled her and she peeped through. When she saw the stranger's attitude, however, she came into the room.

"Are you ill?" she asked, "or only faint from hunger?"

"It is hunger, madam," he answered, without looking up.

"Hurry, Genie!" said Miss Woodburn, solicitously, "the stranger is nearly famished." Then she went for a reviving draught. "Here!" she said, "drink this; you will feel better."

But he did not take the proffered cup; he looked up instead. "I am hungry of heart," he said, with a pitiful intonation; "ten years of soul famine, Hallie!"

With a glad cry of recognition Miss Woodburn threw her arms around the nice tramp's neck.

"O, Ned Vickers: it is you!" she said, joyously.

"It is what is left of me," he answered, brokenly. "I have come back to be forgiven."

"There is nothing to forgive!" exclaimed Miss Woodburn, "and you must not go away again, Ned, dear," kissing his forehead where the snow-damp hair waved just as it used to do.

"But, Hallie, you don't want me if I've gone to the bad. No; I only came back to be forgiven, though I do love you as of old!"

Miss Woodburn hid her face on the shabby coat and Thad hurried away to the kitchen, closing the doors softly after him.

"What is it, now?" asked Genie, ungraciously, not understanding the look on his face.

"Why, it's Ned Vickers!" answered Thad, triumphantly, "and I came away to let them get acquainted all over again."

After awhile Thad slid quietly into the dining-room with the mollified Genie in his wake.

"Thad," said Miss Woodburn, smiling happily, "this is an old friend of mine. He will be our guest to-morrow and we will have Thanksgiving after all. Show him to the south guest chamber and when he is ready bring him down at once; the coffee will be waiting."

"He is my dear old love," she explained to Genie later; "but I presume you don't quite understand."

"O, yes, ma'am!" answered the maid, fitting about like a butterfly, and blushing like a rose.

"How, Genie? You have no lover?"

"O yes, ma'am, I have," came the answer, shyly.

"Indeed! Who, Genie?"

"Thad, ma'am," simpered the girl, in confusion.

"Well, Genie," and Miss Woodburn took the girl's face between her palms, "don't ever send him away, then."

"That I won't, ma'am!" exclaimed she. "I won't be such a—"

"An idiot," finished Miss Hallie. "Well, heaven has been better to me than I deserve, Genie, and I will begin my thanksgiving to-night."

When the nice tramp came down for his coffee Miss Woodburn exclaimed, in surprise: "Why, Ned Vickers, you have deceived me!"

And hadn't he! As he stood there laughing, dressed in the latest style, with a gleam of gold in his attire!

"Forgive me, Hallie," he said, and he stooped to kiss her, as in the olden days. "I wanted to surprise you; then, too, I wondered if you could love me in trampish apparel."

"Well, you've found out," she answered, gayly. Then she looked lovingly at him over the coffee-urn and said, softly: "To-morrow will, indeed, be a real Thanksgiving."

Why Thankful? What are we thankful for? That is a question That sometimes puzzles even a dinner-guest.

The rich are thankful for a good digestion. The poor if they have something to digest.

Gathered Them In. "We gave a waifs' dinner Thanksgiving day."

"We gave a waifs' dinner?"

"Yes; to five old maids and five old bachelors."—Chicago Record.

Seasonable. A chap out in far Albuquerque Wrote east in a hand rather queer. That it still in the mood. And the walking was good. He'd be home for his Thanksgiving tuesday. —Richmond Dispatch.

Thanksgiving. What though you have no earthly goods Nor laurel on your brow, If you have not malaria, Be thankful anyhow. —Washington Star.

BARN YARD CLAIRVOYANCE.

Mr. Turkey—Cheer up, old man; are you superstitious?

Mr. Gobbler—No; but when one picks up cranberries three days in succession, right by the door, it has a tendency to make one melancholy.

ALPHABET ON A PINHEAD.

Wonderful Engraving Feat of a Tradesman in Baltimore.

H. A. Houseal, an engraver, has accomplished a task in the engraver's art which eclipses the engraving of the Lord's Prayer upon a silver dollar, which was supposed for a long time to be the triumph of fine work in engraving, says the Baltimore American. He has managed to engrave the alphabet complete on the head of a common pin.

Mr. Houseal, who rarely uses a glass in his work, can read the letters with the naked eye, and although there are few persons whose eyesight is so strong, a common magnifying glass serves to make them easily distinguishable. The letters range from left to right, and are all capitals.

In the first circle around the edge of the head of the pin are the letters from A to M, inclusive. Within this is the second circle beginning at N and ending at Z, and directly in the center is the & mark. The diameter of the pinhead is barely a sixteenth of an inch and it can be understood how small the letters must be. They are about one-fourth the size of the letters in the Lord's Prayer engraved on a dollar. The work occupied about an hour and a half, and was done during an afternoon about a month ago, Mr. Houseal occasionally leaving it to attend to customers in the store. It was done with an ordinary engraver's tool.

Don't waste Money on poor Cigars.

Buy Cigars with the above trade-mark printed in red on their label.

Be sure of your money's worth.

If your dealer hasn't Winecke & Doerr Cigars Ask some dealer that has.

It comes to us with the memories of childhood. It dawns like the morn of a mystical clime. And up from the heart of the golden-hued wild-wood Are wafted the strains of a Thanksgiving rhyme: It comes with the glow of the wonderful story How flashed in the heavens our country's glory— How Freedom unfurled on the ramparts of bright star— The flag that was born 'mid the thunders of war.

What proud recollections each Thanksgiving cluster Around the old heroes who gave us this land; Each one as it dawns on us brightens theuster The ages have given that brave little band; Behold us, the while at the Thanksgiving altar, With anthem and prayer, we in gratitude bow; The proud Ship of State in the storm never falters, Unshaken its banners, undaunted its prow.

We welcome the dawn of that day in November The Pilgrims first kept in the depths of the wild, We crown it anew, for 'tis sweet to remember How dearly they loved it, our forefather's odd; They gave us the day which the Nation is keeping With thankfulness sacred from mountain to wave; They left us Thanksgiving—the men who are sleeping Where fall the bright beams of the sun on each grave.

As long as our Nation moves onward in splendor Thanksgiving will dawn like a paradise morn. As long as our banner has left one defender New thoughts and new glory this day will be born; 'Mid colors autumnal each heart will remember, As oceanward swiftly our life rivers flow. The calendared day of Time's frosted November— Some golden Thanksgiving that passed long ago. T. C. HARBAUGH.

The Turkey. Draw near the roost and thou shalt hear The poor fowl sorrowfully say: "I'm to be slaughtered, I much fear, To make a Yankee holiday!" —Chicago Tribune.

THANKSGIVING

It comes to us with the memories of childhood. It dawns like the morn of a mystical clime. And up from the heart of the golden-hued wild-wood Are wafted the strains of a Thanksgiving rhyme: It comes with the glow of the wonderful story How flashed in the heavens our country's glory— How Freedom unfurled on the ramparts of bright star— The flag that was born 'mid the thunders of war.

What proud recollections each Thanksgiving cluster Around the old heroes who gave us this land; Each one as it dawns on us brightens theuster The ages have given that brave little band; Behold us, the while at the Thanksgiving altar, With anthem and prayer, we in gratitude bow; The proud Ship of State in the storm never falters, Unshaken its banners, undaunted its prow.

We welcome the dawn of that day in November The Pilgrims first kept in the depths of the wild, We crown it anew, for 'tis sweet to remember How dearly they loved it, our forefather's odd; They gave us the day which the Nation is keeping With thankfulness sacred from mountain to wave; They left us Thanksgiving—the men who are sleeping Where fall the bright beams of the sun on each grave.

As long as our Nation moves onward in splendor Thanksgiving will dawn like a paradise morn. As long as our banner has left one defender New thoughts and new glory this day will be born; 'Mid colors autumnal each heart will remember, As oceanward swiftly our life rivers flow. The calendared day of Time's frosted November— Some golden Thanksgiving that passed long ago. T. C. HARBAUGH.

The Turkey. Draw near the roost and thou shalt hear The poor fowl sorrowfully say: "I'm to be slaughtered, I much fear, To make a Yankee holiday!" —Chicago Tribune.

THANKSGIVING

It comes to us with the memories of childhood. It dawns like the morn of a mystical clime. And up from the heart of the golden-hued wild-wood Are wafted the strains of a Thanksgiving rhyme: It comes with the glow of the wonderful story How flashed in the heavens our country's glory— How Freedom unfurled on the ramparts of bright star— The flag that was born 'mid the thunders of war.

What proud recollections each Thanksgiving cluster Around the old heroes who gave us this land; Each one as it dawns on us brightens theuster The ages have given that brave little band; Behold us, the while at the Thanksgiving altar, With anthem and prayer, we in gratitude bow; The proud Ship of State in the storm never falters, Unshaken its banners, undaunted its prow.

We welcome the dawn of that day in November The Pilgrims first kept in the depths of the wild, We crown it anew, for 'tis sweet to remember How dearly they loved it, our forefather's odd; They gave us the day which the Nation is keeping With thankfulness sacred from mountain to wave; They left us Thanksgiving—the men who are sleeping Where fall the bright beams of the sun on each grave.

As long as our Nation moves onward in splendor Thanksgiving will dawn like a paradise morn. As long as our banner has left one defender New thoughts and new glory this day will be born; 'Mid colors autumnal each heart will remember, As oceanward swiftly our life rivers flow. The calendared day of Time's frosted November— Some golden Thanksgiving that passed long ago. T. C. HARBAUGH.

The Turkey. Draw near the roost and thou shalt hear The poor fowl sorrowfully say: "I'm to be slaughtered, I much fear, To make a Yankee holiday!" —Chicago Tribune.

THANKSGIVING

It comes to us with the memories of childhood. It dawns like the morn of a mystical clime. And up from the heart of the golden-hued wild-wood Are wafted the strains of a Thanksgiving rhyme: It comes with the glow of the wonderful story How flashed in the heavens our country's glory— How Freedom unfurled on the ramparts of bright star— The flag that was born 'mid the thunders of war.

What proud recollections each Thanksgiving cluster Around the old heroes who gave us this land; Each one as it dawns on us brightens theuster The ages have given that brave little band; Behold us, the while at the Thanksgiving altar, With anthem and prayer, we in gratitude bow; The proud Ship of State in the storm never falters, Unshaken its banners, undaunted its prow.

We welcome the dawn of that day in November The Pilgrims first kept in the depths of the wild, We crown it anew, for 'tis sweet to remember How dearly they loved it, our forefather's odd; They gave us the day which the Nation is keeping With thankfulness sacred from mountain to wave; They left us Thanksgiving—the men who are sleeping Where fall the bright beams of the sun on each grave.

As long as our Nation moves onward in splendor Thanksgiving will dawn like a paradise morn. As long as our banner has left one defender New thoughts and new glory this day will be born; 'Mid colors autumnal each heart will remember, As oceanward swiftly our life rivers flow. The calendared day of Time's frosted November— Some golden Thanksgiving that passed long ago. T. C. HARBAUGH.

The Turkey. Draw near the roost and thou shalt hear The poor fowl sorrowfully say: "I'm to be slaughtered, I much fear, To make a Yankee holiday!" —Chicago Tribune.

THANKSGIVING

It comes to us with the memories of childhood. It dawns like the morn of a mystical clime. And up from the heart of the golden-hued wild-wood Are wafted the strains of a Thanksgiving rhyme: It comes with the glow of the wonderful story How flashed in the heavens our country's glory— How Freedom unfurled on the ramparts of bright star— The flag that was born 'mid the thunders of war.

What proud recollections each Thanksgiving cluster Around the old heroes who gave us this land; Each one as it dawns on us brightens theuster The ages have given that brave little band; Behold us, the while at the Thanksgiving altar, With anthem and prayer, we in gratitude bow; The proud Ship of State in the storm never falters, Unshaken its banners, undaunted its prow.

We welcome the dawn of that day in November The Pilgrims first kept in the depths of the wild, We crown it anew, for 'tis sweet to remember How dearly they loved it, our forefather's odd; They gave us the day which the Nation is keeping With thankfulness sacred from mountain to wave; They left us Thanksgiving—the men who are sleeping Where fall the bright beams of the sun on each grave.

As long as our Nation moves onward in splendor Thanksgiving will dawn like a paradise morn. As long as our banner has left one defender New thoughts and new glory this day will be born; 'Mid colors autumnal each heart will remember, As oceanward swiftly our life rivers flow. The calendared day of Time's frosted November— Some golden Thanksgiving that passed long ago. T. C. HARBAUGH.

The Turkey. Draw near the roost and thou shalt hear The poor fowl sorrowfully say: "I'm to be slaughtered, I much fear, To make a Yankee holiday!" —Chicago Tribune.

THANKSGIVING

It comes to us with the memories of childhood. It dawns like the morn of a mystical clime. And up from the heart of the golden-hued wild-wood Are wafted the strains of a Thanksgiving rhyme: It comes with the glow of the wonderful story How flashed in the heavens our country's glory— How Freedom unfurled on the ramparts of bright star— The flag that was born 'mid the thunders of war.

What proud recollections each Thanksgiving cluster Around the old heroes who gave us this land; Each one as it dawns on us brightens theuster The ages have given that brave little band; Behold us, the while at the Thanksgiving altar, With anthem and prayer, we in gratitude bow; The proud Ship of State in the storm never falters, Unshaken its banners, undaunted its prow.

We welcome the dawn of that day in November The Pilgrims first kept in the depths of the wild, We crown it anew, for 'tis sweet to remember How dearly they loved it, our forefather's odd; They gave us the day which the Nation is keeping With thankfulness sacred from mountain to wave; They left us Thanksgiving—the men who are sleeping Where fall the bright beams of the sun on each grave.

As long as our Nation moves onward in splendor Thanksgiving will dawn like a paradise morn. As long as our banner has left one defender New thoughts and new glory this day will be born; 'Mid colors autumnal each heart will remember, As oceanward swiftly our life rivers flow. The calendared day of Time's frosted November— Some golden Thanksgiving that passed long ago. T. C. HARBAUGH.

The Turkey. Draw near the roost and thou shalt hear The poor fowl sorrowfully say: "I'm to be slaughtered, I much fear, To make a Yankee holiday!" —Chicago Tribune.

THANKSGIVING

It comes to us with the memories of childhood. It dawns like the morn of a mystical clime. And up from the heart of the golden-hued wild-wood Are wafted the strains of a Thanksgiving rhyme: It comes with the glow of the wonderful story How flashed in the heavens our country's glory— How Freedom unfurled on the ramparts of bright star— The flag that was born 'mid the thunders of war.

SIGEL.

A short time ago the school boys in district No. 1 became interested in the matter of securing a football. As a result an informal meeting was held by the boys at which each interested boy agreed to bring a certain sum of money. Their ability to carry out their mission was soon clearly demonstrated, as in due time the money was in the hands of the treasurer and, on the following Saturday, the ball was bought and now noons and recesses are made lively. Next time we hear of them they will be in Chicago in response to a challenge from that city.

Thanksgiving was a quiet day in this town, there being no other large gathering than the one at the Polish Catholic church, which assembled to witness the funeral services and pay their last respects to the late Mrs. Lawrence Joswiak.

A few deer have been secured by the hunters from here. The late snowfall has been encouraging to them and some of those who returned from their hunt now say that they intend to go back.

The latest plowing done around here was done last week by John Lindahl. There was a pretty hard crust on the ground to be plowed, but, nevertheless, a good piece of work was done.

Henry Kissinger was down from Wausau to eat turkey with his parents.

Accompanying Discovery.

From Coopersville, Mich., comes word of a wonderful discovery of a pleasant tasting liquid that when used before retiring by any one troubled with a bad cough always ensures a good night's rest. "It will soon cure the cough too," writes Mrs. S. Himelburger, "for three generations of our family have used Dr. King's new discovery for consumption and never found its equal for coughs and colds." It's an unrivaled life-saver when used for desperate lung diseases. Guaranteed bottles 50 c and $1 at Johnson & Hill Co. and John E. Daly.

PORT EDWARDS.

A nine pound boy was announced at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Dodge last Friday. Mother and child doing well. Everybody smoked to the health of the new arrival.

One case of smallpox has developed in our city at the home of Mr. Store. The place was quarantined Wednesday. We have been very fortunate thus far in escaping it.

H. L. Vachrean spent Thanksgiving in Chicago and took in the Wisconsin-Chicago football game.

Gust Pable of Watertown arrived here last Thursday to attend his father's funeral.

C. A. Jasperson went to Neenah Saturday to spend a few days with his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Brazeau spent Thanksgiving with friends at Grand Rapids.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Garrison spent Sunday with relatives at Grand Rapids.

Retta and Herbert Cleveland did shopping in your city last Friday.

Mrs. C. J. Kruger of your city visited friends here Tuesday.

Mrs. John Shellhammer was a Grand Rapids visitor Friday.

A Violent Attack of Croup Cured.

"Last winter an infant child of mine had croup in a violent form," says Elder John W. Rogers, a Christian evangelist of Wiley, Mo. "I gave her a few doses of Chamberlain's cough remedy and in short time all danger was past and the child recovered." This remedy not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the first symptoms appear, will prevent the attack. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by Johnson & Hill Co.

ALTDORF.

Miss Anna Steiner, who has been visiting here, returned to her home at Mauston. Miss Steiner will be greatly missed by the young folks here.

Mrs. Mary Smith of Nekoosa spent last week with her sister, Mrs. Bauman.

Miss Mae Reusch went to Marshfield Wednesday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Math Schleg.

Joe Bricker and daughter Mrs. Gahl of Nekoosa, called on friends here Tuesday.

Great Luck of an Editor.

"For two years all efforts to cure eczema in the palms of my hands failed," writes Editor E. N. Lester, of Syracuse, Kan., "the cure was wholly cured by Buckle's Arnica Salve." It's the world's best for eruptions, sores and all skin diseases. Only 25c at John E. Daly's and Johnson & Hill Co.

RUDOLPH.

Jack Keyser had a narrow escape from serious injury while hunting near Milladore the other day. Jack saw three deer coming his way and jumped on a stump to shoot and in working his Winchester a shell exploded. When Jack recovered from the shock the deer were gone.

The party given at H. Denniston's Thanksgiving evening was largely attended. Refreshments were served and a good time was had by all.

Mr. McVey of Kilbourn is spending a few days with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bratton.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lewis of your city have been visiting at the Granger residence the past few days.

John Hassel and Ed Sharkey attended the dance at the Rapids on Thursday evening.

Walter Coulthart has returned from the Point where he has been the past week.

Miss Annie Shevlin spent her Thanksgiving at her home in Stevens Point.

Mr. Piltz, our popular blacksmith, attended church in your city Sunday.

BABCOCK.

The smallpox scare is over and Babcock can rest for awhile. According to the reports that come in from surrounding towns (Grand Rapids not excepted) all smallpox cases in Wisconsin originated in Babcock. Such reports are wholly without foundation. We admit that the lone case in Nekoosa came from Babcock; but it has been proven beyond a doubt that not one case of smallpox in Grand Rapids came from Babcock. On the contrary Grand Rapids had one or more cases of the disease before a single case developed in Babcock. Ye gossips, what say ye now?

Principal C. W. Jenkins spent several days the first of the week visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Remington and family at North Bluff. Mr. Remington has over seventy head of stock and is fast turning the pine stumps and deer tracks into a stock farm.

Wm. F. Noltner has the finest display of Thanksgiving delicacies on exhibition in front of his butcher shop that was ever seen in Babcock. "Butch" has a great eye for business and never lets a good opportunity pass.

The public schools were again closed Friday last by order of the health officer. This step was taken as a precaution against the spread of diphtheria. School will be resumed on Monday.

Miss Dora Remington, who has been clerking at W. F. Noltner's and attending school here, spent Thanksgiving with her parents at North Bluff.

J. O. Hill, principal of the Rockton schools, stopped over in Babcock Friday on his way home from a hunting trip near Progress. He shot one fine deer.

Clarence Hill, a brakeman on the C. & St. P. Ry., spent several days the past week with his parents at Oshkosh. He returned to his work on Monday.

Miss Belle Akey and Mrs. Fred Bickhart departed for Milwaukee Sunday night to do some shopping. They returned Wednesday morning.

Isaac Stout had the misfortune to run a pitchfork into his leg just above the knee. It was not a very serious wound.

Rev. H. D. Jencks of Pittsville is canvassing Babcock this week for the Life of McKinley. He reports very good success.

Miss Mamie Molloy, one of the Pittsville city teachers, spent Sunday with her parents at her home south of Babcock.

Miss Eva Muller, daughter of Mrs. Sam Griffith, is sick with diphtheria. The house was quarantined on Friday.

T. F. Cummings departed Thursday night for Chicago and vicinity on business. He returned Sunday.

Miss Laura Emmons is spending her week's enforced vacation at her home in Grand Rapids.

Frank Remington and James Casey each succeeded in killing a deer one day last week.

Messrs. Guy and Jay Gorham of Pittsville were in town on business Monday.

John Close, the barber, was in Grand Rapids on business Tuesday.

Mrs. Wm. Sullivan was shopping in Grand Rapids on Wednesday.

C. H. Finley of Pittsville was a business visitor here on Tuesday.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, O., by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by druggists, price 75 c per bottle. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Adjudged Insane.

Louis Vieu of Marshfield was brought to this city on Wednesday by Officer Griffin and taken before Judge Gaynor to be examined as to his insanity. Dr. Boorman examined him and pronounced him non compos mentis. Vieu is only 19 years old and while quite tractable the greater part of the time, he at times gets a violent streak when it was impossible for his people to handle him. He will be taken to Oshkosh.

Spreads like Wildfire.

When things are the best they become the best selling. Abraham Hare, a leading druggist, of Belleville, O., writes: "Electric bitters are the best selling bitters I have handled in 20 years. You know why? Most diseases begin in disorders of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, blood and nerves. Electric bitters tones up the stomach, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, hence cures multitudes of maladies. It builds up the entire system. Puts new life and vigor into any weak, sickly, rundown man or woman. Price 50 cents. Sold by John E. Daly and Johnson & Hill Co. druggist.

SPECIAL NOTICE!

To our many friends and patrons we beg to announce that on and after January 1st, 1902, we will do a strictly cash business. No discounts and only one price to all will be our motto.

Very respectfully yours,
SPAFFORD, COLE & CO.

VESPER.

Miss Maud Murgatroyd was married at noon Thanksgiving day to Wm. A. Cole. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. Stevens of Pittsville officiating. The bride is well and favorably known in all parts of the city and the groom is a prosperous young farmer of the town of Sigel. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Mabel Murgatroyd, and Harry V. Cole acted as groomsmen. After the ceremony a sumptuous dinner was served to seventy-five guests, after which Mr. and Mrs. Cole took the afternoon train for the north. Those present from abroad were Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Merrick of Chicago and Guy Heathcote of Fond du Lac.

The Vesper shingle mill was discovered on fire Sunday afternoon. It was supposed that someone, while smoking, had dropped his pipe in the sawdust. About twenty men were at hand and by prompt action saved the mill.

The following Grand Rapids people attended the show given by Pittsville talent Saturday night were Ethel Kelley, May Yeske, Geo. Haum, Clarence Searls, Ed Daly, Ed Radgen and C. Hassler.

The Central & Northwestern people are building a platform and freight house here, also a section foreman's house. We thought the town was finished but they still are driving nails.

The show given by Pittsville talent last Saturday night gave good satisfaction. The company gave a dance after the show. We understand they cleared $35.00.

The schoolma'ams of this locality have departed to their homes to spend their Thanksgiving vacation.

Misses Lena Otto, Vinnie White and Emma Trendel were city visitors this week.

Paul Love and Wilbur Briere were callers in Vesper this week.

Bat Passineau moved his family to Grand Rapids this week.

YOUR FAITH will be as strong as ours if you try

Shiloh's Consumption Cure

and ours is so strong we guarantee a cure or refund money. We send you a free trial bottle if you write for it. SHILOH'S costs 25 cents and will cure Consumption, Pneumonia, Bronchitis and all Lung Troubles. Will cure a cough or cold in a day, and thus prevent serious results. It has been doing these things for 50 years. S. C. WELLS & Co., Le Roy, N. Y.

Karl's Clover Root Tea corrects the Stomach

I made a special study of fitting all kinds of astigmatism no matter if it is simple hyperopic or simple myopic or compound hyperopic or compound myopic or mixed astigmatism or any muscular insufficiency. No matter what the illness may be I guarantee first-class satisfaction or money refunded. I can give you hundreds of testimonials from patients whom I have treated. If you have any trouble with your eyes do not fail to call on

A. P. HIRZY,

The graduated Optician of the Northern Illinois college, Grand Rapids, Wisconsin

ALL KINDS OF

COAL

PRICES RIGHT.

E. C. KETCHUM.

TELEPHONE:

Office, 164. Residence, 51.

PILES CAN NOT BE CURED

by local treatment alone. Local treatment to remove the growing trouble and internal medicine to prevent the return is the only way to CURE piles. See our brochure.

CUTLER'S COMBINED TREATMENT CURE

Is the only cure that combines internal and external treatments and CURES. One treatment $1.00. Sold by all druggists or by mail on receipt of price by CLARK MEDICINE CO., Chicago, Ill.

(First Publication 11-29-01)

Notice of Final Settlement.

State of Wisconsin—Wood County—In County Court.

In the matter of the estate of Dora King, deceased.

On application of Theodore Lipke, Administrator with will annexed of the Estate of Dora King, deceased, for the adjustment and allowance of his administration account, and for his discharge as such administrator.

It is ordered, that said account be examined, adjusted and allowed, at a special term of said court, to be held in the county house, in the city of Grand Rapids, said county of Wood, on the 14th Tuesday of December, to wit, the 24th day of December, A. D. 1901, at nine o'clock in the forenoon of said day.

And it is further ordered, that notice of the time and place of the examination and allowance of said account, be given to all persons interested, by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks before said day, in the Grand Rapids Tribune, a weekly newspaper published at the city of Grand Rapids, in said Wood County.

Dated November 19th, A. D. 1901.

By the Court, JOHN A. GAYNOR, County Judge.

C. M. DOUGHARTY,

Electric Light and Bell Wiring.

Full line of Batteries, Electric Fans and Electrical Supplies.

Telephone 386. Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

Be Prepared

For the coming holidays. Now that Thanksgiving is past and gone, you will want to begin figuring on your

CHRISTMAS GIFTS.

When we tell you that our store is the best place to select these things we consider that we are giving you good advice. It is often hard to make up your mind what you want on an occasion of this sort, but at our store you will find them

EASY TO SELECT

For the reason that we have such a large assortment in all lines, and you may see many things that are useful and ornamental by looking over our stock, that had not occurred to you before. We trust you will be convinced if you call

AT OUR BIG STORE.

IN THE

DRY GOODS DEPT.

---We Have---

Dress Goods, Dress Trimmings, Cloaks and Wraps, Fancy Work Patterns, Sofa Pillows, Dress Patterns. Novelties for the Ladies.

THE CUTAWAY FROCK

You ought to be particular when you buy a cutaway suit. This style of garment is meant to be dressy. It must have careful workmanship and tailoring. The graceful lines and perfect fit of our Hart, Schaffner & Marx cutaways make them popular with good dressers. A man looks well in one of them and the materials are the best that money will buy. This is the label:

HART, SCHAFFNER & MARX

THREE-BUTTON CUTAWAY
Copyright, 1899
By Hart, Schaffner & Marx

GUARANTEED CLOTHING

Clothing DEPT.

Men's Suits, Boys Suits, Fur Overcoats, Cloth overcoats, Shoes and Rubbers, Hats, Caps, Gents Furnishings.

Everything to fit you out for winter at our store.

JOHNSON & HILL CO.,

Sellers of Everything.

Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, West Side.